BANDIT TRAIL AGAIN PICKED UP BY POLICE

The trail of the bandits who escaped with $38,000 after shooting Dave Antink, cashier of the Sun Drug Company, yesterday afternoon, was picked up by police early this morning when the red sport-model automobile in which the gang transferred after abandoning the robbery car was discovered in Hollenbeck Heights.

The car had been deserted by the yeggs on Whittier Boulevard, but contained no clews as to their identity or destination. No blood was found in the machine, indicating that the wounded bandit either had not occupied the second car or had received some surgical attention. The discovery of the red automobile was the first definite clew obtained by the police after the finding of the bullet-ridden, bloodstained machine in which the yeggmen fled from the scene of the robbery, on Eleventh street.

The red car bore license number 524617, but the police were unable to trace its ownership early this morning. There was no house in the vicinity where the car had been abandoned.

COLORADO SNOWSLIDE KILLS FOUR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, May 21.—A gigantic snowslide sweeping down the mountainside struck the west end of Tunnel No. 32 on the Denver and Salt Lake Railroad between Corona and Dixie Lake late today, killing four members of a working party and injuring two others.

The dead:
THOMAS J. THOM.
PETE SEARKOFF.
ALFRED ANDERSON.
JOHN P. STEWART.

John Thompson, foreman of the party, and William H. Pierce were injured.

The men were working on the top of the shed clearing it of snow. The slide started high on the mountainside and engulfed the men.

Relief parties were dispatched from Tabernash and Denver. All of the bodies had been recovered tonight.

The spot where the slide occurred is well known to tourists. It is midway between Corona, known as "the top of the world" because of its altitude of 11,660 feet, and Dixie Lake, whose altitude is 10,680 feet. The spot is almost a land of perpetual snow.

REDS TRAINING VAST ARMY TO FORCE COMMUNISM ON WORLD

BY GEORGE SELDES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

RIGA, May 21.—The Nationalist Red army of yesterday, 1,000,000 strong, is being transformed into an international Communist force for the purpose of fighting in every revolution in foreign countries and forcing Communism at the point of the bayonet into every nation of Europe, Asia and America. The ragamuffin army which fought Poland is gone. Gone also are most of the old Czarist officers, the old staff and equipment.

The Red army, not only from the parade ground, but from personal observation in barracks and at maneuvers, is loyal, disciplined, completely equipped, well trained and efficient. But a startling and most important fact is that it is fast becoming a Communist army.

RED TRAINING SCHOOL

The Communist army is being created through intense propaganda among the soldiers, through an increasing proportion of Communists in the ranks and especially through numerous Communist officers' training schools, three of which are at the Kremlin, with the aid of Communist teachers from every country, including America. The number of members of the Communist party in the army has been increased from 80,000 to 120,000, and 27 per cent of the applicants are Communists, both officers and men.

The Communist international army—an army built for a different cause, but after the pattern of the League of Nations army, is being created not to fight Russia's battles, but to obey the orders of international Communism, in other words, to fight wherever the Communist party plans a revolution and the line of communications with Russia makes such action possible.

The Communist international army is being prepared to intervene in Germany when the time is considered certain that a Communist dictatorship is attainable. The war plan of the Communist leaders is to call out a revolution and to support that revolution with arms and men, at the same time calling to Communist workers in the nation they are fighting to revolt within.

The strength of Trotzky's army today is not important. Trotzky has too many answering conscription yearly. The strength of Communist soldiers, especially officers, is of first importance not only to Russia's anti-Communist neighbors, but to all nations within striking distance of Moscow. Two years ago when the old Red army was in rags, undisciplined and badly led, the soviets, like the people, overestimated the Red strength, but today, when for the first time a real important army has been created, they are pleased when foreigners depreciate their powers.

FEARED DOOM OF PRISONERS IS CERTAINTY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Pessimistic reports were received today from American officials in China as to the probability of successful negotiations between the Chinese government and bandit leaders for the release of American and other foreign hostages held by the brigands. As a result concern was felt in diplomatic circles, but the State Department was not swayed from the conviction that the only practical means of dealing with the situation was through the Peking diplomatic council.

So far as could be learned, no move was afoot to intervene from Washington in Minister Schurman's efforts in association with his diplomatic colleagues, to bring about release of the captives. It was made plain that the Washington government was relying on its representatives on the scene to find the most hopeful course to pursue. The position is taken here that any other course might be fraught with extreme danger to the captives.

DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS

The department received no additional information today, so far as its published statements show, with respect to earlier advices that the bandits intend to kill two of their prisoners if their terms were not complied with by tomorrow. It was the opinion of the American observers that there remained only a resort to direct negotiations by the foreign governments presumably through the agency of the diplomatic council and the brigand leaders, a situation which the Peking diplomats have thus far sought to avoid.

At the State Department it was emphasized that the immediate question of obtaining the release of the captives and the future one of insuring foreigners in China against similar outrages

BELIEVE KING HAS SETTLED UPON PREMIER

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 22.—The King will arrive in London this (Tuesday) morning, according to the Times' information. His prompt return suggests, the Times thinks, that the King already has decided on whom to invite to the Premiership, and will extend the formal invitation immediately.

In an editorial, apparently based on special information, the Times virtually rules out the dark horses, such as the Earl of Balfour, Lord Derby and the Duke of Devonshire, and contends that the choice necessarily lies between Lord Curzon and Stanley Baldwin, either of whom it believes would be willing to serve under the other.

CONSERVATIVES TO MEET

The Conservative party is expected to hold a meeting Wednesday or Thursday at the Carlton Club to elect a new party leader to replace Bonar Law.

Much secrecy is maintained concerning Bonar Law, who today underwent what is understood to have been a minor operation of the throat to relieve extreme pain which he has experienced recently in th throat muscles. He sees nobody but for a few minutes.

Should Lord Curzon be appointed Prime Minister, it is understood he also would retain the foreign secretaryship, so that practically no change in the constitution of the Cabinet would be needed. If Baldwin is appointed, he hardly could retain the Chancellorship of the Exchequer, for the demands upon the time and energies of the Prime Minister would preclude his holding of such a double office. Thus the appointment of Baldwin probably would necessitate a general ministerial shuffle.

...OWN STORY IS MADE PUBLIC BY FLO LEEDS

BY HERBERT B. MAYER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, New York Daily News.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Mrs. Florence Leeds, during her relationship with James A. Stillman, former president of the National City Bank, became the mother of three children, according to information gathered exclusively by the New York News.

Even during the height of the bitterly fought divorce case between Stillman and Mrs. Anne Urquhart Stillman, only one child was mentioned, Jay Ward Leeds.

Here, however, are the dates of birth of the children Florence Leeds bore to the man who has now deserted her, after urging her to save him:

Jay Ward Leeds, born September 17, 1918, and christened formally.

A 7-months babe, born in 1919, who died at birth.

STORY CONFIRMED

All three children were born in Sloan's Hospital, according to information obtained by the New York News. Stillman is said to have been at Mrs. Leeds's bedside on each occasion.

Following closely upon the exclusive story in the New York News came a formal announcement from Florence Leeds confirming the New York News' story. Mrs. Leeds now threatens to bring action against Stillman for the support of Jay Leeds, the 4-year-old boy, to whom she says she has devoted her life.

From other sources comes information that Fred Beauvais, the Indian guide named by Stillman in his divorce suit, for some weeks is said to have been dallying with persons asserted to represent the interests of the banker, and Beauvais is said to be contemplating some action against Mrs. Stillman. Beauvais is known to have made an attempt to see Mrs. Stillman, and it is known that she vigorously refused to see the man who sold her letters to the Stillman lawyers and otherwise took sides against her.

GUIDE THREATENS

Beauvais is said to be broke and is reported to be vindictive. Mrs. Stillman's attitude as to these reported movements of her enemies is said by friends to be:

"Let them come on. I have nothing to fear. I have whipped them once and I can whip them again."

But this much is certain: Beneath the surface the Stillman case is boiling with plot, counterplot, and contemplated court actions, any one of which may prove fully as sensational as the original case.

Mrs. Stillman's appeal for alimony is now before the Appellate division.

Silence followed the exclusive report in the New York News of Stillman's asserted interest in Mrs. Joseph Truit Talbert, which her friends declare to be the platonic interest of a friend of her late husband, who was vice-president of the National City Bank when Stillman was president. Mr. Talbert is said to have been a warm friend of the banker.

MRS. TALBERT SILENT

It was impossible today to obtain a statement from Mrs. Talbert, who is reported to be at the Hotel Du Rhin, Paris, nor from a lawyer who is said to represent her in New York.

In an interview, Florence Leeds gave a dramatic story of her life with Stillman. Asked whether she knew of Stillman's asserted in-

BRICKLAYER STRIKE TIES UP BUILDING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—More than $200,000,000 in construction is tied up here by the strike of bricklayers against contracts of the Mason Builders' Association, according to estimates. The strike went into effect this morning.

This is in addition to $100,000,000 in construction work which has been suspended because of excessive costs.

So far it is impossible to estimate how many of the 7000 men in the five union locals in and around New York obeyed the strike call, because of heavy rain, which made work impossible in any event.

C. G. Norman, president of the Building Trade Employers' Association, declared the builders will refuse to discuss wages with the men until they return to work.

Failure of the employers to comply with a demand for $12 for full working days in a contract dating from May caused the strike. The association offered $10 a day, with a bonus during emergencies.

Madelyn Marion, 14 years of age, of 4141 Prospect avenue, and Charlotte Smith, 15 years of age, of 4534 Russell street, two Hollywood High School girls, appeared at the Hollywood Police Station late last night and declared they were kidnaped yesterday afternoon by three Mexicans. The girls said that as they were walking on Bronson avenue, near Hollywood Boulevard, about 3 o'clock the Mexicans drove up in a closed car and forced them to enter. They then took them north on the Ventura Boulevard as far as the Girard townsite, where they relieved them of about $3 and threw them out of the car.

Bodies Found in Rio Grande Reveal Plots

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, May 21.—Thirty-two bodies, believed to be the remains of Italians and other foreigners who were murdered and robbed in attempting to enter the United States clandestinely, have been recovered from the Rio Grande River near Laredo, Tex., according to dispatches from Nuevo Laredo. Most of the bodies have been long submerged in the river bed and could not be identified.

The Mexican authorities are conducting an investigation at Monterey in connection with charges that a family there had inveigled foreign residents into an arrangement for smuggling them into the United States and then robbed and murdered them.

CHICAGO RUM SUPPLY SHUT OFF BY COUP

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 22.—Three confessed members of a band of twenty distillery bandits, all former United States cavalrymen, who battled with guards last Tuesday night in an attempt to rob the Les Samuels distillery at Deatsville, Ky., were captured at Waukegan, Ill., late last night. Two were suffering from severe buckshot wounds received in the engagement.

The men boasted to police that the band had plundered numerous other Kentucky distilleries, saying that the thousands of gallons seized in the raids have furnished Chicago's chief rum supply since prohibition became effective.

DOCTOR SUMMONED

They were arrested after one of the mob had summoned Dr. Florence Stone, a woman doctor, to a shack on the outskirts of Waukegan to attend two men, who, he said, were in a serious condition from gunshot wounds. Dr. Stone notified the police, and the wounded men, who had taken to an automobile, were caught shortly afterward a few miles from the shack.

They gave the names of W. A. Roby, Peter Walker and Marion Hall. Roby and Walker are the wounded, the former perhaps fatally.

Walker said in a sigh confession:

"We three are members of a mob of twenty men who have been sticking up distilleries in Kentucky ever since prohibition closed them down. We were all members of a cavalry unit during the war and found no other way to earn a living afterward, so we agreed to stick together in this racket.

EASY WORK

"I don't know how many distilleries we have stuck up; maybe twenty, maybe thirty. They came so fast we lost count. It was easy work from start to finish. We'd simply surround the place at night. Half of us would round up the watchmen and guards with our Army automobiles, bind and gag them and then roll them in the basement while we loaded the stuff on trucks. Then we'd start to Louisville to transfer it to carload lots for Chicago. We got twenty barrels in a stick-up of Harry Samuels's distillery at Deatsville six weeks ago."

NEGRO, AT BAY, SEEKS HIS DEATH

Two hours after Lawrence Batson, a negro, was murdered in a brawl in a Birch-street boarding-house, Fred B. Smith, another negro, sought by the police in connection with the killing, fired a .45-caliber bullet into his own body when trapped in a Central-avenue building this morning. He probably will die, it was announced at the Receiving Hospital.

Batson and Smith engaged in an argument over a cigarette last night, according to Mrs. Ella Harrison, proprietrses of the place, and continued the dispute until after 1 o'clock. Two shots were fired in the house and Batson fell with two bullets in his heart. Smith then fled from the house, according to the landlady.

GOVERNOR DIGS INTO BILLS

Regards Them All as "Guilty Until Innocence is Established;" Takes No Chances on Any

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Every bill passed by the last Legislature and sent to Gov. Richardson for his consideration, will be "presumed to be guilty until it can prove its innocence," said a statement issued today at the executive offices.

There are before the Governor 610 bills, which he must act upon within the next thirty days, the statement said. The Governor declared it was his purpose to keep the statute book of 1923 "as small as I possibly can."

Ninety bills had been vetoed up to the last day of the legislative session.

The Governor's statement follows:

"I propose to go into the merits of every bill in a systematic and painstaking way. The Legislative Counsel and the Attorney-General are helping me on the legal phases of the various questions. Those interested in bills are requested to send in their statements in writing and not to ask for personal hearings. Be sure to give the bill number.

"As stated in my inaugural message, I propose to keep the statute book of 1923 as small as I possibly can. While many of the bills that have been left to my consideration are good bills, there are a great many which are useless and unnecessary. Every bill will be presumed to be guilty until it can prove its innocence."

Gov. Richardson announced today, that should any protests be lodged against the Woodbridge bill forbidding Japanese cropping contracts, he would conduct public hearings on the measure before he signed or vetoed it.

terest in Mrs. Talbert, Mrs. Leeds gasped:

"It is true—every word of it is true."

Mrs. Leeds, during the Stillman trial, had refused to speak a word against Stillman. For months she had eluded reporters and detectives who had been trying to get her side of the story. After days of negotiations, she finally consented to meet the New York News reporter.

"At the time of the divorce suit Mr. Stillman begged me to save him," she said. "He urged me to keep off the witness stand and to assist him. I fled, dodging detectives and reporters all along the way.

"He cut me adrift a year ago and stopped the allowance of $1500 a month he had provided for the support of my baby since it was born."

Mrs. Leeds then added, as told in the New York News yesterday, that she is preparing to sell her apartment in Park avenue. Her automobiles are in storage and it developed at the Customhouse the other day that she had but $111 in the bank. As a consequence, gowns and jewels she purchased abroad are being held for a bill for customs of less than $700. In response to her appeals, customs officials are preparing to grant a rehearing on the case.

NO HAND IN CHARGES

"I met Mr. Stillman for the first time in 1916," she continued. "I did not know then that he was married.

"I lived with my father and mother on Washington Heights. Mrs. Stillman thought that I instigated his charges against her. Actually, I did not know of them or know that the scandal had broken until he told me so himself and urged me to save him.

"My relations with Mr. Stillman were based on deep and what I believed to be abiding affection. I was very much in love with him and believed he was with me.

"I never cruised on his yacht. It was the other women whom he took on pleasure jaunts while I sat alone with our boy at Miami waiting for him. I did not know then that he enjoyed gay parties. Since then I have found out. He kept me secluded, just as though I were a wife. But I did not care, for I loved him.

TELLS OF RING GIFT

"In November, 1916, he gave me a platinum wedding ring, set with diamonds. Inside the band is inscribed 'J. to S. Nov. 14, 1916.'

"I knew then that what I was doing perhaps was wrong, and that I would have to pay for it some time. But my excuse is the excuse of all women. I loved him. I thought Mr. Stillman loved little Sturdie (her pet name for Jay) too. He used to take an interest in the baby and help me plan for the future."

Mrs. Leeds added that her own separation from Stillman came simultaneously with his divorce action against Mrs. Stillman.

"'I am the only one who can protect your boy,' he wrote to me when I was named by Mrs. Stillman. I believed him and did as he wished, moving from place to place to evade pursuit. I fled to Havana, to Albuquerque, N. M., to a dozen places, with seventeen detectives looking for me."

A year ago when the Stillman case ended Mrs. Leeds said Stillman stopped the support of the child—$1500 a month—and ceased to communicate with her. She related that when "Sturdie" was in a hospital to be operated on for a serious affection of the throat, Stillman called up once and as always, said he'd drop over "if he found the time."

The last letter she received from the banker, she said, was written April 19, 1922. It was affectionate in tone, she said; spoke of the baby and expressed the hope that "everything will soon be straightened out."

"One month later he broke with me definitely," she said. "I have waited a year, hoping to hear from him, thinking he surely would do the right thing for his boy. From that day to this I have never heard from him. Last October I wrote him a final appeal. I received no

NAVY MOVES REPORTED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 21.—Preparations are in progress at Chatham and Portsmouth for the immediate despatch of light cruisers and mine sweepers to Russian waters, according to the Daily Herald (labor organ) which specifies four cruisers and seven sweepers which have thus been detailed for Russian northern waters. It also asserts that there have been significant movements of British warships in the Mediterranean this week toward the Dardanelles "possibly en route to the Black Sea."

The paper declares that Great Britain is preparing for something more than a mere diplomatic reputure with Russia.

No confirmation of the Daily Herald's statement regarding the movement of British warships has been obtained elsewhere. The Herald has been making an ardent pro-Bolshevik campaign in connection with Lord Curzon's recent note to the Russian soviet.

RUSSIA STANDS PAT

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MOSCOW, May 21.—Leonid Krassin, Russian soviet representative in London, is unofficially understood to have been instructed to inform the British Foreign Office that Russia cannot yield in principle from its recent note replying to the British ultimatum. The instructions, it was said, were sent as the result of a Soviet government conference last night.

While willing to make some temporary arrangement regarding the fishing rights of the British trawlers off the Mumansk coast, such as limiting the territorial zone and adjusting other secondary points pending general negotiation, Russia still insists that the differences between the two countries can only be adjusted by a conference. It is pointed out that England, despite numerous requests from the soviet government, has never since 1920 stated exactly what the British policy and interests in Persia and other eastern land actually are.

If the trade delegation is moved from London it may go to Copenhagen, when the Russo-Danish agreement is ratified.

REDS TRAINING IMMENSE ARMY

in Moscow, says that not only has Russia a ready army of 1,000,000, but other vast forces are available. A month's observations of military displays in every part of Russia confirm the fact, although the chief of staff of a certain Baltic nation maintains that recent demobilizations of unneeded divisions has brought down the strength to 400,000.

But as far as figures go, no summary of Russia's military strength is comprehensive without including 500,000 armed working men and Communists. Moscow, for instance, has 80,000 young Communist workmen, each partly trained in the use of a rifle and each with a gun and ammunition at home. At a given signal in case of counter-revolution, even in case the Moscow garrison should revolt, these 80,000 men would take assigned places at barricades, machine posts on roofs and at the Kremlin ready to fight and die for Communism.

There are also 500,000 members of the government political militia, otherwise the Cheka, a large part of whom are Communists. This is the most trusted of the Communist espionage executioners. Finally, there are World War veterans and reserves turned out annually, but these latter probably would fight only when inspired by a nationalist or patriotic cause. But the new army, including armed workers and Chekists, altogether a force approaching 2,000,000, is amply equipped with small arms, being welded in one Communist force.

MATERIAL RESOURCES SMALL

From another point of view it is clear that Russia, no matter how strong its Communist army is becoming, does not have the material and resources for waging a war with a first-class European power. In modern war machinery Russia falls, lacking airplanes, gas, heavy cannon, machine guns, tanks and modern communications. This Trotzky realizes and is trying to remedy.

The army is organizing today a large commercial air fleet under Tobenson Kausnichaloff, a former Chicago lawyer. Russia now has twenty-five commercial planes and will have several hundred within two years.

The Trotzky fleet numbers 200 planes. Trotzky's army also has more than 200 tanks, mostly British, which were sent to the Denikine and Wrangel armies. I saw twenty-four tanks at Kharkof being overhauled.

In the May Day parade flame throwers and gas machines were seen for the first time. The army is splendidly dressed in new uniforms of colored cloth and helmets and with red stars. The red breeches of the cavalry are seen everywhere. Sixty per cent of the output of Russia's clothing factories goes to the army. Naturally, sufficient food is handed out with the Communist propaganda to the troops.

It is not true that German and other foreigners are officering Russia's army and navy. Trotzky trusts only Communists and he employs only a handful of foreigners. One German sergeant now instructing airmen at Kharkof air field complains that he cannot find a fellow-German with whom to talk. There are not many foreigners among the recruits, nor are there many yellow or brown men.

FRUIT SHIPMENTS HIT

Sending Out of Oranges by North Felt in Orange County

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, May 21.—Large shipments of navel oranges and Northern California Valencias, affecting both price and demand for Southern California fruit, curtailed shipments from Northern Orange county packing-houses during the last seven days, according to statements of association managers here today.

Only 125 carloads of Valencias, eight less than the low average of the week before, were shipped during the period. Of the seventy-eight cars sent from Anaheim, thirty-six were loaded by the Anaheim Co-operative Orange Association. Forty-seven were put on the market by Fullerton packing-houses during the week, fifteen being shipped by Placentia orange growers, ten by the Fullerton Mutual Orange Association, ten by the Fullerton packing-house, nine by the Benchley Fruit Company, and three by the American Fruit Growers, Inc.

SIGNING OF BRITISH DEBT PACT LOOMING

NOTHING OBJECTIONABLE FOUND IN LATEST PROPOSAL FROM ENGLAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The actual signing of the Anglo-American debt settlement appeared to be near today as the result of a meeting of the American Debt Commission which gave consideration of the latest suggestion by the British government for alterations in details of the agreement. The treasury spokesman said after the meeting that nothing objectionable to this government had been found in the British proposal.

The results of the Debt Commission meeting were communicated immediately to Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, who also was advised of the attitude taken by the commission with respect to phraseology suggested by the British.

The statement was reiterated by Secretary Mellon that no important phase of settlement was affected by the British suggestions.

Mr. Mellon does not anticipate a further meeting of the American Commission.

NEW DANCE RECORD SET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

YOUNGSTOWN (O.) May 21.—James Yarnell, attempting to establish a nonstop dancing record, was taken from the floor at a park near here by his brother today after he had danced for 161 hours, 56 minutes. He claims the marathon championship. Mrs. Yarnell left the floor Saturday night after dancing 132 hours, said to be a new record for a woman.

ROBBER IS SHOT DOWN IN BATTLE

Bay City Bandit With Bad Record Fatally Wounded in Hold-up

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—A bandit, 28 years old, identified by the police as John Davis, and Ralph Carlisle, bank chauffeur, were in local hospitals tonight suffering from serious wounds as a result of a pistol fight here this afternoon when Davis and two other bandits made an unsuccessful attempt to rob a collection car of the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank, which Carlisle was driving.

The hold-up and attempted robbery took place when the bank car stopped before the office of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company in the wholesale district. Charles Lowenberg, teller and collector for the bank, stepped out of the car when another automobile with the three bandits in it drove up with pistols aimed at the bank car.

One of the bandits fired, the shot striking Carlisle. Owen Davis, a guard in the bank car, then shot Davis. The other two bandits escaped, leaving their car behind. In the car was a shotgun, a revolver and a satchel filled with ammunition.

The bandit probably was wounded fatally but Carlisle has a chance to recover. Davis, who, the police say, has two aliases, was sent to San Quentin from Plumas county in 1915 for robbery.

BELIEVED NEW PREMIER NAMED

which official France devotes itself exclusively today.

While the names of Marquis Curzon, Stanley Baldwin and even Lord Balfour are mentioned to the practical exclusion of all others, it is the possibilities for a future of the Franco-British accord which are chiefly interesting the French republic rather than the personalities involved.

France, on account of the Ruhr occupation, which she is frankly "in up to her neck," is most desirous that the next British Premier be one who hearkens back to the days of 1914-1918 and is amenable to the proposition of presenting a united entente front which would meet any and all German offers.

In taking into account the view of France it is necessary to consider the feelings of Belgium, who, with France, is trying desperately to win peace as far as German indemnities are concerned. It is impossible to forget that Belgian statesmen think always of the pregnant political possibilities of their alliance with Great Britain. It is also impossible to forget the fact that Belgian battlefields are hallowed with the blood of British soldiers and that there are consequent ties of sentiment uniting the two countries.

LEADING THE WAY

France in turn is unable to forget the "necessity" of leading the way for the rest of the Entente in post-war relations with Germany. What is wanted by France and Belgium is a British Premier, who will lend an attentive ear and respond to the cry, "You helped us win the war, now help us win the peace—give us as head of the British government one who has the sang-froid of Bonar Law. If he has that it is but a question of time before he will see our needs as those of his own country. With such a leader the outcome is not feared."

Meanwhile France fears Lord Curzon, but banks heavily on his understanding of foreign affairs. Although Baldwin is not considered seriously as a possibility, skeptics speak of him as a "newcomer who would find it difficult to succeed in such a post." Last, but not least, in the situation brought about by Bonar Law's retirement is the note of warning sounded that Germany may take advantage of the "interval" which separates the Allies and deliver an offer which will find them ill prepared to meet.

FEAR CAPTIVES' DOOM SEALED

hereafter are regarded as distinct and separate problems.

The immediate question of getting the bandits to release their hostages, however, is filled with grave difficulties and danger for the prisoners, and it is for that reason that the Washington government is leaving it in Minister Schurman's hands.

Inquiries in diplomatic circles here made it appear that similar views are held by the European powers. So far as could be learned, the plight of the captives in China has not become the subject of diplomatic exchanges between the Washington missions and the State Department.

The European governments appear also to be relying upon the Peking diplomatic council to find the best way out of the tangle.

CENSORSHIP DENIED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

SHANGHAI, May 22. — The American Consulate here today received an official denial from Consul Davis and Maj. Philoon, attache of the American Legation at Peking, who are at Tsaochwang watching negotiations for the release of the foreign captives of the Suchow bandits, that any censorship had been imposed on outgoing telegrams or mail during the progress of the negotiations.

F. Perlani, a prominent Italian of Shanghai, who returned to Shanghai the 16th inst. after making a futile attempt to see his countryman, G. D. Musso, held by the brigands, declared the American consular authorities at Lincheng and Tsaochwang had placed a censorship on all telegrams and mail matter going out from those points.

An electric fan placed on the window sill in the kitchen will soon blow out all smoke or odors.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

States Cannot Control Freight Rates on Shipments Within Borders for Public Improvements; Assessed Taxes Must Be Paid

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21. — A State cannot control freight rates upon a commodity shipped between points within its borders when the article is intended for public improvements, the Supreme Court today held in two cases brought by the United States, the Interstate Commerce Commission and a number of railroads against the State of Tennessee.

The Federal government can compel the payment of assessed taxes and those protesting the assessments must bring suit later if they want to recover the amount asserted to have been unlawfully collected, it was decided today in a case brought by the government against Alfred I. Du Pont.

Twenty-four land patents in the Susanville land district, now held by the Curtis, Collins & Holbrook Company, were fraudulently obtained in violation of the timber and stone laws, the court held today in deciding an appeal by the company from the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, which had ordered that the patents be canceled.

The government contended that the entries had been made under an illegal agreement with George E. Tuman, a timber cruiser. It was charged that Tuman located valuable public lands in Plumas and Tehama counties, and that C. H. Holbrook, Sr., interested two Pennsylvanians, J. G. Curtis and T. D. Collins, in capitalization of a project to take up the lands by first purchasing privately owned lands within the limits of national forests and then exchanging them for the timber tracts. It was charged also that Tuman and Holbrook paid men to make entry under the timber and stone acts and had them convey their rights to Charles E. Gregory, who conveyed the lands to the company a year or more before the deeds were recorded.

The appeal of the Union Stockyards Company of Omaha from a decision holding it liable as the initial carrier for losses suffered in a shipment of cattle from Omaha to Edinburg, Ind., was dismissed today for lack of jurisdiction. The company had contended that the law holding it liable for losses suffered after it had turned the car over to connecting companies was invalid.

The government today asked for hearing at an early date in its appeal from the ruling of the Federal District Court at New York City, denying an injunction to restrain dealings in sugar futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange. The court took the motion under consideration.

It was decided today that Max Hart's charges of a vaudeville producing trust might legitimately be considered by the lower Federal courts, and the Federal District Court of New York was ordered to proceed to try the case on its merits.

The court held that Hart's charges of conspiracy among producers, booking agencies and theater proprietors not to book nor permit the booking of any vaudeville act not controlled by the asserted combination presents a question within the jurisdiction of the Federal courts. Those named in the charge include the Keith Vaudeville Exchange, Orpheum Circuit, Inc., and the Excelsior Collection Agency, Inc.

QUESTIONS FOR REVIEW

Reviews granted today will bring before the court for consideration at its fall term the following questions:

The right of a native-born Chinese citizen of this country to bring in his wife who was debarred as an alien afflicted with a dangerous contagious disease, was involved in a case brought by Chung Fook against the commissioner of immigration at San Francisco.

The liability of telegraph companies on their failure to deliver telegrams filed with them, as presented in a case brought from Idaho by the Western Union Company.

Liabilities of the Federal government through the director-general of railroads for failure to furnish cars at Glasgow, Mont., on the Great Northern for the shipment of cattle to Chicago, involved in a case brought against R. E. Cornwell. The court declined to review the question.

Whether the United States Borax Company obtained a decree in the California courts by fraud and conspiracy as charged by J. P. Hughes.

FANATICS' UPRISINGS OVERCOME

All Quiet on Pata Island After Death of Religious Chief and Twenty-four

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MANILA, May 21.—Suppression of the Moro religious fanatics' uprising on the island of Pata, near Jolo (Sulu) in which twenty-five of the maddened natives, including Akbara, their leader, were killed by a detachment of insular constabulary, is believed to have been complete.

Although the office of Gov.-Gen. Leonard Wood has received no word from Pata, except a brief dispatch giving the number of casualties, confidence is expressed that the insurrection has been halted.

Constabular reinforcements sent to Pata, it is believed, will be able to scatter the fanatical band and prevent others from assembling. It is also thought the killing of the twenty-five insurrectionists will serve as an example to the entire population of the island.

Gov.-Gen. Wood sent a detachment of constabulary to Pata when he learned the native Moros were practicing all sorts of lawlessness in the name of religion. The fanatics, with their leader, Akbara, are said to have attacked troops who fired upon them, killing twenty-five. Akbara was widely known among the Moros as a religious leader who claimed he was a prophet descended from heaven and was bullet-proof. He also said he had power to cause airplanes to fall.

Swiss Hit Reds for Protest on Vorovsky Death

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, May 21.—The Swiss government's reply to the soviet note of protest concerning the assassinations at Lausanne of Vorovsky, soviet envoy, declares that Switzerland has a better right to demand explanations for the violence suffered by thousands of Swiss in Russia under the soviet regime than to give them regarding the death of one Russian, who was an official and unwelcome visitor. The reply, which was drafted by M. Mott, chief of the Political Department, has been approved by the Federal Council.

In regard to charges that Vorovsky was not sufficiently protected the reply asserts that the Swiss police cannot give special protection for every visitor to the country. It concludes with the statement that the trial of Maurice Conradi, who shot Vorovsky, will be held in due Swiss legal form and that foreign interference will not be tolerated.

SCHOOL CHILDREN SPEED UP AT FIRE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—With the recent schoolhouse fire at Cleveland, S. C., fresh in their minds, 1300 pupils of Evander Childs High School, in the Bronx, reached the street in two minutes and forty-five seconds today when a fire started in a waste-paper chute. The fire was confined to the chute. No one was injured.

UNCOVERS GOLD ON RANCH

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

GROVELAND, May 21.—Harry Speakerman, sojourning on the John De Martini ranch for the sake of his health, decided to pass the time by prospecting and was today rewarded by uncovering $700 worth of cube and flake gold in a pocket seven inches from the surface.

WALKOUT OF CARPENTERS THREATENED

Union Chief in Chicago Forecasts a Nation-wide Strike for High Wage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 21. — A nation-wide strike of the 400,000 union carpenters, unless Chicago contractors and builders establish a $1.25 hourly rate for carpenters after June 1, was forecast today by Harry Jensen, president of the Carpenters' District Council.

Announcement of a rise from the $1 hourly rate under the Landis award to $1.15 per hour after June 1, was made last night by Fred Armstrong, general manager of the Citizens' Committee to Enforce the Landis Award.

"Under the Landis award the carpenters' union has been neutral," said Mr. Jensen. "If a carpenter wanted to work under the Landis award, he could, but from June 1, when the Landis award expires, union carpenters are going to receive $1.25 an hour or they will not work.

"Chicago sets the scale for carpenters' wages all over the country, and if builders and contractors in Chicago are not right with the carpenters there will be a nation-wide strike."

GOV.-GEN. WOOD SAYS FUND STORY IS FALSE

PHILIPPINE PRESS BUREAU OBTAINS DENIAL OF LOBBYING TALE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Philippine Press Bureau here today issued a statement declaring Gov.-Gen. Wood had emphatically denied published reports that United States Senators and Representatives received pay from the Philippine Independence Commission fund for espousing Philippine independence.

The statement in the form of a cable message from Manila, said:

"Gov.-Gen. Wood says the statements that American Senators and Representatives received pay from the Philippine Commission of Independence fund for espousing the cause of Philippine independence are gratuitous and absolutely without foundation. He made this statement in reply to telegrams of inquiry sent him by the Philippine Herald and El Debate of Manila."

Philippine Resident Commissioner Isaturo Gabaldon and former Commissioner Jaime C. De Veyra both declared that the charges were without foundation.

FATALLY INJURES MAN AFTER RESCUING HIM

MOTORIST SAVES VICTIM FROM CREEK; LATER RUNS OVER HIM

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) May 21.—Saved from drowning in a creek by a passing motorist, and half an hour later struck and severely injured by the same motorist on Lake Road, south of Clarkson Corners, Frank Akey, 65 years of age, of Brockport, died at the County Hospital here today.

Responding to calls for help, Herbert Chapman, fruit grower of Clarkson, stopped his car at a creek near Brockport and found Akey struggling in the water. Wading in, Chapman pulled the man to shore.

Chapman went into Brockport with his wife to pay a call. On the way back he took the same highway. About three-quarters of a mile beyond the scene of his rescue, Chapman says, Akey suddenly staggered from the side of the road in front of the car. He was knocked down and received a fractured skull.

LAW AFTER "KING BE

Warrant Issued Against House of David Head; Girl Signs Criminal Complaint Naming Him

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. JOSEPH (Mich.) May 21.—Mrs. Helen Beasley, 19 years of age, former Shiloh girl, today signed a criminal complaint against "King Benjamin" Purnell, overlord of the local House of David, charging him with having taken criminal liberties with her. A warrant was issued for "King Ben's" arrest.

A report that the fugitive successor to King Solomon was fleeing the United States caused the eleventh-hour issuance of the warrant. State officers, stationed at Detroit, declared that a man answering the description of the whiskered overlord had boarded a Canadian-bound train at Port Huron, Mich.

When officers prepared to serve the warrant, however, they found that the long-haired man they had been watching was not the one against whom so many asserted downtrodden virgins of Israel have testified.

FIRST CRIMINAL MOVE

Mrs. Couch's act in appending her signature to a warrant for his arrest is the first criminal action brought against the so-called "Son of God" and "younger brother of Jesus Christ." Although litigation has been accumulating against him since 1914, when Augusta and Irene Fortney, sisters, precipitated his courtroom career with damage suits, it always has been of a civil nature.

The specific charge upon which this warrant is based had the pantry of Shiloh for its setting and late summer of 1919 for its time.

Mrs. Couch when she appeared before the "one-man grand jury" told Judge Dingeman how she was helping "Queen Mary" can cherries when "King Ben" called her. When she reached him, she says, Purnell attempted to attack her. She beat him off.

Mrs. Couch was taken to the House of David by her parents when she was but 1 year of age. Her father was one of the innumerable family of Benton Harbor Baushke who espoused the faith of Israel shortly after its official espouser had made Berrien county his headquarters. His family was one of the most prominent in Western Michigan, and owned a large carriage works. The contribution to the common fund of Israel built the Ark, the first edifice to arrive upon the "heaven upon earth."

Mrs. Ella Fenn of Cleveland, Mrs. Couch's mother, left the colony a year after her entrance. Subsequently she obtained a divorce and remarried. Although she was granted the custody of her daughter, she heeded the pleas of her husband and his mother and left Helen in the colony.

Two years ago the girl ran away from Shiloh to her mother's Cleveland home and related a story of her [illegible]

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, May 21.—Liabilities of $3,960,240 are listed in the schedules filed in Federal Court here by the Mitchell Motors Inc., Racine. An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against the company several weeks ago. Assets are stated as $3,7442,722. A tax claim by the city and county of Racine aggregates $182,634. A tax claim of the government is for $58,088. The unsecured claims total $3,690,376.

Dr. E. Wells Kellog, prominent Milwaukee physician, in practice in this city since 1889, a member of the State and City Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. and high in Masonic circles, died yesterday at his home, 2826 Grand avenue.

OMAHA, May 21.—Capitalists from outside the State are sinking oil wells near Bassett, according to F. W. Chase of Plainview, who has just returned from a trip through the territory.

Possibly 15,000 acres of sugar beets in the North Platte valley will have to be replanted because of the killing frost of last week, the Great Western Sugar Company officials announced yesterday.

A tax on gasoline to provide funds for road building was urged at a meeting of the Upland Highway Association at Newman Grove. A bill will be drafted and presented to the next Legislature. The association will mark the east and west across the uplands of Nebraska, which they claim saves a day for transcontinental tourists.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 21.—The large brick home at 1101 North Delaware street has been bought by Mrs. Elizabeth R. New, mother of Postmaster General Harry S. New, from Mrs. Cornelia J. Brown, widow of Will J. Brown, who died recently. The consideration for the ground and home was about $20,000.

DENVER

DENVER, May 21.—Phillip S. Bruckman, former trusted cashier for the Hendrie & Bolthoff Manufacturing & Supply Company, was sentenced to the State penitentiary for from two to three years yesterday when he entered a plea of guilty to charges of embezzlement. It is said the total amount of Bruckman's defalcation will reach $50,000.

H. A. Van Auken, former society favorite in Denver and Fort Collins and once an official of the Kleen Heet Company of Denver, is held at Fort Collins for authorities in Michigan, who claim that he broke parole in that State. The Michigan authorities say that Van Auken was convicted on a false pretense charge and sentenced to from two to ten years in the reformatory. Paroled from this institution he is said to have violated its provisions by leaving Michigan.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, May 21.—The doors of the Macon County Bank at Macon, Mo., were closed yesterday under a resolution adopted by its Board of Directors at a meeting last night. The directors would not make public the reason for their action although they declared they believed there would be no loss to depositors.

To prevent negroes invading Delmar boulevard from Spring avenue to Taylor avenue, the Delmar Improvement Association was formed last night at the First Christian Church, 4300 Delmar avenue. The meeting had been called by the Rev. Dr. C. Emerson Miller, pastor of the church.

A statement that about 1000 new negro workers are arriving monthly in St. Louis is made to Nelson Cunliffe, Director of Public Welfare in his annual report, made public yesterday. Cunliffe says there has resulted a very great community problem.

DES MOINES

DES MOINES, May 21.—The Medium Lake Improvement Company has begun improvements on the lake at Emmetsburg. A twelve-inch pump dredge is working to deepen the lake and improve the shores. A drive is being built along the east side, a large flower bed has been planted and foliage, shrubbery and trees are being put in.

The Armour Company of Chicago has approved plans for a $100,000 improvement of the plant at Denison. This will not only renew the part of the plant lost by fire but add greatly to the capacity.

Three fatal automobile accidents recently in which drivers of the cars were under 15 years of age have caused the Sioux City Police Department to announce that the law forbidding persons under 15 years old driving cars will be strictly enforced.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, May 21.—Caught by a freight elevator when he put his head through the safety door to shout instructions to the operator, Sam Kravetsky, 27 years old, an employee of the Great Northern Knitting Mills, Duluth, was crushed to death. His widow and two small children survive.

William Vance, a pioneer in theatrical circles in the Northwest, died in Hancock, Mich., according to word received by friends in Minneapolis. Mr. Vance was a Mason, which lodge will have charge of his funeral.

Contracts for the erection of the new Elks' lodge home at Little Falls were awarded at a cost of $55,183. The general contract was awarded to the Central Construction Company of Staples at $40,808, out of a field of thirteen bidders.

ST. PAUL

ST. PAUL, May 21.—The County Board of Control unanimously adopted a resolution presented by Chairman William Boeringer, changing the name of the City and County Hospital to the Ancker Hospital, as a permanent monument to the memory of Dr. Arthur Ancker, who died here a few days ago.

A pretentious clubhouse for the St. Paul lodge of Elks will be erected at Fourth and Washington streets as soon as the present building, adjoining the new site on the north has been sold. The Elks' building committee already has laid tentative plans for the new building which will include a well equipped gymnasium, large assembly and dining-rooms and a number of bachelor apartments on the upper floor.

Albert E. Miller, 71 years old, landscape architect and resident of St. Paul for forty-seven years, died at his home, 1664 Taylor avenue yesterday following a short illness with pneumonia.

DETROIT

DETROIT, May 21.—William E. Burns, vice-president and general manager of the Michigan Malleable Iron Company, will receive $50,000; James Linklater, $20,000 and more than thirty employees of the concern are to have from $6000 to $100 each from the will of the late Thomas H. Simpson, president of the company. Mr. Simpson died May 8. The remainder of the estate, which is valued at approximately $1,500,000, is to go to Mr. Simpson's widow.

Nearly half as many divorce suits are being filed in Wayne county as there are weddings. Statistics in the office of the County Clerk show that during the first quarter of this year 6063 marriage licenses were issued and 2500 suits for divorce begun. These figures are the peak of a swiftly changing ratio which in three years has nearly doubled the grist of the divorce mills in this country.

Several main roads leading into Saginaw were closed to motor traffic last night because of the floods which have developed to an alarming extent in the last twenty-four hours. The water over the Cass road a few miles out of the city is a foot higher than it was early in the spring. The floods have delayed farm work at least a month.

Oil reserve of the South is estimated at 5,020,000,000 barrels, or about 55 per cent of this country's supply.

SLAYER'S LIFE MAY BE SAVED

Board May Urge Change in Martinez Sentence

Commutation is Asked by President Obregon

Tourist Family Missing in Desert for Months

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 21.—It is understood that the Arizona Board of Pardons and Paroles has reached a decision to recommend to Gov. Hunt a commutation to life imprisonment of the death sentence under which Manuel Martinez was to have been hanged next Friday at the State penitentiary.

The board, comprising G. O. Case, State School Superintendent; J. W. Murphy, Attorney-General, and Lin B. Orme, has been in session for several days. Martinez has asserted he was only a witness to the killing of Postmaster J. Frank Pearson, and wife at Ruby, near Nogales. It is also said that he had been deprived of his full legal rights through failure of his attorney to file an appeal to the State Supreme Court within the period of limitation.

Still more potent is a letter from President Obregon of Mexico, who, without argument, flatly asks commutation of the sentence, apparently on the ground of international comity.

Gov. Hunt this afternoon stated he had taken no part in the matter, but he is known to be against capital punishment.

Invitations to the execution have been issued already at the prison. Strong protests against commutation have been received from Nogales.

Relatives have written from Jefferson, Tex., for news of R. H. Crudup and family, who have been missing since October 14, last, when they left Rodeo, N. M., on their way to California, via Phoenix. About three months ago, on the desert near Salome, west of this point, was found an abandoned car, well stocked with provisions.

Today in the House chamber at the Capitol the annual conference of the Western Plant Quarantine Board was conducted. Formal welcome was extended by Gov. Hunt. Addresses were given by Chairman Charles A. Park, Director G. W. Hecke of the California Department of Agriculture and others. This evening a meeting is being addressed by Dr. C. L. Marlatt and E. R. Sasscer of the Federal horticultural board.

LUTHERAN CONFAB AT TOLEDO COMPLETED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO (O.) May 21.—The Lutheran Inner-Mission Conference closed its four-day session today with all of last year's officers re-elected for the coming year and Milwaukee was chosen as the 1924 convention city.

The prevailing styles of women's dress, modern dances, theaters, impure magazines and books and the illicit traffic in intoxicants and dope were severely criticised by Rev. C. W. Pfleuger of Columbus, in a talk this afternoon.

BOATSWAIN'S MATE DROWNS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Warlich D. Lambreth, chief boatswain's mate aboard the naval transport Bega, was drowned in San Francisco yesterday, when he fell from a gangplank leading from the vessel to shore. When he fell it is said that his head struck a piece of timber. The body did not rise to the surface. Lambreth's home was in Winters, Tex.

BANKS IN CUBA WORRY COUNCIL

Federal Reserve Board Men in Great Dilemma

Branches in Foreign Lands Are Discussed

Result Feared if Requests Are Granted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Federal Reserve Board's advisory council, at its quarterly meeting today sidetracked subjects of credit and general economic conditions for a discussion of the question whether Federal reserve banking activities should be extended to foreign lands. Indications were that the session was devoid of conclusions, and that the discussion would continue tomorrow.

Applications of the Boston and Atlanta reserve banks for permission to place agencies in Havana, Cuba, pending for sometime before the Reserve Board, have opened up the broader question as to whether the precedent that would be established by favorable action on either application would be proper.

It was made clear that the council members were not concerned with the merits of the two applications which have caused a near-controversy, and that their discussion dealt entirely with the subject in the abstract sense.

The State Department already has given its approval to the project of establishing an agency in Cuba, indicating its belief that such an extension might aid in bringing about closer relations between the two countries.

PRECEDENT IS FEARED

It seemed, however, that some of the council members feared that a precedent would be established in granting an application for a Cuban agency that could not but apply to branch banking in other foreign countries, if application is made by Federal reserve banks for the privilege.

Most of the council members, as individuals and bankers themselves, were represented as opposing the policy because they believed it would constitute extension of government competition to private banks and would embark the Reserve Board on a policy the end of which could not now be foreseen.

As officials of the government, however, their attitude was said to have been favorable to a large degree to the proposal for an agency in Cuba, which has steadily increasing trade relations with the United States. These requirements, it was held generally, should have their banking facilities satisfied.

There was intermittent discussion of the credit situation obtaining throughout the country, and of the general economic condition, but nothing of a tangible nature was said to have resulted. The Reserve Board will receive from the council tomorrow the quarterly statement from the councilmen on conditions in their districts.

THOUSANDS OWE SKIN HEALTH TO FAMOUS POSLAM

"Poslam? Why, that's what healed MY skin!" That is what thousands and thousands would say if you asked them about that famous skin treatment.

It acts quickly and surely on eczema, rashes and such tormenting eruptions, stopping the itching and smarting from the first application, and rapidly restoring skin health.

But effective as Poslam is, it is made of the gentlest, safest things, nothing in it that could irritate the tenderest, most inflamed skin even of a tiny baby. 50c everywhere. For trial sample, send 10c to POSLAM, 243 W. 47th St., New York.

How to Relieve — Neuritis

If you want genuine, lasting relief from those keen, darting pains of neuritis, you must first restore the diseased nerves to sound healthy condition.

Neuritis is nerve inflammation brought on by colds, injuries, bruises or infectious diseases. It usually centers its attack about the shoulder or nape of the neck, in the forearm, thigh or leg, and sometimes in the small of the back.

For real relief, procure a bottle of Eopa Neuritis Tablets from your druggist and take two tablets before each meal. The result will amaze you. Never in your life have you tried anything like these marvelous tablets.

DEBS SEES SOCIALIST MOVE GAIN

Wave Now Sweeping Over Country, He Believes, and Makes Predictions

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—A wave of Socialism is sweeping the nation and the people soon are coming into their own, said Eugene V. Debs last night after arriving from Rochester. He said his term in prison was one of the best turns ever done to advance Socialism.

"There is no enmity between Communists and Socialists," he said. "I have been officially invited to visit Russia. I will go there when possible. I am an upholder and staunch and steadfast friend of the soviet republic, which is hammering out a new form of government. However, the Third Internationale will never rule us. America always must rule America.

"Two years ago I was denounced as a traitor. On this trip I have been acclaimed in many cities as a hero. The crowd is with the Socialist."

PHOENIX CATHOLICS TO EXPAND SCHOOLS

NEW STRUCTURES WILL TAKE PLACE OF OLDER ONES; OTHERS ALSO BUSY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 21.—Large expansion is planned for the Catholic school system of Phoenix. Two school building that flank St. Mary's Cathedral on East Monroe street are to be torn down and there is to be erection of a $150,000 grammar school on a block of land owned by the church at Polk and Second streets. A school especially for Mexican pupils will be built in the southwestern part of the city at a cost of $75,000. A Catholic church structure is to be built at Gila Bend by Father Gheldof of Ajo.

At Douglas has been held the annual conference of the Baptist church in Arizona. The main speaker was Dr. C. L. White of New York City. The First Baptist Church of Chandler has called Rev. W. B. Pierce of Deposit, Tex., as pastor.

Rev. O. M. Andrews of the First Methodist Church of Prescott has accepted a call to Centralia, Wash. At Glendale the corner-stone of a handsome structure for the Methodist Episcopal Church has been laid. Preparation is being made for dedication of the Central Methodist Church, South, on North Central avenue. The structure will cost about $125,000. The Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Bisbee, is preparing to build.

SPOOKS ARE ISSUE IN ASBESTOS KING TRIAL

MANVILLE SAYS HE VISITED MEDIUM DURING FIGHT OVER NOTE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Spooks figured in the trial of the $21,000 suit brought by Dr. Alonzo E. Austin against Charles B. Manville, 89 years of age, founder of the Johns Manville Company, based on an accommodation note which the asbestos manufacturer is asserted to have signed with Clarke, Hanson & Co.

Mr. Manville has interposed a counter-claim for $20,000, asserting that he was induced to consult a spiritualist medium, through the statement that Charles M. Schwab got tips from her. Manville maintains that he was introduced to the medium by Dr. Austin and that on her advice he bought worthless stocks.

The suit itself came to light after Mrs. Myrtle B. Hayes of Boston had been indicted on a charge of forging Mr. Schwab's name to notes totaling $325,000 and the aged and retired manufacturer, in an interview, had disclosed his business relations with Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Cora Stetson Butler, both of whom were at one time connected with Clarke, Hanson & Co.

Prospective jurors were asked concerning their knowledge of spiritualism.

GERMAN GOLD WILL BE CREDITED TO BELGIUM

LARGE SUMS TO ARRIVE IN NEW YORK WITHIN FEW DAYS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The shipment of 60,000,000 gold marks to the United States by Germany, reported in recent cable dispatches from Berlin, will be deposited in this country for the account of the Bank of Belgium, it was reported in financial circles today.

According to these reports, the gold marks, valued at approximately $15,000,000, will be forwarded in two shipments, the first reaching America on the Reliance Friday and the balance on the steamer Mount Clay Monday.

Bankers suggested as a reason for this action that the Bank of Belgium desired to use the gold, and directed its shipment here to avoid the prohibition against gold imports in Belgium.

SEPARATIST MOVE GETS HARD JOLT

Moselle Workers Prevent German Radicals' Scheme From Getting Far

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, May 21.—Trier, Moselle, where American troops were quartered a year ago today, was the scene of a few hours theatrical uprising by Rhineland separatists, which met a stone-wall resistance from the workers, and which broke down despite the threats of the Rhineland conspirators that by Whitsuntide they would have proclaimed a republic of their own.

According to Berlin reports the separatists, flying banners, armed with revolvers and brandishing swords, stormed the electricity works in a war like fashion, occupied the telephone central, chased out the directors and leading workers, and endeavored to force the others to help them storm the town hall.

Before the plan was materialized the workers of Trier factories became alarmed and turned out, forming a living barrier to prevent the separatists from advancing. Mounted police arrived and a free-for-all fight followed. The separatists fled.

POPPIES ARE FOUND "MADE IN GERMANY"

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CEDAR RAPIDS (Iowa) May 21. The red paper poppies bought by an American Legion post here to celebrate Poppy Day, May 26, were discovered to bear the label "Made in Germany."

The Legion has called a meeting for tonight to decide whether to burn them. It has information also that several other Iowa cities have similarly labeled poppies. The poppies were said to have been ordered from an Indiana firm.

VETERANS DENY HOST OF FIGHTERS IN CELLS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Denial of a statement recently made before the National Conference of Social Work in Washington by Dr. W. F. Lorenz, director of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute, that 20,000 war veterans are in penal institutions throughout the country, was made today by the district office of the United States Veterans' Bureau. Dr. Lorenz's statement that mental disorders incident to war service were responsible for the plight of many of these veterans was regarded as unfounded.

ARMY FLYERS HURT IN AIRPLANE CRASH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

UNIONTOWN (Pa.) May 21.—Capt. Francis Murally and Lieut. C. McGinnis, Army aviators of Washington, were injured, the former seriously, when their airplane crashed into the mountainside, five miles east of here this afternoon, after the aviators had lost their bearings in a heavy fog. Both aviators sustained burns when the gasoline tank exploded after the crash. Capt. Murally was taken to a hospital here, but Lieut. McGinnis was able to leave the ship after his injuries were dressed.

Kearns Ready to Sign for a Wills Battle

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) May 21.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, announced here late this afternoon that it had been practically decided to sign articles for Dempsey to fight Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, in New York Labor Day. Purse division and size of the purse remains undecided, it was said. Kearns indicated that the arrangements were being made with Tex Rickard, promoter.

NEW YORK, May 21.—Two bidders for a heavyweight championship match between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, negro challenger, to take place here on or about Labor Day, were in the field tonight after Paddy Mullins, Wills's manager, had filed with the State Athletic Commission a request for sanction of the match in this State.

The promoters seeking the match, which depends upon Dempsey's triumph over Tom Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., July 4, are Tom O'Rourke, Polo Grounds matchmaker, and Simon Flaherty, matchmaker of a Long Island City open-air arena.

Despite a report from Great Falls quoting Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, as indicating he was dealing with Tex Rickard, the latter refused to confirm or deny tonight that he was interested in matching Wills with the champion.

According to Flaherty, who said he had started plans to erect an arena seating from 125,000 to 150,000 at Long Island City, Mullins has tentatively accepted his terms.

Eleanor Goss May Battle With Suzanne Lenglen

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. CLOUD (France) May 21.—Gobert and Cochet of France, Washer of Belgium, Count de Gomar of Spain, and Wheatley of England, appear to have the best chance of reaching the finals against William M. Johnston of California, in the men's singles after three days of play in the international hard-court tennis championships.

The matches today, in which Gobert won from Baron de Morpurgo and Cochet defeated Colombo, first ranking player of Italy, developed some of the best tennis ever seen in France. Johnston's defeat of Diemer Kool of Holland, was also interesting, although somewhat one-sided, the American demonstrating his superiority over the Dutch champion by 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Suzanne Lenglen, the French woman star, had a walkover in her match with Mlle. Perelli, whom she defeated without the loss of a single game, and is likely to come through without trouble in the women's singles. The only American woman surviving in the singles is Miss Eleanor Goss, who today disposed of Mlle. Deve of France, 6-2, 6-4.

A crowd estimated to be the largest of any attending a tennis tournament in continental Europe was on hand today, nearly a thousand persons being turned away at the gates.

PARIS, May 21.—American players won and lost in today's competition in the international court tennis for the Bathhurst Cup. Jay Gould defeated Capt. Bryce, British, 8-6, 8-6, and E. M. Baerlin, former British champion, defeated C. S. Cutting of New York, 6-3, 6-4.

CLEARYS WIN FROM RIVERSIDE IN TENTH

Jimmy Cleary's Athletic Club baseballers took a 17-to-10 win over the Riverside Merchants in a close, hard-fought battle that went ten innings Sunday afternoon on the latter's field.

It was anybody's game until the tenth inning when the clubmen knocked out six two-base hits in succession that enabled them to cross the rubber seven times for the winning runs. Danning did the heavy stick for his squad by poling out five safeties out of seven trips to the rubber. Burgess, Mission City twirler, was forced to pitch to eleven men before the side was retired in the last canto. Hudson, behind the bat for the losers, featured with the hickory for his team. Score:

FIFTY-EIGHT SAFE HITS IN SLUGFEST

The Pasadena Woodmen of the World's scrappy baseball nine decisively trampled on the Fremont Woodmen's horsehide squad, 31 to 13, Sunday afternoon in a City League tilt played on the Modern Woodmen of America diamond at Pasadena. Fifty-eight safe hits were accounted for during the progress of the encounter by both squads. The winners spoiled an otherwise perfect day by not making any hits or runs in the fifth. Klingensmith, losers' center fielder, featured with his hitting, getting a double and three singles out of five times at bat. Conklin and Lee hit the ball hard for the victors. Score:

Aha—La Belle Suzanne—Sure Enough

An Impressionistic Idea

This distinctive sketch, comes from the pen of Knud Merrild, a well-known Danish painter, who has come to Los Angeles to live. Mr. Merrild, incidentally, is one of Europe's best back-stroke swimmers, having won the championship of Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Finland at an international meeting. Without attempting to pose as an expert we should say that the pose certainly looks like Suzanne's pictures.

DEMPSEY GETS IN TRIM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) May 22. For the first time since he established training quarters here to prepare for his fifteen-round bout with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, July 4, Champion Jack Dempsey today pulled on leather and exchanged punches with three sparring partners. The champion boxed two rounds each with George Godfrey, giant negro of Philadelphia, Jack Burke, Pittsburg heavy, and Frank Powers, New York middleweight. Employing tactics, Dempsey flashes over the resined ring canvas. His footwork appeared particularly fast. Admitting that Gibbons is perhaps the most knowing and the speediest boxer that Dempsey has ever met, Manager Jack Kearns has made plans to speed up the champion's punching. Billy Wells, British welterweight title holder, and Joe Benjamin, California lightweight, arrived at the Dempsey camp today and will be used frequently in workouts with Dempsey. Kearns said he also intended to often work Godfrey with the champion, as he knows the Pittsburgesh is exceptionally fast. The champion was in good mental shape, joking with his training partners.

WILDCATS CAPTURE MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MODESTO (Cal.) May 21.—Final reports in the national telegraphic track and field meet held Saturday under auspices of the National Woman's Collegiate and Scholastic Track Athletics Association, changed the figures considerably from those given out late Saturday night by Howard G. Cleaveland, district governor, of Modesto, who was in charge of the meet.

Complete figures show that the University of Arizona won the meet with 26 points, the University of Iowa was second with 20 points, and Drake University third with 19 points.

Other colleges completing the list of entries scored as follows: Lake Erie College, Cleveland, O., 18½ points; Western Reserve, Cleveland, O., 18½ points; University of Utah, 18 points; Florida State, 13 1-3 points; Ohio Wesleyan, 13 points; Bakersfield Junior College, 10 points; Colorado College, 5 points.

In the high-school class, Eureka High School scored 46 points to 26 by their nearest competitor, Bakersfield.

Florida State League made 20 points and the Peninsula League 12 points.

RUPPERT ACQUIRES YANKEES

Prexy of Huggmen Buys Partner's Half Interest; Sole Owner on June 1

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Col. Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York Yankees, has acquired the half interest of his partner, Col. T. L. Huston, and will become sole owner on June 1 of the American League champions and their great stadium in the Bronx, the largest baseball park in the country. This announcement was made tonight by the Yankee colonels in a joint statement in which they declared negotiations for the sale of Huston's interests to his partner, broken off last January, had been resumed and carried to completion.

Col. Huston will remain as a director of the club, it was announced, but retains no financial interest whatever. "The deal was been made definitely this time," Col. Ruppert said, in amplifying the formal statement. "There is no chance of a hitch. The papers have all been signed."

The colonels refused to divulge financial details of the deal which ranks among the biggest in diamond history, but it was reliably estimated that Col. Huston received from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 for his interests. Experts base this figure on the approximate valuation of from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 placed on the Yankee club, and its new stadium, which alone was estimated to have cost $2,500,000.

Gossip has it that Col. Huston might become interested in the Brooklyn National League club. It also was said that he might become interested in the Boston Red Sox.

Discussing his plans for the immediate future, Col. Huston said he intended to visit Hot Springs, Ark., for a few weeks and then join his family for a vacation in California. He is national commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and has devoted an increasing amount of his time to their interests, a factor which was said to have a bearing on his desires to shift his baseball responsibilities.

The retirement of Huston as half owner of the Yankees leaves vacant the position of secretary-treasurer, which he held.

Edward G. Barrow, present business manager, probably will take over the secretarial duties, Col. Ruppert said, and another treasurer will be appointed. No other change in organization is contemplated. Cols. Huston and Ruppert bought the Yankees in 1915 from a group headed by Frank J. Farrell for about $500,000. They spent a fortune in rebuilding the club, lifting it from a consistent second-division berth to pennants in 1921 and 1922. Bill Donovan was the first manager under the Ruppert-Huston regime.

RACING CLUBS NOT LIKELY TO RECOVER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TORONTO, May 21.—Atty-Gen. Regan stated today that it was unlikely that the Kenilworth Racing Association and the Metropolitan Racing Association would be granted permission to press suits against the government for $461,000, the amount of taxes taken from the clubs during the racing season of 1922. Numerous protests have been made against the betting tax imposed last year.

The United States Naval Academy at Annapolis will have a modern boathouse for its oarsmen ready for use in 1925. It will cost $200,000.

LOTSEY AND MARKS MIX UP TONIGHT

Banties Hold Down Main Event Spot at Vernon; Hoppe Meets Wing

In a bout that will determine the first opponent here of Jack Sharkey, Georgie Marks and Johnny Lotsey will meet in the four-round main event at Jack Doyle's arena tonight. Sharkey, one of the best bantamweights in New York, is en route to this city with his bride.

Marks and Lotsey staged one of the greatest scraps ever seen at Doyle's. It was staged a year ago, just before Marks left for New York to take a crack at the big stars. Lotsey was doped as a "set-up" for the Coast champion, but he startled a big audience by flooring Marks in the first round. Marks was scared into fighting one of the niftiest battles in his career. He had to. Marks was given the verdict on a shade decision.

The bantamweights will be backed by a strong preliminary card. Dick Hoppe, who has been starred in San Francisco for many months, has been summoned home to meet "Tuffy" Wing in the semi-wind-up. Wing recently defeated Joe Fischer, all-Navy champion, at San Pedro.

Another old favorite, Jimmy Marcus, will appear against Jack Griffin of San Francisco. Marcus is fresh from a triumphant tour of the Northwest. Griffin is said to be a stiff puncher.

Young George, long an idol at Vernon, will make his return against Mack House, hard-hitting negro heavyweight. George is giving away weight, but he's out to prove that he should be given another chance at Bert Colima.

Other bouts on the card follow:

CORBETT MAKES BID FOR BASEBALL CLUB

CINCINNATI, May 21.—A telegram from James J. Corbett, former holder of the world's heavyweight boxing championship, asking the lowest terms for the majority stock in the Cincinnati baseball club was received at the club headquarters here today. It was said that the offer was a bona fide one, and that Corbett was backed by a number of business men who desired to enter major league baseball.

BRENTWOOD IS READY TO PLAY

Large Entry List Signed Up for Tomorrow

University Tournament Now Rounding Out

BY BOB LOCKE

Everything is set at the Brentwood Country Club for their annual invitational golf tournament, which starts tomorrow on their new course. This will be the first tournament on the course since it was made over from a skin course and word comes that it is in perfect condition for the big opening event.

The greens are at the present time in fine shape and the fairways are receiving the whole attention of the greens keeper and his assistants. They have in the past been rather dry, but water is on them constantly, so that by tomorrow they will be ready for the heavy play that will be on them.

ENTRY LIST BIG

A large entry list is expected by the tournament committee, which extends a very cordial invitation to all members of other clubs to come and try out the new course. Already the Los Angeles Country Club has taken up the gauntlet and has sent in a big bunch of names of those who will play for the trophies. Orange county, Virginia and San Gabriel have also sent in entries.

The Brentwood club is pinning its faith on Harry Borde or Tom McCall to take home the bacon. Both these men are shooting good golf at present and it is hoped that they will continue throughout the tournament. The above mentioned will surely give visitors a tough battle for first honors if they do not win it.

COMING PRO

William Stone, pro at the California Country Club, got a birdie last night when the stork left a husky boy at his front door. Both Mrs. Stone and the baby are doing well and it is rumored that the next father-and-son tournament at the California club will see the pair among the leaders.

R. "Cliff" Durant, father of the Durant racing team, sportsman and athlete, has accepted the directorship of athletics at the Southern California Athletic and Country Club, according to a wire received by the club.

Durant is a popular choice for the position, and as he will have charge of all athletics, except golf and tennis, he will step into a re-

GIANT LEADER WELL PLEASED

Shoeing of Team Satisfies Champions' Pilot

Frisch and Young Lauded by John J. McGraw

Muggsy Claims Jackson Will be Future Star

BY JOHN J. McGRAW,
Manager World Champion Giants
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Christy Walsh Syndicate.]

The start of the second month of the National League championship season of 1923 saw the Giants up on the top rung of the ladder, looking down at their rivals, with a satisfactory lead. I anticipated that situation.

It is much nicer to be leading than trailing, for my players as well as their manager. It is also a pleasant condition of affairs for the baseball public of Manhattan.

I had planned for the world's champions to secure the advantage of leadership in the race preliminary to starting off on our first western trip. That prestige is invaluable, not only as an attraction and also for the morale of any team that is as fortunate.

CRITICAL STAGE

The first month of any season I consider a critical stage always. If a winning spurt is made, the other fellows have to make up what the team on top has already accomplished. The trailers are put on the defensive. The leaders are invariably the most aggressive. A commanding lead is what I always strive for, the bigger the better. I never have had any fear of any of the many teams I have managed getting so far ahead as to kill interest in the scramble for the pennant. That has been prophesied for this year. Still I have never seen any such condition to exist. It has been so rare that a team has gone through an entire season without meeting with a dangerous slump, that the ups and downs year after year in baseball are to my way of thinking so much more to be feared, that no team should take any chances by being overconfident. A victory over any of the so-called "weak sisters" counts as much in the games-won column as a win over any other of your rivals—that is in the early stages of a race. Consequently, I always spur my players on to play just as hard to beat the trailing teams as the first divisioners.

The second month is now on. During April and May there have been developments in connection with the Giants that have strengthened my belief that I have two of as good players from every angle that ever handled or hit a ball. They are Frank Frisch and Ross Young. I would not exchange them for any other brace of players in the country. Nor would I sell their services for a fortune. And as good as they are, they will also improve in their all around ability. Even "Hans" Wagner had nothing on Frisch as an infielder, and Wagner was pre-eminent in his day. I do not except either Ty Cobb or "Tris" Speaker in my estimate of Young as an outfielder.

It has been stated that "Squire" Ebbets of the Brooklyn club offered $100,000 for Shortstop Bolan, of the Baltimore Orioles. A mere rumor possibly. But, if Bolen is worth that much money I have Infielder Jackson, whom I consider to be worth $200,000 to any man's club. I say this advisedly. Jackson will, when his time arrives show I am not exaggerating his worth or ability.

It was due to my having Jackson in store that I sold Johnny Rawlings to the Philadelphia club. I hated to let Rawlings go for I fully appreciated his value and what he has done for my club and team. I do not think I would have disposed of his services to any other manager than Arthur Fletcher, whose team, Philadelphia, was in bad shape for a second baseman or extra infielder.

Of my pitchers, Hugh McQuillan has been outstanding. He has won five games in six starts. We have been unfortunate at home in having unfavorable weather conditions, still I have no fear that my entire pitching staff will not stand up.

The Cubs were all shot to pieces when facing the Giants. It would be unjust to criticise them on that account. They will come back all right. The Pirates are a hustling team and smart. "Babe" Adams, the good old veteran, pitched with great headwork against us. He is a grand old character. I admired his work against the Giants immensely. The Pirates were well managed on the field.

TY WINS GAME

DETROIT (Mich.) May 21.—A battery of pinch-hitters took victory from the grasp of Philadelphia and gave Detroit a 5-to-4 victory today. Pillette allowed only four hits in eight innings but each of them figured in the Athletics' scoring. Hasty worked well until the ninth when three singles, two errors and a base on balls tied the score. Then Romnel, who relieved him, pitched one ball that Cobb dropped over the infield for a safety, winning the game. Score:

HAGEN LEAVES FOR SCOTLAND

Anxious to See Troon Links Before Match

British Title Holder Will Begin Practice

Irish Professionals to Go Against Yanks

LONDON, May 21.—I am leaving London tonight for Troon, Scotland, which will be the scene of the big open championship next month. I am particularly anxious to see this course where I am to defend my championship. I have heard that many new traps have been put in and that it will be a severe test of the game. I understand it is much stiffer than the one we played on last week. However, we boys all felt that our time at Leeds was not wasted as it gave us an opportunity to warm up. I have been asked by many golfers here if young Jolly had a chance to win at Troon. I honestly believe that he is one of the possibilities. I like the way he played against me very much. He hits a very long ball and has a nice, easy style, like Vardon. I thought sure Jolly would crack when I drew all level with him, but he showed plenty of fighting spirit. If this young man, who is only 27 does not win this year I predict that he will at some near future date, as he has the makings of a champion. Winning a few victories should help him a great deal. I understand he beat Abe Mitchell for Kent championship two years ago.

Few youngsters play a steady game, but Jolly proved that he could give the best that was in him at all times.

When I arrive at Troon I expect to get down to serious practice and will spend a few days there with the other American professionals. We are going over to Ireland to play in a tournament arranged by Sir Stanley Cochran. Six of us will play against Irish professionals and amateurs. After that Sarazen, Hoffner and myself will play exhibition matches against George Duncan, Abe Mitchell and Harry Vardon. This will carry us up to the open championship and I hope to be at my best at that time.

sponsible place. His duties will begin as soon as the grounds at Lake Elsinore are completed, and will have full say over the doings of the new athletic building in Los Angeles.

TOURNEY ON WAY

The entry list of the University of Southern California golf tournament swells to greater proportions every day. To date there are about fifty players signed up, and among them several women. The tourney is the first to be held at the college and as a result is attracting a great deal of interest.

On Monday the qualifying round will be played off, and then until Thursday the matches will be played off. Several handsome cups have been put up for the various flights, so that there will be plenty of inducement to enter the event.

AT MONTECITO

Earnest Martin and his assistant, R. Mather, have things pretty well lined up at the Montecito Country Club. Since their arrival about three weeks ago they have changed several features of the course and are now accommodating larger crowds than have ever played the course before. Several players from the club are leaving shortly for Seattle to play in the Northwestern championships.

TEE, FAIRWAY AND GREEN

BY "CHICK" EVANS

These are the days when a golfer pictures a season of wonderful achievement on the links. He has inspiring visions of fine shots and his enthusiastic thoughts may even stray to the big championships. He is confident that all he has lacked heretofore was a little knack that has constantly eluded him; this year he had made a discovery and this year will be his season.

These thoughts were especially suggested to me by a chance meeting with William M. Reay, president of the Briergate Golf Club, Chicago. Each year since I have known Mr. Reay, and he is a very old friend, he has begun the season with a new and infallible recipe for golf success, and although he has not won a championship I am bound to confess that each year his game has steadily improved. I am sure that this confident spirit is the very best condition of mind in which to begin a new season.

The spring is the proper occasion to lay the foundation of the game that will give you the long-hoped-for revenge on John Smith and that will enable you to wipe out a big part of your unflattering handicap.

One dares not experiment in midseason, but at the beginning of the golf year it is fairly easy for the player who has been doing many things wrong for many years to right a few of them in the springtime; for there is a right and a wrong way to play the game, and while the wrong way will show good results occasionally, it is better to find the method that will generally produce good results. I think a player before giving up in discouragement and resigning himself to mediocrity, should determine to give the tested right methods of play a thorough trial.

He should not worry so much about results at the beginning of his game, but he should try for right methods and work for consistency. Of course, the great players do not play alike in detail for they are necessarily individual, but the general principles of their game are the same.

There is no doubt that increased skill will add much to the pleasure of playing. Therefore, I advise the golfer who is conscious of a faulty game to devote at this season of the year a little study in its defects, and when that imporfented swing has once been remedied he will find himself most happily rewarded for his trouble.

BOSTON, May 21.—The directors of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation have voted a dividend of 40 per cent payable in stock, it was announced today.

WHAT Does Air-Bag Curing Do to a Tire?

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are cured under internal expansion on air-bags. Each cord is held straight and taut during vulcanization, giving perfect alignment, preventing creasing and avoiding the possibility of the cord fabric buckling.

Air-bag curing is a costlier process, but it adds carcass-strength and wear to the tire that increases mileage and cuts user costs.

The uniform dependability and wear of Firestone Cords, their nation-wide popularity among the more discriminating car owners, their never-waning reputation for Most Miles per Dollar—are significant facts for the tire-buyer who is still dissatisfied with the tire-service he gets.

Structural improvements, such as air-bag curing and double gum-dipping, have won thousands of new Firestone users, just as they have added thousands of miles to Firestone Cord service.

Firestone sales in six months have increased 194% over the same period one year ago!

To get your money's worth in tire service—go to your Firestone Dealer and ask for Gum-Dipped Cords and the improved Steam-Welded Tubes. This is the combination that gives

CUBS LOOK LIKE WIN

Southern Branch Baseballers Will Very Likely Championship of Conference

Unless Pomona College comes through with a surprise it seems a cinch that the Southern Branch baseball race is off with the conference baseball bunting this year. The Cubs have but one-half game lead over the Bruins and unexpected defeat can dislodge them from the top rung.

But three games remain for the stylish sluggers of the Golden Bears. On Saturday they will take on the Redlands baseballers on Moore Field. From present indications, the Baptists should present very little difficulty for the Branch team. The Redlandites have been consistent losers throughout the entire season, having annexed but one conference contest.

The deciding game will be played on Memorial Day, when the Cubs hook up with the Pomona Sagehens at Claremont. The last time the Sagehens and Bruins did combat the Bruins emerged victorious with an 11-to-6 score. The Sagehens have been playing in great slump, from which they have recovered.

LAYMAN WILL FACE RICHARDS AT COVINA

Joe Layman is matched to box Tommy Richards, 133-pounder, in the main event of the Covina American Legion fight show next Friday night, it was announced today. Charles Ray, shifty welterweight, exchanges punches with Young Scheller in the semi-wind-up.

The remainder of the card includes: Bud Forrester vs. Johnnie Nardes, 125 pounds; Freddie Klagge vs. Jimmie Lynch, 122 pounds; Elmer Tandler vs. Hank Day, 138 pounds, and Jimmy Butler vs. Sailor Walrod, 150 pounds.

McCANN TO TACKLE MORGAN ON FRIDAY

Frankie McCann and Ted Morgan will clash in the star attraction at the American Legion Hollywood arena next Friday night. Several weeks ago Morgan won a hair-line decision over McCann and the rematch was the result.

Matchmaker Frank Crowley has placed Gene Cline and Bobby Allen in the semi-wind-up. Other bouts on the bill follow:

Jimmy Hackley vs. Russ Pierce, 128 pounds.
Sailor Liston vs. Terry McGowan, 148 pounds.
Frankie De Mart vs. Sailor Acosta, 118 pounds.
Eddie O'Leary vs. Joe Kelly, 138 pounds.
Pete Wagner vs. Joe McKenna, 130 pounds.

SPORT SHRAPNEL

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Marty Krug hopes to be able to operate his convalescing pitching staff in such a way as to get maximum results in the series with San Francisco this week.

His advance plan is to open with Tom Hughes today, following with Thomas, Wallace and Crandall, and then repeat. This would mean Hughes hurling again on Saturday, with Thomas and Wallace doing their stuff again in Sunday's double-header.

Thomas, Crandall and Wallace are the only pitchers on the staff wholly right, barring possibly some of the rookies, and Krug does not intend to start any of these until the club is well over the .500 mark. He is greatly pleased with the sensational work of Roy Hamlin, but desires to bring him along carefully and may not start the Riviera boy inside of a month or six weeks, although he may be seen doing some relief duty.

Hughes is still somewhat handicapped by a loose nail, which his pitching finger is gradually shedding. Formerly Tom didn't shed his fingernails annually. He has changed his habits, and this has tended to gum up the general pitching plans.

Lyons' arm lacks a lot of being at its best, while Ponder has not but loose yet. One of the best bone and muscle experts in the city says that Elmer would not endanger his shoulder if he used the free, powerful movement that marked his delivery last season. But Ponder does not seem to have full confidence in his shoulder, and it perhaps is just as well to let him regain this in his own way.

Jones also has a bad shoulder, but the troubl eis believed to be only temporary.

But Krug hopes to get through the week on a safe margin, with the four flingers mentioned. Marty is highly gratified with the way Crandall has swung into form. Think what a difference it would have made in the present position of the Angels if Doc had been able to deliver from the start, and Ponder, Lyons and Hughes had noa been disabled.

Probably no staff in the league has been so largely on the bum from one thing or another.

However, good pitching alone would not have saved the club from its early slide. Despite the bunged-up staff, some fine games were turned in, but the boys weren't hitting.

Looks as though in a week or two the club might be working as a machine and hitting on all cylinders. It's on the improve. Since returning home it won eleven out of fourteen games, a net gain of eight, and the swiftest little climb made by any club this season.

Oscar Reichow points out that during th's time the club has gone along with an average approximately of twelve hits and five runs per game, a very satisfactory proportion, and one which will win a big majority of games with the kind of pitching the club figures to get as the veterans limber up.

Imagine playing under a manager four years, in that time not receiving one word of commendation from your manager, and yet vowing to the end that said manager was the best bas sthat any ball player could hope to have.

That was the experience of Hughie Smith under Frank Dillon, and down to this day he swears by Dillon. Hughie, who is now assistan City Attorney of San Francisco, is in Los Angeles on legal business. He joined the Angels when only 17, and voluntarily retired four years later.

"It was this way with Dillon," said Hughie. "He was a wonderful judge of human nature. Players like Pete Daley and Harry Wolter he was inclined to commend. They were too experienced to be flattered, but a bit of boosting helped their game and kept up their interest.

"With me it was different. I was just a kid and maybe a bit fresh, as the average kid is inclined to be. Dillon was simply afraid that if he patted me on the back or praised me, my head would swell, and that is likely to mean ruin. While I simply pined for a word of commendation, I knew Dillon's reasons and understood.

"He was a wonderful manager to play under, and I don't think a man ever lived who knew more baseball. If he lacked popularity with a certain class it was because he was not a rounder. He couldn't be one. It simply was against his nature. I believe it was Frank who introduced the squeeze play in this league."

Smith Broke Butch Byler in. That was with Colusa in the old Trolley League. "Freshest kid you ever saw," said Hughie, "but he has developed into a great catcher, smart and everything."

Just then Butch laid down a sacrifice. "Notice that?" asked Hughie. "He wasn't thinking of anything except advancing his man. I taught him that, and I learned it under Dillon. Frank's instructions were when you went up to sacrifice to do that very thing exclusively."

Sure seems too bad about Jakie May alike for him and the club. Too much work in 1922 or the flu last spring apparently has taken something out of him.

Now, with the advantage of second guessing, the preponderance of opinion seems to be that the club would be in better shape today in every way had he been sold. I never knew exactly what was offered, but have heard in a general way that Vernon was to receive $45,000 cash and four or possibly five players in a pinch, but asked seven players, all of a class to practically guarantee their making good in this league. But I cannot vouch for these figures, as they are by no means official.

Then there is another angle, largely overlooked. In addition to these men and the money, the club would still have French and Doyle, worth probably $20,000, as had May gone to the Yankees the Tigers would have been given title to these players.

In place of all these things and a club which probably would have been leading the league, Vernon has a pitcher who is having a desperate time to break even, and strained if not actually shattered relations with the New York Americans, who "made" the Vernon team for the past five years or more.

The Tigers in their alliance with New York had absolutely the softest proposition in baseball. Ruppert and Huston sent the club a wealth of players, and were excessively liberal in this respect. And I believe it was on the tip of Bob Connery, Yankee scout, that they were able to obtain Jakie [illegible] league, not exactly for a song, but for a duet composed of Scotty Alcock and Stumpy Edington.

Ball players are an unstable value. One need but turn to the records to observe that a pitcher seldom experiences two big years. The big year is the time to sell.

SOILAND ANNEXES TROPHY

With the largest crowd on hand that ever has attended an opening function of the occasion, the Newport Harbor Yacht Club got off to a flying start last Saturday and Sunday, when the official opening and annual inspection of craft was held.

The ships, arrayed in their best, decks gleaming and spars polished, sails well bent, lines coiled and metal shined to outrival the sun, were in three classes, with handsome trophies up for the winner in each.

Dr. Albert Soiland, admiral of the Pacific Coast Yachting Association, established a record for having a craft in shipshape form. It would have been impossible to have a boat in better shape, for Admiral Soiland was credited with 100 points. He was awarded the directors' trophy.

Capt. Barron won Dr. Soiland's trophy with his power cruiser Seminole. The latter craft was in such neat shape to bring 95 points.

The power yacht Louise, Capt. E. D. Burge on deck, won the club trophy with 90 points. Admiral Soiland for two consecutive weeks has been the big winner when inspections of ships have taken place. A week ago his Viking IV was the winner at the California Yacht Club with 99 points.

Over 300 were present Saturday night at the Newport clubhouse when the opening banquet was served. Some wonderful entertainment was put on, followed by the season's opening hop. Following the banquet the award of the trophies was made by Commodore Shirley E. Meserve. The inspection committee was made up of Staff Commodore Frank Smith, Vice-Commodore William Fenton and George Vibert.

BOWLERS GET UNDER WAY AFTER REST

After a two weeks' rest the twelve Class AA bowlers entered in the Southern California individual championship bowling tournament for the Harris & Frank and B. H. Dyas Company trophies are rarin' to go. Tonight at the Angelus Acamedy alleys play will be resumed, six matches being arranged.

Ernie Shay, former Coast champion, is leading the race by a fraction of a point. Right on his heels is the veteran, Dad Meek, with Don DeLoux third.

HUSTON SELLS OUT INTEREST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 21. — Capt. T. L. Huston, half-owner of the New York Yankees, announced today that he had sold out his interest in the club to Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the other half-interest. Capt. Huston will retire from baseball. The same deal was arranged last winter, but Huston failed to close it because Ruppert wanted him to give a pledge that he would not re-enter baseball in the metropolitan district. As Huston was at that time thinking of buying into the Brooklyn team he refused to make the promise and the sale was called off.

ZONE TENNIS MATCHES ON

Australia May Not Compete in Davis Event

Island Team Not as Strong as Antipodeans

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN.
World's Champion Player 1920-21

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—The American zone of the Davis Cup matches includes the entries of four nations: Japan meets Canada, while Hawaii plays Australia.

HAWAII VS. AUSTRALIA

Before I set out on the analysis of this match let me say that it may be wasted labor, for the Australian team is not absolutely certain of participating in the play. J. O. Anderson, the Australian champion, and wheelhorse of the team, is still uncertain about making the trip. Since Gerald Patterson, Pat O'Hara Wood, Norman E. Brooks, Rodney Heath and "Sos" Werthman are not available, the team named by Norman Peach—Schlesinger and Stuart—would hardly warrent sending without Anderson. However, I expect to see Anderson prevailed upon to come, and so I will write as if certain that Australia will play.

AUZACS FAVORED

Australia should undoubtedly defeat Hawaii. The match will be played in Honolulu in the early summer, as the Australian team is on its way to America. The Island team will be made up of several American players who have resided in Honolulu for some years, and, while not absolutely first class, are still good enough to give Australia a real work-out, without much chance of defeating them.

The Australian team present several interesting problems. J. O. Anderson has proved himself one of the great players of the world He is assured of winning his two singles matches. Norman Peach should play the other singles. He is a fine base-line player, who will be remembered as a member of the 1921 Davis Cup team which played in America. Undoubtedly, Peach has improved since then, or he would not be counted a "regular," as he now is. Nothwithstanding his unexpected and sensational victory over Gerald Patterson late last year, I cannot regard him very seriously.

Patterson was far from well and very much overtennised, as he was when he lost to Anderson in the championship of Australia. So I discount both matches to some extent.

PROMISING YOUNGSTERS

Schlesinger and Stuart are two youngsters discovered by Norman Brookes, according to rumor, and, in the opinion of the old master, are comers of infinite promise. I understond that they are over here for experience, and may not see service in the Davis Cup matches, although they will play in our tournaments. I would not be surprised to see one or both of them in the doubles against Hawaii, although I do not expect to see them in the final round tie against Japan.

This method of Australia in sending youngsters every second year of the Davis Cup will surely bring results. It was the making of J. O. Anderson, and may be the step up to the front for Schlesinger and Stuart. The play of these two boys will be studied with interest, for any player on whom Brooks has placed the seal of approval must be a player of distinction and individuality.

Therefore, in summing up, I say that Australia, it its team plays, will defeat Hawaii, probably without the loss of a match, certainly with not more than one, and will advance to the final round of the American Zone, where it will play the winner of the Japan-Canada tie. I commend the Hawaiian Tennis Association highly for its splendid sportsmanship in entering, and wish it all success in the matches. It is quite possible that Hawaii is far stronger than I know, and may upset the dope.

GIANT BOXER TO BEGIN WORK

moter will have to do is to cross over into New Jersey.

NONE HURT

On commenting on his fracas with Johnson, Jess said, among other things: "Floyd went fairly well the first few rounds. As none of his blows hurt me, I early knew barring an accident, that I was his master. Floyd is a pretty tough fellow and took his punishment gamely but I want to say right here that this bout was one of the easiest for me that I ever fought."

"How about the weight for Firpo?" we cut in.

"Oh, I don't know as I'll take off any more weight. I weighed about 247 when I fought Johnson and will probably enter the ring with Firpo at the same weight."

"How about the Dempsey-Wills scrap purported to be slated for Labor Day?"

A SURE PICTURE

Jess's smile of incredulity was a picture to look upon. He flouted the whole thing as a canard. "There'll be no fight between Wills and Dempsey," he snapped. "The whole thing is one of Jack Kearns's yarns. Believe me, there will be no more championship bouts between the whites and blacks. Those bouts are a thing of the past. The talk of such bouts are all bosh. Why, even if promoters succeeded in signing up such a match, the government would step in and stop it right away. I really believe that if I win over Firpo, that Dempsey will be my next opponent and I still think I have a good chance to beat Jack.

The Asociacion Mexicana de Lawn Tennis will govern the sport in Mexico. The organization, just launched, will introduce the game to junior players.

It is expected Stanford University will return to rowing next year.

Avoid Motor Oils

containing paraffin, asphalt or any other non-lubricating substance. Aristo Oil is refined by the most advanced processes, designed to remove everything in the crude which has no lubricating value.

Fluffy
Not Flint-Like "Carbon"

All motor oils deposit some carbonaceous residue called "carbon," as all makers of oils know.

A hard, gritty, flint-like "carbon"—hard enough to score your cylinders and scratch pistons, rings and bearings—causes these four motor troubles which you can eliminate.

Due to the abrasive action of this flint-like "carbon," cylinders and pistons are scratched and worn.

Spark plugs become coated with the hard "carbon." Thus the spark plug is short-circuited and the motor misses.

The gritty accumulation around the valves prevents proper seating, so a loss of compression results.

You avoid such troubles by using an oil which leaves a soft, fluffy residue instead of the flint-like kind.

Fluffy, Light, Non-Clinging

Aristo Motor Oil leaves but a little—half to a third as much of this other kind of residue.

Soft and fluffy, most of it blows out with the exhaust. It has less tendency to cling than hard "carbon."

It is softer than cylinders, pistons, rings and valves so cannot score or wear them.

It doesn't become incandescent. Ends the missing.

No grit around the valves so compression isn't lost.

Motors run thousands of miles farther without cleaning. You save expense.

Made by the lubrication engineers and specialists of the Union Oil Company, equipped with every facility for the most exhaustive research, this oil is a pure, sure lubricant as fine as knowledge and experience can make.

Famous race drivers have tested it under conditions more severe than any that your car will ever know.

End "carbon" troubles with it. Have a smoother-running, longer-lasting car.

Foreign Cars Too Slow for Yanks

GERMAN RACER MAKES RECORD

Ninety-nine Miles Per Hour is Best Mark

Californians Put Out Speed for Natives

Mercedes Are Fastest Autos From Europe

BY AL G. WADDELL,
Former Member Contest Board A.A.A.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright by Harry Elliott Service]

INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY, May 21.—Christian Werner was the chauffeur on the German Mercedes today when it reached a speed of ninety-nine miles an hour, the fastest lap yet turned by either the French or German drivers who are here for the 500-mile-race May 30.

The foreigners have fallen far short of the wild Americans during the practice session. Jimmy Murphy, Cliff Durant and Harry Hartz on the Durant Specials have astonished the race fans with wild bursts of speed that were believed impossible. Hartz has broken the track record twice with his 122-inch mount. Murphy held the track record for almost a day and Ralph De Palma, on the Packard Special, was the first man to do a lap under 1m. 28s., the record made by Tommy Milton on the first day of practice.

CARS NOT RIGHT

The Germans, as well as the Frenchman, are under a handicap here. Their cars were built for European courses and they have a lot to learn about gear ratios and carburetion before the start of the race. The Mercedes jobs were built especially for the European Grand Prix to be staged at Monza, Italy, in September, and the Bugatti jobs were built for the French Grand Prix on the Le Mans course in July.

The German drivers announced today that they would carry mechanics in the race May 30. All the American and French drivers are to ride single, but as the Monza race calls for two-passenger bodies and the Mercedes mounts were built for that event, there are two seats in the German racers and Werner, who is chief engineer of the Mercedes factory as well as a star driver, says that they will need their mechanics to watch the instrument boards, as they are not entirely automatic like the Duranta, Packards and H.C.S. jobs.

With the exception of Cliff Durant, none of the members of the California speed fleet was out today. Hearne, Hartz, Murphy and Earl Cooper all had their motors down for inspection.

Joe Boyer on his Packard special was out tuning up and in his first few laps ran over the 100-mile mark while the foreigners scratched their heads and wondered what chances they had of taking a fortune back across the Atlantic.

Dario Resta, the third member of the Packard team, was out in his car for a workout, but the Italian was content to tour around at ninety-eight miles an hour while working in a stiff motor. Ralph De Palma, Packard team captain, made Resta remove his shoes before going in the tiny racer for his initial spin over the bricks.

URBAN SOLDIERS WIN INITIAL SWIM MEET

Urban Military Academy swimming team easily won its first anual swimming meet with the St. Mathias team of Los Angeles, at the Urban pool.

Cadets Crane, Hewitt, Reeve and Smith were the stars of the day. The final score was: Urban, 49; St. Mathias, 1. The officials were: Maj. Quinn and Director of Physical Education Carl Curtis.

Following is the summary:

25-yard free style—Won by Ward Crane (Urban.) Purdy (Urban) second; Balanger (Urban) third.

AL JOLSON MAY YET BECOME A MAGNATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Al Jolson, the famous musical comedy blackface comedian, now appearing in a return engagement of "Bombo" on Broadway, tonight confirmed reports current on Broadway today that he is seeking to make his debut as a baseball magnet by purchasing an interest in the St. Louis National League Club.

Jolson a few days ago had a conference here with Branch Wesley Rickey, president and manager of the Cardinals, and opened negotiations for the purchase of a large block of stock in the St. Louis club.

SHELBY TO BE KEPT BONE DRY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) May 22.—Shelby, Mont., where Jack Dempsey battles Tommy Gibbons July 4, is going to be bone dry the day of the fight if dry agents can make it so, A. D. Lusk, Federal prohibition director in Montana said today. Lusk left today for Shelby to make preliminary plans for stopping rum-runners from bringing liquor for Shelby from Canada, forty miles to the north. Fifty or more prohibition agents will be stationed at Shelby within a short time, Lusk said.

SEVERNS EXPLAINS HOW TO OVERCOME ENEMIES OF LIFE

Article XLVIII

BY BARCLAY L. SEVERNS

Statistics show that 500,000 out of every million children die before maturity. Is there any reason for this? Not if the same attention were given to the prevention of disease as is given to the cure of disease.

The public should be made aware of the contents of many of the patent medicines, soft drinks and other things adulterated with chloral, laudanum, opium, cocaine, morphine, or some product of these drugs in one form or another. They are put in, not to make the drinks any better, but for the purpose of creating the drug habit, which, when once formed, is very hard to break. Needless to say the cells of the body first deteriorate and then perish under their use.

BECOME WEAKLINGS

It is time people stopped living so that they become weaklings in the later years of life. It is time they learned that they can live in safety from ills. The greatest blessing that anyone can have is perfect health. A sound nervous system makes a sound mind. The mind and nervous power are very closely related. Health drives away all feelings of depression, discouragement and melancholy while poor health attracts them. Health attracts to you the wonderful sunshine of life with all its encouragement such as no other power will summon. Life is then joy and power and not mere existence.

The person with strong, vigorous vitality never has to fear epidemics. He, by making his body proof against all dangers, is immune to them. He will not die just in the prime of life. He will not lose the use of some of his faculties in the waning years of life. There is no reason why a person should not live to a very advanced age and still have good hearing, good eyesight, clear memory and a strong, healthy body. He will if he makes of his cells builders instead of destroyers.

Is there a greater boon than perfect health of body and mind? The writer thinks it is the greatest blessing that can come into any human life.

APPEALS TO ALL

A person may have fairly good health; that is, he may never be really sick, yet he may lack vigorous vitality. To this class of persons this article should particularly appeal and to those that still have plenty of vim and vitality it should also appeal, as it will show them how to preserve the life energy they already have.

Nothing actually dies, although everything passes through that change which we call death. Everything in time matures and comes to an end. In spite of anything man has been able to do, the body sooner or later will dissolve and its elements go back to the earth whence it came.

The body, as we previously stated, is made of life cells. It matters not how intricate the organism is, it is built up of cells. The hardest bone is a mass of cells. The same is true of every other part of the body.

Every time the blood circulates through the system, it leaves countless millions of new cells that will be used to repair the body. The activities of the body have at the same time caused countless millions to break down. The old cells become useless. The system is full of dead cells all the time, but they must not be allowed to remain long, for every dead cell is as much a poison for its size as every dead carcass is.

We realize the necessity of quickly burying the bodies of the dead, because if we did not they would soon become a menace to all life; but few realize that there are at this very moment millions of dead cells within their bodies. They are accumulating all the time, and, compared with their size, they give off the same putrid odor and are the same menace to health as dead cells outside the body. The real fact is that there is not as much danger when the dead cells are in the open as there is when they are confined to small places within the human body where their toxins are more active.

I want you to realize that dead tissue within the human body is dangerous. Nature has arranged to destroy the dead cells, but, if they are not thrown off by the usual process, germs will come in and assist in ejecting them. There is the trouble. When the germs have to be called in to destroy the dead tissue, they do not stop when they finish their work, but start in to destroy the live tissue as well. This is one of the causes of disease.

The next article will show how you can live so as to prevent the development of poisons within the body.

TO FURBISH UP RANCHO PLANT

Extensive and radical improvements now under way at th Rancho Golf Club, Los Angeles, both in the clubhouse itself and along the entire course have caused veterans of the game in Southern California to foresee the Rancho as one of the finest playing clubs and courses in the entire West.

With 350 playing members already enrolled, besides the guests of the Ambassador and Alexandria hotels, who have the privileges of the course, P. A. Moulton, president of the club, with the board of directors, finds it necessary first of all to enlarge the club building itself. This is being done by the addition of two wings, the first of which is taking the form of an addition to the ladies' locker rooms and showers as well as an outside tearoom, which will be attractively glassed in.

For the men, the new wing will contain 250 lockers and a seventy-foot men's grill in the Dutch style, while the present men's grill will be transformed into a comfortable lounging-room. The main restaurant of the clubhouse which has been so popular will remain the same.

Between the new wing and the old there will be an attractive flower-filled patio covered with awnings, where fountains will play, which will also be used for dining.

In the front parkway, before the clubhouse, Dr. Moulton has planned an attractive old-fashioned barnyard which will be eminently in keeping with the ranch-house style of the building. There will be an old hay loft, windmill, water trough and a quaint barnyard garden.

The improvements and changes on the course are being installed under the direction of William Bell, who has become well known for his work on the Annandale and Pasadena courses. Six holes are now being entirely reconstructed so that the entire transformation will be completed by the middle of August.

Following is a categorical list of the holes as they will make up the new Rancho:

Following is a categorical list of the holes as they will make up the new Rancho Course:
1. The tee will be enlarged.
2. The tee will be set to the right of the first green and a new fairway will be laid out so that one will be able to drive over the hill to the green instead of into the hog's back as it now exists.
3. New traps will be placed around the green.
4. Remains the same.
5. New traps will be placed to the right of the apex and behind it.
6. The fairway will be widened thirty yards at the left.
7. The fairway will be the same only wider.
8. New fairway is now planted, allowing for a straight shot by the removal of the two traps at the right.
9. Remains the same.
10. The fairway will be narrowed slightly and a few traps removed.
11. An entirely new fairway will be put in eliminating the dog's leg. The two traps in center will be taken out. New traps will be placed at right of green.
12. Tee will go to the right of the eleventh green with a new fairway, making a view of the twelfth pin possible.
13. Remains the same with a new trap in front of green.
14. Dr. Moulton and Mr. Bell are particularly proud of plans for this hole. Three hundred yards of tile have been put in and the barranca filled in, over which grass is now growing, making a beautiful drive to the hillside opposite possible.
15. Tee will go to the right of fourteenth green making the hole thirty yards longer.
16. Tee goes back forty yards. Fairway will follow the valley, allowing for a third pitch shot and eliminating the hog's back.
17. The hole will be twenty-five yards shorter, giving players an opportunity to reach the top of the hill opposite along three different lines.
18. Five traps will be removed from this hole.

BOXING BILL FATHER TO ATTEND BANQUET

CHICAGO, May 21.—State Senator James Walker of New York, father of the boxing bill in that State, arrived in Chicago today to attend a banquet given in his honor tomorrow night by the Chicago chapter of the National Sports Alliance.

Leonard went through another strenuous afternoon, in addition to going on the road in the morning.

According to Promoter James Mullen, who will conduct the Leonard-Mitchell bout, Pinkie will complete his training in the Cream City, but will come to Chicago to show his wares at a local gymnasium a few days before the contest.

The Goodrich Fundamental Principle

To make only tires of the greatest value and to sell them at the fairest price has always been the basic policy of Goodrich.

The success of Silvertown Cords is conclusive proof of the soundness of this principle. Silvertowns embody all that must be in a tire.

Goodrich makes only the one grade of Cord tires. The reputation of Goodrich is valued too highly to permit the name to appear on a tire which might fall short of its users' rightful expectations.

In this way Goodrich keeps faith with the millions who trust to Silvertowns for the value and economy of service. Your Goodrich dealer sells Silvertowns in every size. His stock is new and fresh.

MANY who have been reading the advertising describing the Fontana Farms Company's irrigated vineyard lands, orange groves and the great Fontana Poultry Farm have been interested in the opportunity afforded there for a country homesite and some income-producing acres in a beautiful scenic region within two hours' drive of Los Angeles, but have not been able to take time to see the Fontana Estate for themselves.

For the benefit of these the Fontana Farms Company has opened at 623 South Olive street a temporary display room, with a most interesting and comprehensive pictorial collection, which tells photographically the story of Fontana Farms. An exhibit of Fontana's many fruit varieties is also shown.

Here, in a few minutes' time, a person may see through the camera's eye the vineyards, orange groves, poultry farm, irrigation system and the other farming operations that are conducted on a huge scale.

Thousands of new arrivals in Los Angeles from the East, who realize that they are now in the great Southern California fruit empire of which they have read and heard so much, will also be much interested in seeing pictorially the Fontana Estate, which is the largest diversified fruit, poultry and live stock farm in the world.

We extend to all those interested in fruit lands an invitation to call at our display room at the above address, which will be open for only a short time. Our Los Angeles offices will remain in the Pacific Finance Building.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

En obsequio a nuestros numerosos amigos de habla española y para beneficio de los lectores americanos del Times que estudien esa lengua, publicamos diariamente esta columna en castellano, con un extracto de las más importantes noticias de última hora.

Un conocimiento práctico del español es de grandísima utilidad en este país, especialmente en el suroeste; como lo demuestra el hecho de que en Los Angeles solamente hay más de 15,000 personas que estudian ese idioma con profesores oficiales o particulares. Para esos estudiantes será un buen ejercicio leer todos los días esta sección, donde encontrarán las palabras y frases más usuales del lenguaje español.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, mayo 21. — La Oficina Filipina de aquí ha hecho público un cable de Manila, en el que se declara que el Gobernador General Wood ha desmentido la noticia de que parlamentarios americanos hayan aceptado dinero por defender la causa de la independencia filipina.

Haynes, Comisionado de la Prohibición, les ha quitado trabas a los doctores, quienes ya podrán recetar licor, pidiendo sus licencias a los directores de los estados, sin tener que recurrir a Washington.

Quizá la Gran Bretaña se Quede por un Día sin Primer Ministro

LONDRES, mayo 21.—Es muy probable que la Gran Bretaña permanezca el día de hoy, por lo menos, sin primer ministro. El Rey Jorge, que se encuentra en Aldershot, no había, hasta hoy en la tarde, pedido a nadie que aceptara el puesto de primer ministro, en substitución de Andrew Bonar Law, que dimitió ayer. Por lo menos, el público nada ha sabido sobre ese particular.

Dícese que el Rey no tiene por ahora intenciones de abreviar su visita a Aldershot, la que durará, según se cree, la mayor parte de la semana. Entretanto, los dos que tienen mayores probabilidades de quedar a la cabeza del gobierno, son Earl Curzon y Stanley Baldwin, Canciller del Exchequer (Ministro de Hacienda.) Ambos se hallan en el campo pasando las fiestas de Pentecostés, y han proyectado permanecer fuera de Londres hasta el miércoles.

Los médicos de Andrew Bonar Law publicaron hoy en la tarde la siguiente declaración: "Se le practicó al Sr. Bonar Law una ligera operación en la garganta. Por lo demás, no ha variado su estado."

Resumen de las Noticias de China

Se teme más y más que los bandidos hagan efectiva su amenaza de ejecutar mañana a un americano y a un inglés.

NOTAS LOCALES

Robo al Cajero de una Droguería, y a un Banco de Hollywood

La policía persiguió ayer a los bandidos que robaron a Dave Antink, cajero de la Compañía de Drogas Sun, la suma de $25,000, huyendo en medio de una granizada de balas. Los gendarmes les siguieron la pista hasta la esquina de la Calle Veintitrés y Avenida Griffith, donde abandonaron los bandoleros el auto en que practicaron el robo, y se cambiaron a un Buick rojo de deporte, en el que escaparon. El primer auto quedó manchado de sangre y perforado por los proyectiles. La policía tomó el número del segundo coche, y hace pesquisas por echarle el guante a un individuo herido en la cabeza o en la cara por una de las balas que le disparó el cajero robado.

Dos veces fué tocado Antink por el fuego con que le contestaron los malhechores, una, en el brazo, donde tiene una herida muscular: la otra bala fué detenida por una libreta memorandum que traía en la bolso del chaleco, y que probablemente le salvó la vida.

El robo a Antink es el segundo audaz atraco del día de ayer. El primero fué el robo de $2000 en billetes, perpetrado por dos bandidos armados, en la sucursal que tiene en Hollywood el Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank.

Reid Debe Morir. Así Falla el Tribunal

Clarence (Tuffy) Reid, de pie e inmóvil, en la sala de audiencia del Juez Reeve, oyó pronunciar una sentencia, que reconoce por origen su iniciación en el uso de la morfina, hace cuatro años, y que va a llevarle al cadalso. Manifestóle el Juez Reeve que el próximo 14 de agosto, entre las 10 a.m. y las 4 p.m., deberá ser colgado por el cuello hasta que le venga la muerte. "No me quejo", dijo el joven asesino, no mayor de veinte años. "Se me ha juzgado con equidad. Yo no sé lo que pasó; pero hubo seis testigos oculares de ello."

El corto período que Tuffy Reid ha vivido comenzó en serio cuando apareció, hace cuatro años, en San Bernardino, como boxeador de "puerco con frijoles", y, después de la pelea, se rindió a las instancias de varios otros jóvenes, y accedió diciendo: "Bueno, deame un poco." Este "un poco" referíase a la morfina. El pobre muchacho no tardó en enviciarse.

Reid fué convicto del asesinato de Charles Weingarten, el 21 de enero, en un almacén de baúles sito en la calle Spring sur. Dijo Reid que él y otros dos individuos, que no han sido aprehendidos, se dirigieron a la tienda de maletas, con la idea de que podrían conseguir allí morfina. Los dueños de dicho comercio declararon que no sabían de nadie que traficara por allí en opiáceos; que ellos no lo hacían tampoco. Weingarten y varios otros fueron atracados por los tres referidos jóvenes, siendo el primero muerto de un balazo.

DEPORTES

Pugilato

Ahí viene un acontecimiento que será, según se espera, la más grande reunión de hábiles boxeadores aficionados que se haya visto en esta ciudad: se trata del carnaval de guantes de boxeo de la A.A.U. de la Costa del Pacífico, que comenzará la noche de mañana. Es de entrada libre para el público.

La noche del próximo viernes se encontrarán Frankie McCann y Tod Morgan en el número más atrayente del programa de la Legión Americana en el tablado de Hollywood. Hace varias semanas que Morgan, por un cabello, le ganó la decisión a McCann, dando por resultado este match de desquite.

Tennis

William M. Johnston, de California, era el único jugador americano de tennis que quedaba hoy en St. Cloud, Francia, en los campeonatos internacionales de tennis de cancha dura, pues obtuvo la victoria sobre Kierner Kool, de Holanda, en la tercera tanda del juego. Ganó el yanqui por anotación de 6-3, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4.

Baseball

El Capitán T. L. Huston, conducño de los Yanquis de Nueva York, anunció hoy que había vendido su representación en el club al Coronel Jake Ruppert, el otro conducño. El Capitán Huston se retirará del baseball.

Golf

Radicales y extensas mejoras se están haciendo en el Rancho Golf Club de Los Angeles, tanto en el edificio mismo, como en la pista. Los veteranos del juego en Sudcalifornia prevén que va a ser Rancho uno de los más hermosos clubes y campos de golf de todo el oeste.

RADIO MARKET NEWS WILL BE GIVEN COAST

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21. — A radio telegraph market news service for Pacific Coast stockmen, farmers, marketing agencies, banks and all others interested was begun today by the United States Department of Agriculture, it was announced today from the department's headquarters here. The naval radio is being used for the service, on a spark wave length of 1908 meters.

The first broadcasting was set for 11:30 a.m. from the naval radio station here and the second for 4 p.m. The broadcasting area is approximately 300 miles, and the reports will be sent out daily with the exception of Sundays and holidays.

The service will not supplant the regular mimeographed reports of the department.

PRESBYTERIANS MERGE BOARDS

Twelve of Sixteen Existing Agencies Eliminated

Bryan is Expected to Occupy Stage Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 21.—Reorganization of the boards of agencies of the Presbyterians of the United States was completed today with the elimination of twelve of the sixteen existing bodies.

Hereafter the work of the church will be conducted in four main divisions: The board of foreign missions, board of national missions, board of Christian education and board of ministerial relief.

As a result of the elimination of twelve committees, next year's assembly will be shortened from eight days to seven; standing committees will be reduced from eighteen to twelve, but the membership of the committees will be raised from forty to seventy-two.

Negro members of the church won a victory, in principle, when the assembly went on record to declare that racial groups should be given representation on the four boards as soon as possible and as far as it may be deemed expedient.

The declaration, permissive rather than mandatory, will permit addition of Japanese, Indians or any other racial groups, as well as negroes, if the church so desires.

The organization of the general council, created by last year's assembly at Des Moines, Iowa, was deferred today, pending a report from the bills and overtures committee, which is expected to offer an amendment to the present council plan making the moderator also chairman of the council.

The assembly today voted to hold an election Thursday to fill a vacancy on the board of trustees of the General Assembly.

The report of the department of church co-operation and union, providing for the carrying on of a movement toward union of the seven principal Presbyterian churches, was accepted. Other action taken today included creation of a committee to conduct the campaign for a $15,000,000 addition to the endowment fund of the board of ministerial relief and sustenation. Will H. Hays, president of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, is slated for the chairmanship of this drive.

MAY SCORE FOSDICK

In the morning the committee on bills and overtures is expected to present its report on the overtures attacking the doctrines preached by the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick in the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church of New York. Mr. Bryan, as a leader of the fundamentalists, who insist on a literal interpretation of the Bible, and particularly the doctrine of the virgin birth of Christ, is looked to lead the demand for a clear-cut denunciation of liberalism and rationalism in the pulpit.

The committee on temperance and moral welfare also is scheduled to report. Mr. Bryan has ready for presentation from the floor a resolution asking that every minister, church officer, church member an dthe presidents, faculty members and students of the fifty-seven Presbyterian schools, colleges and seminaries sign a pledge of total abstinence from the use of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. He offered the resolution at a mass meeting Sunday afternoon, when it was approved.

WILL LEAD SERVICES

At noon Mr. Bryan will lead the daily devotional services. He is not on the program for the first fifteen minutes of the afternoon session, but at 2:45 p.m., the committee on education, of which he is a member, will present its report. Mr. Bryan is understood to have ready a minority report asking the assembly to prohibit the teaching of the Darwinian theory of evolution in the Presbyterian schools and demanding that every Presbyterian professor and teacher sign a statement renouncing belief in any hypothesis of the evolutionary descent of man and affirming their acceptance of the doctrine of the virgin birth of Christ.

TRANSPORTATION ACT IS AID, SAYS STOREY

SANTA FE PRESIDENT URGES THAT LABOR BOARD BE CONTINUED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—Asserting the Transportation Act to be the first really constructibe measure ever adopted by Congress to meet the railroad situation, W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fe Railroad, speaking today before the National Industrial Council, declared any tampering with the act would only delay the recovery of the roads and the return of the day when they will be able to furnish a maximum of service.

President Storey took issue with President Harding's proposal to abolish the Labor Board and place its work with the Interstate Commerce Commission, declaring the commission to be overloaded now. The outcome of the shopmen's strike and other cases have greatly strengthened the Labor Board, he said, and predicted that its opinions hereafter will have greater weight.

"Throw your weight and influence against radical measures that are cropping up on every side, and I promise you that we will work our way out. The business of the country is moving in tremendous volume; we are coming nearer and nearer to handling it satisfactorily, and if the volume keeps up we hope to come out financially on the right side of the ledger for the year," said Mr. Storey.

SLAYS WIFE'S SUITOR

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BOISE (Idaho) May 21.—Fay Rogers, 30 years of age, was shot fatally in the street here last night, and Sam P. Shaver, 67, is under arrest as his assailant. Shaver, according to police, accused Rogers of having stolen his wife's affections. The woman also is in jail. The Shavers are said to be former residents of Montana and have ten children.

JUDGE DAY OFF CLAIMS BOARD

Resignation Accepted and Successor Named

Edwin B. Parker of Texas is Appointed

Little Delay Expected in Commission's Work

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Partial reorganization of the Mixed Claims Commission, constituted to adjudicate war claims totaling $1,479,000,000 of the United States government and American citizens against Germany was caused today by the retirement of former Justice Day of the Supreme Court, as umpire of the commission.

Judge Edwin B. Parker of Texas, American member of the commission, was appointed immediately by President Harding to succeed Mr. Day as umpire, leaving the post of American commissioner temporarily vacant.

The resignation of Mr. Day, who told the President he wished to be relieved of his duties because he believed a younger and stronger man should serve as umpire, came as the commission was beginning to consider the 12,416 claims filed. The commissioners representing the United States and Germany respectively, Judge Parker and Dr. Wilhelm Kiesselbach, already had begun hearings on the Lusitania claims.

PRESENTED AGAIN

These had been presented last week by Robert C. Morris, American agent, and Marshall Morgan, counsel for the commission in charge of the Lusitania claims.

Their re-argument after the appointment of the new American commissioner probably will be necessary as the duties of Judge Parker as umpire will require him to function only in settling disputes between the American and German commissioners.

Mr. Day's retirement from the commission was a surprise. His selection as umpire had met with widespread approval because of his past experience in Mixed Claims Commission work, and his reputation in long public service as former Secretary of State and on the Supreme Court bench. Germany asked the United States to appoint the commission's umpire and expressly approved the selection of Justice Day.

It was announced at the State Department today in connection with the appointment of Judge Parker as umpire, that the government was glad to approve his selection.

LITTLE DELAY TO RESULT

Little delay in disposal of the American claims, officials said, will result from the commission's personnel change. President Harding is expected to appoint a new American commissioner promptly and in the meantime the American agent, Mr. Morris and his staff will proceed with preparation of test cases for presentation to the commission. There has been no intimation so far of the probable choice of the President for the commission vacancy, but the executive and Secretary Hughes were said to regard the position as one of prime importance, containing great responsibilities to the government and to the thousands of individuals who are in the long list of claimants.

Leviathan to be Bone Dry, Says Lasker

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHRINGTON, May 21.—The Leviathan will be as dry as unceasing vigilance can make it, officials of the Shipping Board declared today in denying published reports that four bars already had been installed on the great liner, which soon will be placed again in the trans-Atlantic service.

"I'm no dry myself but the President has ordered 'no liquor' for government ships and his instructions go," Chairman Lasker declared.

RAILROADS PROFIT ON POULTRY AS FREIGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Poultry shipped as freight brought railroads a larger revenue per net ton than any other commodity during 1922, while citrus fruits, potatoes, butter, eggs, cheese and automobiles are other products from which proportionately large returns were secured, according to statistics compiled for the first time and issued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Apparently the cheapest transportation afforded works out from the rates applied to logs, posts, poles and cord wood, amounting to 96 cents a ton.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS AND SISTERS GATHER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA CRUZ, May 21.—The fifty-third annual session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and the thirty-second annual convention of the Grand Temple Pythian Sisters, opened here today.

A reception was conducted tonight at the Casino, with an address of welcome from Mayor C. C. Kratzenstein and responses by Grand Chancellor Jesse W. Carter of Redding, and Grand Chief Mrs. J. L. Meyers of Chico.

URGE SAFETY IN BUILDINGS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—A resolution urging that fifty local safety councils in as many cities throughout the country take aggressive measures to insure the safety of all public buildings was adopted today by the executive committee of the National Safety Council. The action was prompted by the recent disastrous schoolhouse fire at Cleveland, S. C.

SHIPPING and Los Angeles Harbor NEWS

EXTENSION OF SERVICE IS PLANNED

Harbor - South American Shipping Board Run to Get New Ship

Extension of the fast freight and passenger service maintained by the United States Shipping Board from Los Angeles Harbor to Porto Rico and the east coast of South America under the management of Swayne & Hoyt, Inc., was announced at the harbor yesterday by E. E. Remsberg, local manager of operations for the Shipping Board.

A remarkable growth in trade between Pacific Coast ports and the east coast of South America as a result of the establishment of the new service has made necessary the immediate addition of the steamers West Notus and West Jappa, it was announced. Already operating on the South American run are the giant "502" liners, President Hayes and President Harrison and the former North German Lloyd liner Susquehanna.

Plans also are being formulated, according to Capt. James Gade, port captain for Swayne & Hoyt, for the addition of another passenger liner of the "502" type to the service. The President Harrison, due here June 2, next, from Buenos Aires in the completion of her first voyage, will undergo extensive reconditioning at San Francisco before again entering the service, sailing from Los Angeles for the South about August 5, next.

Increased trade in the several offshore lines operated for the Shipping Board by Swayne & Hoyt also has made necessary the extensions of local terminal facilities. Capt. Gade returned to San Francisco last night after a fortnight here in organizing a separate stevedoring service for handling the concern's ships, to be maintained under the management of E. G. Richardson, port superintendent.

Swayne & Hoyt will this morning open port offices at berth 90, the new passenger and freight terminal on the main channel which has been assigned the firm for the use of its fleet operated in the Pacific-Argentine-Brazil, Pacific-Caribbean-Gulf, Pacific-Australia and Furness-Prince lines.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The British tanker Wimbourn, owned by the Anglo-American oil Company, sailed today for London with a full cargo of 60,000 barrels of oil. The recent visit of the tanker here was her first in several years, the vessel having been used in the oil-carrying trade from the Atlantic side. The oil was taken aboard at Richmond and is the first shipment of this kind of oil to leave San Francisco this year for London.

The steamer Watmos, purchased recently by the Los Angeles Steamship Company and which has been reconditioned at the Hanlon yards, is now ready for service. She is expected to sail from here next Thursday afternoon. The vessel in the future will arrive from the south every Wednesday and sail Thursday.

The present westbound rates of the Luckenbach Steamship Company have been extended to July 31, according to an announcement made from the local offices of the company today. It was said the extension had been ordered from the New York office without explanation, although it was believed to have been made for the purpose of awaiting the outcome of the rate conferences in the East.

For the first time in history, grapes, pears and figs were shipped into this port from Chile, when the W. R. Grace & Co. steamer Colusa arrived here from South American ports. The Colusa brought in 211 boxes of grapes, 1160 boxes of pears and 100 boxes of figs.

The Pacific Mail liner President Wilson was taken to Hunters Point dry dock today, where she will have both tail shafts drawn and her rudder overhauled. She will be in the dry dock about four days.

The New Electra Line steamer Cuba, after missing one trip to Portland on account of needed repairs, was removed from the Bethlehem ways this afternoon and will sail for the north tomorrow.

SEATTLE, May 21.—The passenger liner President Grant will arrive here Monday from the Orient, a day ahead of her regular schedule, according to information received today at the local office of the Admiral-Oriental Line. The vessel is bringing 257 passengers, a large shipment of silk and 2000 tons of general merchandise, besides 106 bags of mail.

Twenty-eight deep-sea carriers are scheduled to arrive in Seattle this week, according to shipping reports.

In the fleet will be the Swedish steamship Roxen, from ports in Australia; the American steamship Enrique, from the east coast; the British steamship Dundrum Miller, from the United Kingdom; the Danish steamship Panama, from ports in Europe; the Norwegian steamship Regulus, from the west coast of South America; the Norwegian steamship Sinaloa, from Central American ports; the American steamship Oduna, from Southwestern Alaska; the American steamship Neptune, from the east coast, and the American steamship Ruth Alexander, from California.

The steamship Point Judith, under charter to a local packing company, was in port here today to complete loading canned supplies preparatory to departing for Bering Sea points in the next few days.

After having been delayed several days at Los Angeles by the marine workers' strike, the motorship Missourian will reach Seattle Wednesday, according to advices received by W. C. Dawson & Co., local agents.

The steamship Kurehs Maru, one of the big fleet operated by the Tatsumura Kisen Kaisha, is due here tomorrow afternoon to load lumber shipments. She will be followed here May 28 by the steamship Oridono Maru.

TACOMA, May 21.—The Roxen (Norwegian,) which arrived this morning will probably go out tomorrow evening some time, after loading lumber and box shooks here.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet liner Loch Katrine arrived this evening, shifting here from Seattle. She is taking doors, broom handles, canned goods and miscellaneous cargo for London, Liverpool, Antwerp, Rotterdam and other European ports. She expects to sail tomorrow evening.

The Griffin and the Amur both got in late last night at the smelter to discharge ore. The Griffin comes from British Columbia.

The big Admiral Line oriental liner President Jefferson, which loaded lumber and wheat here, sailed for Seattle this morning.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) May 21.—The Canadian-Australasian Royal Mail Line steamship Niagara left Honolulu on Saturday for Vancouver and will dock here Saturday afternoon.

The Empress of Australia, with more than 780 passengers on board, is due at quarantine at 4 p.m. Tuesday and is expected to arrive in Vancouver early on Wednesday morning. She has the largest passenger list of any liner to cross the Pacific during the past year, whether to San Francisco, Portland, Seattle or any other Pacific port.

PORTLAND (Or.) May 21.—The British steamer York City, the first of its flag ever chartered for Coos Bay loading as far as Merchants' Exchange records here show, has been engaged by the Pacific Export Lumber Company of Portland to load there late next month. More than half of the vessel's cargo of about 2,000,000 feet will be loaded at the Oregon coast, while the balance will be taken on Puget Sound. Japan is the destination of the cargo.

Due to the great demand for tonnage for trans-Pacific movement, the Yamashita Kisen Kaisha will discontinue its service to South American west coast ports from the Columbia River and Puget Sound, according to announcement today of J. J. Gorman, general manager of the Yamashita Company, agent for the operating concern.

Gorman points out that between September and March 1, vessels operated by his principals carried 85,000,000 feet of lumber and 30,000 tons of wheat from Puget Sound and the Columbia River. Imports brought by these steamers totaled 50,000 tons.

There is no sign of a slow-up in the lumber export trade out of the North Pacific, a total of around 160,000,000 feet of lumber being booked for movement between now and September 1.

The West Jena left here this afternoon for the Orient with a capacity cargo of lumber and miscellaneous freight.

ASTORIA (Or.) May 21.—Carrying 800,000 feet of lumber from Warrenton, the steam schooner Nehalem sailed last evening for Los Angeles.

The steam schooner Willamette arrived at 1 o'clock this morning from San Francisco with freight and went to Portland. She will load lumber at St. Helens.

Tire Still Missing

A Scranton policeman, disguised as a humble citizen, told a fortune-teller about a tire he didn't lose, and when she said a tall man with gray hair had stolen it, he arrested her. That's what a fortune-teller gets for trying to give a customer his money's worth.—[Capper's Weekly.

PORT NOTES

The steamers of the new Munson-McCormick Steamship Line, which has just started operation in the intercoastal trade, will discharge the greatest share of their cargoes at the port of Los Angeles, according to W. W. Lense, who has been appointed manager of operations at the local port for the Munson-McCormick and for the McCormick Steamship Line.

On her first trip into this port, the steamer Sidney M. Hauptman, formerly the Apus, which recently was purchased from the Shipping Board, will bring to ports more than 4000 tons of general merchandise from the East Coast. The Sidney M. Hauptman is the second vessel of the new service to enter Los Angeles Harbor, the first being the Magarlee, which sailed last week. The Sidney M. Hauptman is expected to arrive on the 27th inst.

Before the combination with the McCormick Intercoastal Steamship Line, the Munson Line operated a fleet of eight steamers into this port. The McCormick Line added two new steamers to the service, which they purchased from the Shipping Board. The two additional steamers are the Sidney M. Hauptman and the Charles R. McCormick. The Charles R. McCormick was formerly the Apus, operated in the oriental service of Struthers and Barry.

Owing to the great amount of business at the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company's space, Mr. Lense stated yesterday, the McCormick Line's coastwise freighters are to be docked at the Munson-McCormick berth, Shed 1, Pier 41. The first of the coastwise steamers to dock at the pier was the Wallingford, which arrived yesterday with a full general cargo from northern ports. The steamer Ridge, of the coastwise service, will dock at the Munson-McCormick pier today.

The Pacific Mail steamer Newport arrived here yesterday morning, loaded passengers and freight and sailed for Cristobal via Mazlan and Central American ports. Edgar Baron is again sailing as purser on the Newport after about two month's shore leave.

Three large freighters arrived here yesterday from the East Coast and Europe with a total of about 15,000 tons of freight for local discharge. The Virginia Dollar brought freight from Hamburg for the Robert Dollar Company, the Minnesotan and the Ohioan docked at the American-Hawaiian pier to unload east coast freight.

A flareback in the engine-room of the freighter Munria of the Munson-McCormick Intercoastal Line, which is due to arrive here about June 7 with about 5000 tons of freight, injured several members of the crew at New York, according to a dispatch received here yesterday. The Munria was preparing to sail for Los Angeles Harbor when the accident occurred.

The Wire Tappers

by Arthur Stringer

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS.

Jim Durkin earns his living as a telegrapher until the lure of easy money in wire tapping leads him from the straight and narrow to a cell in jail. MacNutt, a crooked race track manipulator, needs Durkin's brains and experience in his business and secures his freedom. At MacNutt's headquarters Durkin meets Frances Candler, a clever young Englishwoman, with whom he is to work. In the days that follow a mutual desire for honest living proves a bond between the couple and with the coming of love they plan a new life. Shortly after MacNutt's place is raided by the police and Durkin turns his attention to the activities of the cotton market when he discovers and taps the private wire which carries to Curry of Wall street his advance cotton information from the South. In possession of information which will lead him to fortune Durkin finds that he lacks the necessary working capital and resorts again to his wire-tapping skill. Chance favors him when he learns that a member of the wealthy Van Schaick family is in receipt of $10,000 at the Van Schaick home. Assuring Frances that their use of the money will be in the nature of a loan, he sends her that night to get it. In the guise of the family nurse Frances gains admission to the house but is trapped in the act of searching for the money. A call to the police is intercepted by Durkin and he hurries to the scene.

"This thing was half expected, ma'am, at Headquarters," said Durkin hurriedly, as he fitted the key. "It's a woman, isn't it?"

The girl with the resolute brow and the tumbled hair could not say.

"But I think I understand," she went on hurriedly. "I had quite a large sum of money, several thousand dollars, in my room here!"

Durkin, who had stooped to unlock the door, turned on her quickly.

"And it's still in this room?" he demanded.

"No; it worried me too much. I was going to keep it, but I took it down to the bank, this afternoon."

Then the girl said "Sir!" wonderingly; for Durkin had emitted a quick mutter of anger. They were deeply defeated. By this time the bedroom door was open.

"Ah, I thought it would be a woman," he went on coolly, as he glanced at Frank's staring and wide eyes. "And, if I mistake not, Miss Van Schaick, this is Number 17358, at the Central office."

Frances knew his chortle was one of hysteria, but still she looked and wondered. Once more Durkin flashed his badge as he took her firmly by one shaking wrist.

"Come with me," he said, with quiet authority, and step by step he led her out in the hallway.

"Not a word!" he mumbled, under his breath, as he saw her parted lips essay to speak.

"It's really too bad!" broke in the girl in the dressing-gown, half-relentingly, with an effort to see the prisoner's now discreetly downcast face.

"You won't say so later," retorted Durkin, toying to the full with the ironic situation. "An old offender!" Even the bibulous butler, in the doorway, shook his head knowingly at this, thereby intimating, as he later explained, with certain reservations, to the second maid, that he all along knew as much.

Durkin pushed the gaping servants authoritatively aside.

"Have these people watch the back of the house—every window and door, till the Inspector and his men come up. I'll rap for the patrol from the front."

Durkin waited for neither reply nor questions, but hurried his charge down the stairway, across the wide hall, and out through the heavy front doors.

The audacity, the keen irony, the absurdity of it all, seemed to make him light headed, for he broke into a raucous laugh as he stood with her in the cool and free night air.

But once down on the sidewalk he caught her shaking hand in his, and ran with her, ran desperately and madly, until the rattle and clatter of a bell broke on his ear. It was a patrol-wagon rumbling round from the avenue on the east. He would have turned back, but at the curb in front of the Van Schaick mansion already a patrolman stood, rapping for assistance.

In his dilemma Durkin dropped breathlessly down an area stairs, feeling the limp weight of the woman on his body as he fell. To Frances herself it seemed like the effortless fall in a nightmare; she could remember neither how nor when it ended, only she had the sensation of being pulled sharply across cold flagstones. Durkin had dragged her in under the shadow of the heavy brownstone steps, behind a galvanized iron garbage can, hoping against hope that he had not been noticed, and silently praying that if indeed the end was to come it might not come in a setting so sordid and mean and small.

A street cat, lean and gaunt and hungry-looking, slunk like a shadow down the area-steps. The eyes of the two fugitives watched it intently. As it slunk and crept from shadow to shadow it suddenly became, to the worn and depressed Durkin, a symbol of his own career, a homeless and migratory Hunger, outlawed, pursued, unresting, a ravenous and unappeased purloiner of a great city scraps and tatters.

The soft pressure of Frank's arm on his own drove the passing thought from his mind. And they sat together on the stone slabs, silently, hand in hand, till the patrol-wagon rattled past once more, and the street noises died down, and hastily opened windows were closed, and footsteps no longer passed along the street above them.

Then they ventured cautiously out, and, waiting their chance, sauntered decorously toward the corner. There they boarded a passing car, bound southward and crowded to the doors with the members of a German musical club, who sang loudly and boisterously as they went.

It seemed the most celestial of music to Durkin, as he hung on a strap in their midst, with Frank's warm body hemmed in close to him, and the precious weight of it clinging and swaying there from his arm.

Suddenly he looked down at her. "Where are you going tonight?" he asked.

Their eyes met. The tide of abandonment that had threatened to engulf him slowly subsided, as he read the quiet pain in her gaze.

"I am going back to the Italsion," she said, with resolute simplicity.

"But, good heaven, think of the risk!" he still half-heartedly pleaded. "It's dangerous, now!"

"My beloved own," she said, with her habitual slow little head shake, and with a quietness of tone that carried a tacit reproof with it, "life has far worse dangers than the Ralston!"

She had felt unconditionally, completely drawn toward him a moment before, while still warm with her unuttered gratitude. As she thought of the indignity and the danger from which he had carried her she had almost burned with the passion for some fit compensation, without any consideration of self. Now, in her weariness of body and nerve, he had unconsciously unmasked her own potential weakness to herself, and she felt repelled from him, besieged and menaced by him, the kindest and yet the most cruel of all her enemies.

Chapter XX

As she slowly awakened in response to the call that had been left at the hotel office, Frances wondered, with the irrelevancy of the mental machinery's first slow movements, if Durkin, at that precise moment, was still sleeping in his own bed and room in his own distant part of the city. For his awakening, she felt, would be sure to be gray and disheartening one. It would be then, and then only, that the true meaning of their defeat would come home to him. She wondered, too, if he was looking at her, waiting for her to help him face the old-time, dreaded monotony of inactive and purposeless life.

"Oh, poor Jim!" she murmured again, under her breath.

She hoped, as she waked more fully to her world of realities, that he at least was still sleeping, that he at any rate was securing his essential rest of nerve and body—for some heavy dregs of her own utter weariness of the previous night still weighed down her spirits and ached in her limbs.

She had always boasted that she could sleep like a child. "I make a rampart of my two pillows, and no worries ever get over it!" Yet she now felt, as she waited for a lingering last minute or two in her warm bed, that, if fortune allowed it, she could lie there forever, and still be unsatisfied, and cry for one hour more.

But she had already made her rigorous plans for the day, and time, she knew, was precious. After her bath she at once ordered up an ample breakfast of fruit and eggs and coffee and devilled mutton chops—remembering, as she religiously devoured her meal, that Durkin had always declared she was carnivorous, protesting that he could tell it by those solid, white, English teeth of hers.

Then she dressed herself simply, in a white shirtwaist and a black broadcloth skirt, with a black-feathered turban that draped with a heavy traveling veil. This simple toilet, however, she made with infinite care, pausing only long enough to tell herself that today, as never before, appearances were to count with her. Yet beyond this she brushed every thought away from her. She kept determinedly preoccupied, moving feverishly about the room, allowing space for no meditative interludes, permitting herself never to think of the day and what it was to hold for her.

Then she hurried from her room, and down into the street, and into a taxi, and through the clear, cool, wintry sunlight drove straight to the Guilford, an apartment hotel, where Sunset Bryan, the race-track plunger, made his home when in New York.

Oregon Sheriff Shot in Bandit Battle Is Dead

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ALBANY (Or.) May 21.—Will J. Dunlap, Linn county Sheriff, died at a hospital here this afternoon of a bullet wound received yesterday in a running fight through the city's streets with two automobile thieves. A soft-nosed bullet from the pistol of George Parker, one of the outlaws, mushroomed through the Sheriff's body, causing his death.

A charge of murder in the first degree was filed immediately after the Sheriff's death against Parker by Dist.-Atty. L. G. Lewelling. Threats of lynching heard on the streets caused the authorities to remove Parker and his companion, Art Beckley, from the hospital where they had been confined for treatment of their wounds, to the County Jail.

An appeal was sent to Gov. Pierce at Salem to send officers from the State penitentiary to remove the two prisoners to Salem. Dist.-Atty. Lewelling said that he believed the men to be highwaymen, heading north from a series of crimes in California.

URGE FORGER SUSPECT BE HELD FOR BAY CITY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU, May 21.—Sheriff Rose today received a cablegram from Chief of Police O'Brien of San Francisco, asking him to hold J. D. Austin, who is wanted there on a felony warrant growing out of asserted bogus check transactions. Rose cabled a reply stating that Austin is held here under four indictments charging forgery but at present is at liberty on bail.

The City Attorney here has requested that service of the San Francisco warrant be decided in order to permit him to press charges which are pending against Austin in Honolulu.

The civil service commission now is hearing charges brought against Arthur McDuffie, chief of detectives in Honolulu for fourteen years, by Austin. The latter complained that McDuffie accepted a diamond worth $2500 and a bar pin in return for sending an asserted facial description of Austin to Los Angeles in reply to a request from a private detective agency there. It is said the hearing will occupy a week.

SAMUEL REA CALLED BEFORE RAIL BOARD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, May 21.—A subpoena summoning Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, before the United States Railway Labor Board, was ordered today by the board to be issued on motion of J. H. Sylvester, vice-grand president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees.

The clerks' union claims the railroad company has violated the Transportation Act in connection with the election of employee representation and has refused to consult or negotiate with the union.

Miss Anglin to Quit if Actors Organize Union

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, May 21.—Margaret Anglin, famous tragedienne, never will act on a public stage again "here or elsewhere" if an actor's union is formed, she said, in an interview today. Miss Anglin is here to present "The Hippolytus of Euripides" in the Greek Theater at the University of California on May 29.

"I am violently opposed to a closed shop for the professional stage," Miss Anglin said. "Artists are not bricklayers. They cannot be controlled by a union or by union rules. Neither can their emotions be controlled."

OIL GRAFT SUSPECTS PLEA FOR IMMUNITY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) May 21. Pleas of Charles Sherwin and H. H. Schwartz, officials of the General Lee Oil Company, that they receive immunity from prosecution in the pending mail fraud cases in Federal Court here, were overruled by Judge Bledsoe this morning. The case is scheduled for trial next Monday.

The defendants contended for immunity on the ground that they had furnished evidence to the Federal Trade Commission and this testimony made them immune from further prosecution.

A number of defendants in the Dr. Frederick A. Cook and Revere cases entered pleas of not guilty and the cases were set for hearing. The Cook case was set for September 3 and the Revere case for October 1.

SAN DIEGO FERRYBOAT RAMS DOCK

Morena Crashes Into Slip and Wrecks Part of It When Signals Fail

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
SAN DIEGO, May 21.—The big Ferry Morena of the Coronado and San Diego Ferry Company, crashed into its slip with full speed this morning when the signal system from the bridge to the engine room failed to function. The crash wrecked the superstructure of the landing dock to such an extent that the transbay transportation system will be out of commission for several days.

Approaching the San Diego slip on the first trip of the day the engines failed to respond to reverse control with the result that the ferry was not checked for an easy glide to mooring as usual, but stopped only by impact against the inner dolphins of the ship and the vehicle bridge. The west side inner dolphin was broken off, the east side inner dolphin shoved out of plumb and the vehicle-loading bridge let down by the spreading of the dolphins was crushed.

There were comparatively few passengers or automobiles on the ferry at the time and no one was injured. One automobile which evidently had been standing without the brakes set, started rolling, but was stopped before in danger of running overboard.

Transbay passenger traffic will be handled by a boat company pending repairs to the slip. The Morena was only slightly damaged.

Water Supply of Long Beach to be Doubled

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, May 21.—The capacity of the city's water distribution is to be doubled within four months, City Manager Windham announced today.

Orders for $450,000 worth of pipe and mains were placed by the City Manager today. At the same time he announced that work on a new reservoir will start just as soon as plans for it are completed. This will increase the amount of water available in Long Beach daily from approximately $15,000,000 gallons to 30,000,000 gallons.

The first new pipe is to be laid late in July, he said, and this will increase the water supply by 5,000,000 gallons a day in about thirty days. It was explained by Mr. Windham that Long Beach does not lack water, but that the pipes and mains are not large enough. The erection of skyscrapers here during the past year, he said, has made the pressure very low, and in many cases those who have offices on the upper floors of the tall buildings are unable to obtain water.

The program outlined today will effectively meet this situation, he declared.

POSTAL SERVICE AT ANAHEIM IMPROVED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
ANAHEIM, May 21.—Anaheim postal service, which has been seriously crippled during the last few months due to lack of funds, was restored to normal today after Postmaster J. F. Ahlborn had received a telegram from the postal department authorizing additional auxiliary carriers and providing funds for the extension of carrier service into new territory. Normal service provides for three deliveries of mail in the business section and two in the residence section each day. This service has been cut almost in half by the department's retrenchment policy. The provision for additional funds extends only to July 1, at which time a new survey of the city is to be completed and permanent appropriations made to provide for normal service.

BAPTISTS CHOOSE CHURCH OFFICERS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]
HUNTINGTON PARK, May 21. C. J. Slonaker, E. M. Howard, R. W. Bidwell, J. R. Tweedy and J. R. Reed have been selected as trustees of the First Baptist Church. While E. Steffenson has been chosen as financial secretary, A. E. Bassett clerk, Miss Alice Garman treasurer, Mrs. Milton Fish young peoples adviser and Earl Doty superintendent of the Baptist Young People's Union.

The finances of the church are shown to be in fine shape, the amount raised for expenses during the year being $7595, while $532 was raised for the Sunday-school. For benevolences, the sum of $2404 was raised. Several months ago the sum of $27,000 was pledged for the new church, the amounts to be paid in three years. Already $6300 of the amount has been paid into the building fund.

BURGLARS ROB TWO HOMES AT HANFORD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
HANFORD, May 21. — Burglars robbed two residences here Saturday night. The home of the Rev. Mr. Fields, pastor of the Pentecostal Church, in the suburbs, was entered by unlocking a door. Considerable wearing apparel and jewelry was stolen. Among the clothes taken were trousers and shirt the pastor had taken off on retiring. The family did not hear the burglars. The farm residence of Dick Birtick, a few miles south of Hanford, also was entered and a red-fox fur, dress, waist and man's silk shirt were taken. A stolen automobile, parked in the business district, makes complete Saturday night's record of thievery.

SOAP FIRM PICKS PASADENA

Larkin Company to Distribute Products From Crown City; New Building Planned

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
PASADENA, May 21.—Pasadena was picked as the distributing point for the Pacific Coast for Larkin Company, Inc., soap and perfume manufacturers who do a $3,000,000 business annually, President Larkin announced before his return East today after an intensive survey of prospective sites in Southern California. A. Temple, who recently arrived here from Buffalo, N. Y., home office of Larkin Company, will be manager of the Pasadena distributing center.

Of the $3,000,000 business done annually by Larkin Company, the majority of which is by mail, one-third is expected to pass through the Pasadena postoffice, Mr. Temple said.

TO ERECT BUILDING

Construction of the building to house the distributing center will start within a few weeks at 25 South Pasadena avenue, the site recently purchased by the company. Plans are being drawn up for the building, which it is announced will be one of the most modern of its kind in the west.

The plant of Larkin Company at Buffalo is said to be one of the largest soap and perfume manufacturing works in the world. All goods from the factory to Pasadena will be shipped from Buffalo by water on Lake Ontario, through the St. Lawrence Waterway, thence through the Panama Canal to Los Angeles Harbor. The Union Pacific Railroad will handle shipments from Los Angeles Harbor to Pasadena, it was stated.

PLANT TO BE LARGE

The branch at Pasadena will eventually be one of the largest plants of any kind in this city, Mr. Temple said. Pasadena was selected, it was stated by Mr. Temple, after due consideration of the advantages of cities of the Pacific Coast. Branches at Seattle and Oakland may be established later, Mr. Temple said.

ANOTHER FREAK AT BURBANK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]
BURBANK, May 21.—Proof that Burbank leads the world, even in the matter of hold-up novelties, was given today at Burbank police headquarters when Harold Lockwood of South Olive street told of the loss of $75 and a Ford coupe.

Lockwood was driving along pioneer avenue at the edge of town late last night when a man in a motorcycle officer's uniform stopped him. He declared he was looking for rum-runners and demanded the right to examine Lockwood's car and the driver's license.

The young man got out of the automobile, extracted his wallet and the "officer" took the purse, according to the report, got in the coupe and rode away.

Officer Olchsvary reported at headquarters that he found the car today in Hollywood standing all by itself, with no driver and no wallet.

Dry Convention in Ventura Will Draw Hundreds

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
VENTURA, May 21.—Four hundred delegates are expected to arrive here Tuesday morning to attend the forty-first annual convention of the W.C.T.U. of Southern California. This will be held at the bathhouse auditorium. The convention will be called to order by Mrs. Eva Craven Wheeler, the State president, and she will give her annual address at 3 p.m. The day will be filled with reports, committee meetings and routine work of various kinds.

A school of methods will be conducted throughout the week in connection with the convention. In the evening a playlet "How it is Done" will be put on by the pupils of the high school under the direction of Mrs. Carrie Eagan. Reports will be given by the presidents of the following counties: Imperial, Inyo, Kern, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Diego, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo and San Bernardino.

POLICE HOLD MAN ON BAD-CHECK CHARGE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, May 21.—A dapper youth who said he was a Hollywood motion-picture actor was arrested here today when, it is asserted, he tried to pass a bogus check at the local branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank. He gave his name as Walter H. Schleeter, 32 years of age. The police declare he is known also as J. R. King, J. R. Kelly and C. J. Darling, and that charges are pending against him in San Diego, San Francisco and Oakland.

Hospital Fund Is Increased by Large Donation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
RIVERSIDE, May 21.—Frank A. Miller has subscribed an additional $10,000 to the Riverside Community Hospital, the subscription being contingent upon the raising of the entire $250,000 fund now being sought. Word of Mr. Miller's offer came from Minneapolis, where Mr. and Mrs. Miller now are visiting.

Mr. Miller already had given the Community Hospital $25,000. Only last week it became known that Mr. Miller had given lots on which the Y.W.C.A. and the American Legion are to build new homes, and to the young women's organization he added a $5000 cash gift for the association building.

KERN COUNTY RAIDED

Deputy Sheriffs Seize Liquor and Stills; Arrest Two Men

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
BAKERSFIELD, May 21.—Kern county from Mountain Beak to West Side oil wells was combed yesterday by a squad of deputy sheriffs under Undersheriff Charles Smith for liquor-law violators. Hundreds of gallons of illicit liquor and mash, a large amount of distilling equipment and two prisoners were seized.

Ed Palmer and Jack Wallace are now in jail, charged with violating the law in the city of Maricopa. Both men were taken in custody at their place of business, which was raided.

A concealed ravine near Fellows yielded a still, while the Woody Hills gave up several more, with liquor and mash.

Palmer and Wallace will be taken before Justice Haggerty in Maricopa this week. They are now attempting to furnish bail.

Santa Barbara Ablaze With Organization Colors

Seven Hundred Delegates Are in Attendance

Reports Show Parlors to be Making Progress

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
SANTA BARBARA, May 21.—Santa Barbara turned yellow in a night, the color of gold is everywhere even so strong that today with the Native Sons abroad, even the sun has seemed to have a richer hue. The yellow of the city, however, is that pinned to the coat lapels of the Grand Parlor delegates, the official badge of the Native Sons of the Golden West.

When President Paul G. Sweetser of the Santa Barbara Parlor and Mayor James E. Sloan arose on the platform tonight and gave official welcome to the delegates several hundred delegates packed the recreation center where the addresses were made and hundreds of others crowded the sidewalks outside, unable to secure entrance to the hall, which was all too small to hold a convention gathering.

SACRAMENTO IN 1924

With the two sessions today, at which Sacramento was chosen for the 1924 Grand Parlor, San Francisco for the official Admission Day celebration, September 9, reading of reports by the various grand officers and an eulogistic session this afternoon, the big gathering was declared in full swing tonight. There were formal welcoming addresses and responses which were made by Harry G. Williams, Grand President; Fletcher A. Cutler, Grand Third Vice-President; Edward A. Meserve, Grand Trustee, and Daniel A. Ryan and H. A. McNoble, Past Grand Presidents.

The annual report of Grand Director McEnerney showed a net increase of membership of 1276, total new members for the year just closed of 3376, making a record-breaking year of the order's history. As deaths and other causes brought a larger decrease than ever, a total of 2100, the net increase was below the average. Today the total of memberships is 27,234. Tomorrow will be one of the biggest days of the grand parlor, when nominations for grand officers will be in order during the morning session.

TWO CONTESTS ON

The only contests are for the office of Grand Trustee and of Grand Third Vice-President. In the latter race, James A. Wilson, Arthur M. Dean and H. E. Welch are contestants. These three are Grand Trustees and the election of one to the office of Grand Third Vice-President will create a vacancy which has developed many aspirants, among whom is Harry C. Sweetser of the Santa Barbara Chapter, who is today acknowledged as the favorite, and with a good chance of landing on the top of the heap in the hot scrimmage which is shaping up.

At noon tomorrow the Native Sons will gather at Tucker's Grove, six miles west of the city, for a barbecue arranged by civic organizations, and tomorrow night the day's sessions will be concluded with a grand ball at Recreation Center.

WOMAN IS PARTNER IN THEFT RAID

Venice Police Hunting for Burglars Who Stole $6600 in Jewelry

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
VENICE, May 21.—Police were on the lookout today for a woman burglar with her male companion who last night broke into two homes on Washington Boulevard and took $6600 in jewelry.

The homes entered and robbed were those of Dr. Walter F. Sharples at 1345 Washington Boulevard and the adjoining home of John Martin. The pair gained entrance in each case through a rear door while the families were absent. They ransacked the houses, taking jewelry valued at $6000 from the Sharples home and $600 in valuable from the Martin residence.

The footprints outside the windows of both houses reveal that there were two intruders, one of whom was a woman. Miss Virginia Sharples, returning home just before midnight, met a man and woman coming together from the yard of her home.

PLAN RAISIN BODY

Permanent Organization Aim in Alta District

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
CUTLER, May 21. — There should never be necessity to repeat the recent Sun-Maid raisin contract campaign, is the belief of the Cutler Chamber of Commerce. To perfect a permanent organization in the Alta district on the Sun-Maid's behalf, a meeting has been called here for tonight by A. M. MacRae, president of the local chamber. Delegations are expected from Dinuba, Visalia, Orosi and Orange Cove. Membership of 100 per cent in the Alta district is the objective of the new organization, states MacRae, and the drive will not be dropped until that is accomplished. Constant work on behalf of the Sun-Maid association is proposed.

The Alta district, including Dinuba, Cutler, Orosi, Yettem and other small centers, is heavily planted to raisins and much feeling was aroused during the recent campaign. "Harmony and loyalty" are watchwords of the present movement.

REDLANDS KNOWS HOW

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]
REDLANDS, May 21.—A comprehensive advertising plan for the realty men of Redlands has been outlined to the Realty Board by A. E. Brock, member, and Mayor of the city, who suggested that the board co-operate in advertising in outside papers some of the bargains to be found in Redlands.

"It is certainly true that there are greater bargains in real estate and property in Redlands than any city I know of now," said Mr. Brock, "and there is no reason why the real estate men should not co-operate in presenting them. They will be snapped up as soon as they are known."

Mr. Brock suggests that the real estate men take space in the Los Angeles Times and all advertise together under one general head. The idea has been well received and L. W. Clark has been appointed a committee to have charge of this.

MARY WANDERS OFF ONCE MORE

Temple-Street Lass Being Sought in Burbank by Police Force

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]
BURBANK, May 21. — Mary, Mary, where is Mary?

That is the question Burbank police officers hope to answer today. Mrs. M. J. Gibbs of 2207 Temple street, Los Angeles, reported the loss of her daughter to them.

The only reason for inquiring for her in Burbank, it is said, is that she was out here once before in one of her journeys from home and it was natural to suppose that after having been in Burbank once she would want to come again. She has no relatives or friends here. In a short span of fourteen years of life Mary has taken several unannounced trips, it is said. This time she is accompanied by a dog with his left ear badly chewed.

POSTOFFICE RELIEF NOW SEEN AHEAD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
BAKERSFIELD, May 21. — Changes contemplated in the United States Postoffice Department within the next few months will have an effect on the handling of mail at Bakersfield postoffice, and may relieve congestion, according to Martin B. Madden, chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives. With Louis Cramton, chairman of the subcommittee of the Department of the Interior, Mr. Madden was a visitor here today, having stopped off en route to the Sequoia National Park.

The men last night were guests of Harry Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, at the Tejon ranch, south of here. The visit gave Cramton an opportunity to investigate the Tejon Indians. He has supervision over expenditures pertaining to Indian schools, reclamation projects, parks and pensions.

The officials are on a tour of the United States studying postoffice projects where conditions may be remedied. Included in these Madden said there is an important change contemplated in the Postoffice Department, to be effective in six months. It will eliminate parcel post from the first-class mail and newspapers. The plans call for parcel-post mail being handled direct from railway terminal depots for final distribution, and not being taken to the postoffice.

The visitors were met in Bakersfield by a committee composed of C. A. Barlow, Arthur S. Crites, J. A. Hughes, T. W. McManus and Alexander Wark. After a short stop here, the men left at noon for northern points.

Horticultural Agent Resigns; County Puzzled

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
EL CENTRO, May 21.—Cantaloupe growers and distributors tonight were discussing the sudden resignation of F. W. Waite as County Horticultural Commissioner on the eve of the 1923 cantaloupe harvest.

Waite handed his resignation to Chairman W. H. Brooks of the Board of Supervisors late this afternoon. He asked that it take effect June 1, as he intended accepting a position with an ice company here.

Waite has held the office ten years. Until lately he also was Deputy Sealer of Weights and Measures. The commissioner refused to discuss his resignation today, further than to say that he had held the office long enough. Friends of the commissioner, however, asserted that the resignation was the result of protests made in connection with his rigid enforcement of the State Standardization Act.

SANTA BARBARA VOTES ON BOND ISSUES TODAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
SANTA BARBARA, May 21.—Voters of Santa Barbara tomorrow pass on a three-bond proposition totaling $1,000,000, at a special election. One proposition calls for bonds in the sum of $400,000 to supply water mains to give the city greater fire protection; a second is for $250,000 to buy the Ambassador grounds as a public playground and park, and the third is for $350,000 to start the first unit of what is expected to be a $1,000,000 yacht harbor.

WINE SEIZED IN RAID

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
VENICE, May 21.—Chief of Police McCausland and officers confiscated 100 gallons of wine last night in a raid on the premises of Mrs. C. Leoni, 2012 Strong's Drive. She was released on $200 bail. The husband of the woman formerly owned a local cafe. In addition to the wine, several empty bottles were reported confiscated.

DISCOVER LOST SILVERADO LODE

Pinched-Out Vein is Found After Forty Years

Producing Silver, Lead, Gold, Zinc and Iron

Operations of Orange County Men Paying Well

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
SANTA ANA, May 21.—Word has come down from the Silverado Canyon in the mountains east of here that the mother lode lost forty years ago by the Dunlap miners has been uncovered by the Blue Light mine, owned by Orange county men.

In the '70's the Silverado Canyon was boomed by miners and prospectors and fortunes were lost in endeavoring to bring in paying mines. The boom gradually died out and the canyon became practically deserted, though from time to time efforts have been made to make the old Blue Light pay. Last October a group of Orange county men, headed by Stanley Chapman of Fullerton, took over the old company and again began operations. The rich vein of ore was discovered about half a mile from where it was lost forty years ago when the vein pinched out.

WASTED THEIR EFFORTS

The mining that has been done lately indicates that the old-time miners wasted their efforts on the false vein, with the mother lode only little more than 100 feet away. Tests show that the ore is rich in silver and lead and that it includes zinc, gold and iron. The company is working the ore for all five minerals and is developing a flotation mill to take care of a large tonnage. There are thirty men now at work in the mine and the present mill is handling about sixty tons of ore a day.

With the discovery of the vein in the lower part of the canyon, it is expected that the ore will be brought up to the mill rather than dropped from higher locations by incline as it is now being handled. Engineers have been over the ground working out plans for the future development of the mine which promises to be very rich.

PLEASED WITH OUTLOOK

In a statement given out by Stanley Chapman, he said:

"We are well pleased with the outlook. We are certain that we have a good body of ore to work on and believe that we have a very valuable property."

People acquainted with mining history say that the proving of the old "Blue Light mine" will cause widespread interest in the whole Santa Ana range and revive prospecting over that section.

State Eagles' Aeries Convene at Bakersfield

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
BAKERSFIELD, May 21.—Approximately 1000 Eagles of various aeries throughout the State met here today for the opening session of the twentieth annual convention. D. F. Conway, formerly of Bakersfield, but now of Fresno, President of Bakersfield Aerie, No. 93, presided. The invocation was read by Dr. Willis G. White. F. W. Kickbush followed with a vocal selection and then the address of welcome in behalf of the city was given by Mayor George Haberfelde.

Response was made by Charles J. Chenu, State President of the Eagles; Richard Curran sang, and then President D. F. Conway welcomed the delegates of the local lodge, the response being given by Herbert Choyinski, Grand Worthy President of Sacramento. Benediction was read by Rev. George Warmer.

At 1 o'clock the Eagles opened their first business session at the rooms of the local lodge. Leaving at 4 o'clock the local convention committee, headed by Fred Gunther, took the visitors through the west oil fields, visiting McKittrick, Kelloes, Taft and Maricopa. At the latter place a barbecue greeted the junketers and a dance followed. Tomorrow morning the State aerie will meet at 10 o'clock.

SET NEW MARK FOR CALIFORNIA ORANGES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]
REDLANDS, May 21.—Jack Steward, salesmanager for the Mutual Orange Distributors, says that a new record in the number of cars of oranges shipped from California was hung up during the past month, when in a thirty-day period, 8112 cars were shipped.

Most of these cars went out in the first two weeks in May, according to Steward, who says almost 5000 cars were shipped in less than fourteen days. Mr. Steward says that the shipments explain readily the break in the orange market, which was so good up to the time of the heavy shipments.

Redlands shipments during the week just passed dropped to eighty-one cars, bringing the total shipments for the season more than 3000 cars, or 1000 cars ahead of last year.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, May 21.—The venerable and versatile Uncle Sam, in the role of moving-picture producer, and his latest release, "Mollie of Pine Grove Vat," were chief attractions today at the Palace of Motion Picture Progress conducted in connection with the fourth annual convention of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America.

The Palace is the showground for all things of filmdom and the Federal government occupies more than any other single unit of the industry. Government films, which now number more than 250 and are released through the Department of Agriculture, strive for a happy combination of dramatic and educational features of which "Mollie of Pine Grove Vat" is a worthy example.

DEEP LAID PLOT

Here in three thrilling reels, with a love plot and dramatic intensity galore, is presented the problem of cattle ticks and their eradication. The community in the South, infested with ticks, organized to combat the pests; the dynamiting of the dipping vats by opponents of the work is followed by their arrest by the heroine; the ticks finally are wiped out, the country is released from quarantine, better times come in the live-stock industry—and Mollie and James live happily ever after.

"Thousands of workers have found," said a representative of the department, "that motion pictures possess a tremendous possibility for usefulness in spreading scientific knowledge in agriculture and kindred fields. In some sections of the country the department's films are being shown in communities which have never known the magic of the screen.

FURTHER MANY AIMS

The films are free of charge except transportation. Other aims of the government pictures are good roads, reforestation, food protection, animal health, better marketing, better farming, insect control, rural development and fire prevention. Some recent releases are "A Tale of Two Bulls," a picturization of the advantage of stock breeding, "Red Enemy," on forest fire prevention, and "Roads to Glory," showing scenic spots of the West reached by automobile routes.

Bids Asked for Hall of Justice Superstructure

The bids for the building must be in the hands of the Supervisors within five weeks. The structure, to be one of the largest buildings in the State, is expected to cost $4,500,000.

The Supervisors also appointed J. S. Crandall as Justice of the Peace at Garvanza to succeed Thomas B. Cannon.

JUDGE BLEDSOE WILL BE DELAYED IN TEXAS

Information from Fort Worth, Tex., is to the effect that United States District Judge Bledsoe, who was sent there to try a number of the pending asserted oil fraud cases, has been spending the week since his arrival hearing preliminary motions on the part of the defendants and that the first trial has been definitely set for the 25th inst.

It was the original intention of Judge Bledsoe to return to Los Angeles by the middle of June but from present indications he will not be on the bench here again before July.

LOVE NOTES ARE CITED IN GIRL'S CASE

Poison Case Suspect Says She Was Arrested in Ruse to Recover Letters

The story of an asserted frame-up to bring about her arrest so that a bundle of love letters might be taken from her apartment, was told by Gladys Sherlock, 23 years of age, in Police Judge Frederickson's court yesterday.

The girl is defendant on a charge of violating the State Poison Act. She was arrested on March 14, last, in her apartment.

Miss Sherlock told of an affair with Jimmy Van Trees, a motion-picture cameraman. She said he wrote her many passionate letters and that later when his love cooled, she said, he feared she would make trouble for him.

The girl charged on the witness stand that her arrest was part of a plot engineered by Van Trees's mother to get back the letters. She testified that she had the letters secreted elsewhere, and that Mrs. Julia Crawford Ivars, Van Trees's mother, came to her while she was in jail, bailed her out, gave her $200 and told her to leave town.

Van Trees admitted that he was the author of three love letters introduced as evidence.

The testimony is expected to be completed today. A jury composed of eleven women and one man is hearing the case.

Four Women, Man Sentenced for Shoplifting

Sentence of 180 days, 90 days, 30 days and heavy fines were handed down yesterday in police courts when five shoplifters, arrested by operatives of the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association, were arraigned.

The 180-day sentence was imposed on Louis Oden, who pleaded guilty to stealing a dress at Hamburger's. He gave 650 North Grand avenue as his address.

Mrs. Rachael Brodsky, 836 South Grand avenue, pleaded guilty to theft committed at the Fifth Street Store and was given a straight jail sentence of ninety days. The harshness in her case was caused by Mrs. Brodsky breaking her probation. She was arrested last year for shoplifting and, after pleading guilty, was given a suspended sentence of ninety days and placed on two years' probation.

Mrs. Frank Lyman Barrows, alias Mrs. E. A. Barnes, 505 California street, after pleading guilty to shoplifting from Robinson's and Bullock's, was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

The two shoplifters who got off with lighter sentences were Mrs. Catherine Morrison, 2219 Trinity street, arrested at Hamburger's and fined $50 or fifty days in jail, and Mrs. H. Moore, 4174 South Western avenue, also arrested at Hamburger's and given a suspended sentence of $100 fine or 100 days in jail and placed on probation for two years. Mrs. Morrison paid her fine and was released.

Police Judges Frederickson and Richardson sat in on the cases.

SAYS MATE TOO PERSONAL

Being told that you are homely, ungainly and entirely disproportioned constitutes sufficient ground for divorce in the belief of Alta A. Lewis, who yesterday filed suit for divorce from Ray A. Lewis. Her husband told her she was all these things, she declares, and in addition frequented poolrooms too frequently.

SCHOOL LUNCH IS IMPORTANT

What Pupil Eats Bears on Rank in Studies, and Parents Get Help

The school child's food has much to do with his rank in school. Right thinking depends on the right kind of food. The noon lunch is one of the important problems. This is thoroughly discussed by experts in a pamphlet being distributed by The Times' Washington Information Bureau. It contains various bills of fare for the basket lunch, suggestions as to the proper method of packing, and recipes for sandwiches, cookies, salads and sweets.

Write name and address clearly on the coupon, inclosing 2 cents in stamps for return postage, and send to Los Angeles Times Information Bureau, Washington, D. C. To avoid wrong delivery at Washington, use full address as given. Do not send to The Times' Los Angeles office.

CONGRESSMEN TO VISIT PARKS

Party to Inspect District Around Visalia

Porterville Boy Appointed to West Point

Couple Hurt in Auto Crash at Tulare

VISALIA, May 21.—Plans for visits to Visalia and Sequoia National parks of Congressmen en route from New York to Los Angeles, via the Panama Canal, were practically concluded at the recent meeting here of Francis Farquhar of San Francisco, representing the national park service; Col. John R. White, superintendent of of Sequoia and Gen. Grant National parks, and interested Visalians, including Col. George W. Stewart.

The visitors will arrive in Los Angeles on the morning of the 21st inst. and will be met by Farquhar, Superintendent Lewis of the Yosemite National Park and Harry Chandler, who will accompany them to the Chandler ranch near Lebec for the night. On the following morning the party will motor to Visalia and Three Rivers en route to Giant Forest. They will be guests of the park service and the Kings River Parks Company for the night.

The personnel of the party is expected to include: Representatives Madden, Cranton, Wood, Fredericks and Barbour and their wives; Superintendent Lewis of the Yosemite, Harvey M. Toy, president of the California Highway Commission; Francis Farquhar; Paul Reddington, chief forester; Harry Chandler, and George W. Stewart of Visalia.

GOING TO WEST POINT

PORTERVILLE, May 21.—Ralph Doty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Doty, popular alumnus of Porterville Union High School, has been appointed to West Point, according to notice received. Doty will report there July 2. This appointment came through Congressman Henry E. Barbour. Doty won second place in a competitive examination last October, a San Francisco student who took first place being unable to accept the appointment.

School athletics and military training took much of Doty's time during high school work. Organization of the cadets took place during his freshman year, thus he had benefit of four full years military training here. He was also active in football, captain of the baseball team in his senior year, captain of the track team in his junior year and quarterback on the football team in his senior year. He has given special attention to part-time work at the high school this year, preparatory to work at West Point. Doty is the third alumnus of Porterville Union High School to be appointed to West Point.

TREES DESTROYED

TULARE, May 21.—Assistance of the State Forestry Board in prosecuting the vandals responsible for destruction of young trees along the State highway near Tulare, has been promised by W. E. Glendenning, assistant State forester. Mr. Glendenning declared the State Forestry Board would lend every aid in apprehending the culprit and would gladly receive any evidence which would lead to discovery of the guilty party.

He expressed satisfaction over development of the several miles of other trees recently planted. C. A. Enlow is forestry inspector for this district. The trees have made a stand of 94½ per cent.

TO AID LEGION

VISALIA, May 21.—Assistance in financing American Legion clubhouses in various cities of Tulare county, to be erected as memorials for war heroes, was asked of the Tulare County Supervisors by representatives of the Tulare County Council of the American Legion at a special meeting here. It is expected that Visalia, Tulare, Porterville, Exeter and Lindsay would each have buildings if the plan is voted.

Final decision is held in abeyance until June 5, although it is understood that Supervisors Macomber, Hausch, Larce and Sturgeon thought favorably of the plan, and it is expected that it will be accepted. Total estimated cost of the buildings would probably be $50,000, and if accepted, the initial cost may be included in the next tax levy.

HURT IN CRASH

TULARE, May 21.—Mrs. Annie Rivenigh of Fresno sustained a deep scalp wound and contusions and J. H. Blew, also of Fresno, received minor injuries, when he misjudged a turn in the State highway here early in the morning and crashed into the scales of the Hodges Fuel Company on Inyo street. Both the machine and scales were badly wrecked, the car overturning and pinning Mrs. Rivennigh beneath it. Blew was thrown clear of the wreckage.

START IRRIGATION

SPRINGVILLE, May 21.—Exceedingly warm weather has hastened irrigation in this section. The Mt. Whitney ditch has been cleaned and considerable fluming built. Some ranchers are cutting hay and all report an enormous yield. The Tule River is high as a result of melting snows and fishing is not good here now. Fresh strawberries are bringing a good price on the market.

Tomato plants, sweet potato plants and others of the more sensitive vegetables are being transplanted now. The Springville district is known for its superior vegetables, many of which are shipped.

Finest English Poetry

An English critic thinks that the finest line in English poetry is from Wordsworth's "Tintern Abbey," whose dwelling is the light of setting suns. Tennyson once said that this was "almost the grandest in the English language, giving the sense of the abiding in the transient."

Thorinaite Found Only in Ceylon

The mineral thorinaite, now largely used in the manufacture of the mantles for incandescent gas lamps, is at present not known to occur elsewhere than in the island of Ceylon. Its discovery was due to the operations of the Ceylon Mineral Survey. It is expected to Europe and the United States.

A NEW day—and breakfast time. The appetizing fragrance of good coffee. A plate of delicious cream muffins to tempt the taste and help that cheery feeling to last throughout the day. Appealing? Of course. Cream muffins for breakfast are always favorites. Here's the recipe:

2 cups Globe "A 1" Flour	¾ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt	2 level tablespoons sugar
3 level teaspoons baking powder	1 egg
	2 tablespoons Adola Oil

Sift dry ingredients together. Beat egg until light, add oil and beat. Add milk and stir lightly into dry mixture. Fill oiled gem pans half full and bake in a quick oven 20 to 25 minutes. Delicious fruit muffins may be made by adding ½ cup of raisins, chopped dates or any small fruits to this batter.

The Truth About Glands

Dr. Serge Voronoff, an international authority on Organotherapy, has said: "The brain, the nerves, the muscles, as well as the liver, the kidneys and all other organs would be incapable of playing any useful part without the aid of the glands. The functioning of our organs is no more than the activity of our glands, and when the bodily functioning is disturbed, the cause in most cases should be sought, not in the condition of the organ itself, but in the condition of the gland which controls it."

Men and women who are weak, run-down, and utterly exhausted, both mentally and physically, should try to increase the activity of their vital glands. Science has prepared a gland treatment in simple compact tablet form — Glandogen—which is a highly concentrated, laboratory-tested gland compound combining the elements of important glands of healthy young animals with other efficacious ingredients. Glandogen, the original gland tonic, can be obtained at Chambers' Drug Co., 1st and Broadway; Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main, and Blaney-Chambers Drug Stores, 9th and Spring and 6th and Los Angeles.—[Advertisement.

MRS. HICKEY SO WEAK COULD HARDLY STAND

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Worcester, Mass. — "I had some trouble caused by a female weakness and got so run-down and weak from it that I could hardly stand or walk across the floor. The doctor gave me all kinds of pills, but nothing helped me. I happened to meet a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I thought I would try it. After taking it a week I began to improve, and now I feel fine and am doing all of my housework, including washing, sewing and house cleaning. I have recommended your medicine to my friends, and I am willing for you to use this letter as a testimonial, as I would like to help any one suffering the way I did from such a weakness."—Mrs. DELIA HICKEY, 4 S. Question: How does Balbriggan underwear gets it name?
D. D. L.

Answer: Balbriggan is the name of a seaport in Ireland, twenty-two miles from Dublin. Its principal manufactures are embroidered muslins, cotton, calico and hosiery. The name Balbriggan has been extended to describe varieties of cotton knit goods made elsewhere.

Q.: What gases are set free when a storage battery is charged?
O. G.

A.: Oxygen and hydrogen.

Q.: Do humming birds live on the nectar of flowers?
L. L.

A.: This substance does form an important part of their food, but they do eat insects and spiders also.

Q.: What is the correct spelling—alright or allright?
C. C.

A.: Such a word is not sanctioned. The expression should be written as two words—all right.

Q.: What per cent of India is in rice and what per cent in wheat?
L. J.

A.: For the year 1920-21, the area under rice in India was 78,022,000 acres, or about 31 per cent of the cultivated area of the country. The portion in wheat was 25,722,000, or about 9 per cent of the cultivated area.

Q.: What is the name of the Patent Office publication of Great Britain?
L. D. P.

A.: The official patent periodical of Great Britain is the Illustrated Official Journal, published at 25 Southampton Building, London, W. C. The price is 6 pence.

Q.: How can indigo be treated so that it may be used for bluing in the laundry?
F. L. A.

A.: The Bureau of Standards says indigo can be converted into the water soluble dyestuff indigo carmine which is sometimes used as a laundry bluing by treatment with concentrated sulphuric acid.

Q.: How much virgin timber is there in the United States?
R. R.

A.: The Forest Service says that there are 470,000,000 acres of forest-covered land in the United States; 138,000,000 of this is virgin timber.

Q.: Who built the great pyramids of Egypt?
C. H. B.

A.: According to Herodotus the great pyramid of Egypt was built by Cheops or Khufu, about 3723 B.C. The second pyramid was built by Suphis II, and the third by Menkare.

Q.: What is tapioca made of and where does it come from?
LEK.

A.: Tapioca is made by heating the starch obtained from the roots of the manioc. This is also known as the cassava. It is a large, woody, tropical plant grown in West Indies, South America, Florida and other Southern States.

Q.: What was meant by "the king's evil?"
A. K. P.

A.: This name was given to scrofula because of the belief that the disease could be cured by the royal touch. Through many centuries this faith was widespread through England and France.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES

Advice from Mother

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Here's a sure cure for sugar profiteering: everybody stop buying sugar for a week. Use it sparingly meantime, buying but one pound at a time. Like the famous Jill, sugar will soon "come tumbling after."

Every spring my steady wife says to me, solemn and owl-like, "Bill, it's about time for sugar to go up. It allus does along toward canning time." And I'll tell the world she always propheted right about it, too, believe me. And she's the wise old girl that puts up this sugarless week to a leaderless, saccharine-surfeited world.

"Why," she says, "the remedy is in the hands of us women. Why appeal to a harassed Governor to do for us what we can do a heap quicker for ourselves? Besides," she says, "we'll be lots healthier, happier and saucier for the experience. We'll just teach these autopusses that we're independent and nobody's supine profitees. Then you'll see prices slashed quicker'n scat."

Well, that sounds like good hard sense, so let's go to it.

Of course, that Lent week idea isn't quite original with wife, at that. You see, when shoes took such a skyward spurt, and hides cheaper than ever, she complained to the shoe salesman about it and what do you think he told her.

"Say," he confided, "it's you women that's to blame. Women with plenty of money come in frequent if not often and joyously pay $20 to $30 for fancy-looking shoes. The women who can't afford it think they must do the same. They won't buy anything but new-style fancy shoes. Then working girls have to pay big prices for worthless gilt shoes that are soon in the discard. And the dealers keep boosting the price. Seems like the higher we price 'em the more they sell."

"Now, listen to me," he says, almost in a whisper, "if only all the women in Los Angeles will stop buying shoes for only one week you'll see 'em drop sudden and hard. Also, and besides," he says, "if women will have a little more consideration for the fellow who works for money to buy shoes and be satisfied with neat, serviceable, black footwear there'll be more domestic peace and less profiteering.

Well, that settled that. Maybe that clerk has a wife of some kind and knew what he was talking about. Anyway, let's have the sugarless week.

W. F. THORNE.

Turns Woe to Profit

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have been waiting for someone—doubtless the association is waiting also—to make the obvious comment on the report of the Narcotic Education Association, recently printed, which places the responsibility for the dope inundation inferentially, but none the less squarely, upon the shoulders of the Harrison Act and similar legislation which makes a disease into a crime.

When morphine and cocaine were procurable in a lawful manner at slight expense, we had some dope addicts—a few here and there. They did no particular harm except to themselves. Now we have hundreds where we had one, and they are gunmen, murderers, burglars, thieves and hold-up men.

What has the Harrison Act done to create this situation? Just this: It has made dope peddling immensely profitable. It has made it worth while for peddlers to create addicts.

When morphine was selling for a few cents a grain it was not worth anybody's while to promote drug addiction, nor did the addicts have to turn to crime to get their supply.

There is no name too vile to be appended to the dope peddlers, no punishment too severe for them. But there is only one way to put them out of business; and more and severer criminal statutes is not that way.

Making narcotic drugs cheap again will do it. It will wipe out the whole army of peddlers as by a stroke of the pen. It will wipe out the incentive for promoting the use of such drugs, and so nip the new crop of addicts in the bud.

This argument applies clearly in the case of morphine and heroin, because there is no pleasure in their use; only momentary relief from intolerable suffering. Addicts and authorities are in unison in telling this truth. It does not apply so clearly in the case of cocaine, which is said to give a quasi-pleasant stimulus; and the restrictions might well be retained as to this drug because cutting it off can be borne by the addict.

The Harrison law has merely driven the drug trade underground, made it immensely profitable and made it worth while for fiends to spread the evil, in the case of morphine and heroin. As to these two drugs it should clearly be repealed.

G. S. K. DAWSON.

Need More Rest

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The farmers, mothers and children and those people who the daylight saving affected after giving it a fair trial seem to have been lost sight of by our overted swivel chair meddlers. We do not object to their time of arising but we do not intend to let them dictate the time that we must. Many workers are up at 4 o'clock in the morning as it is and we mothers know all too well that while we may get the little ones to bed before dark we cannot keep them from being restless because of the incessant racket outside up to midnight and often later by joy riders. If the Chamber of Commerce and the manufacturers wish to enlarge our insane asylums, hospitals and homes for feebleminded, daylight saving will gain for them just this. It is a crime to pull tired children out of bed and send them to school in this condition. Mothers of this land get far too little rest and need more than males of the species.

MRS. JOHN GRIGGS.

Plan Protest Meeting

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Here is a protest against the daylight-saving plan and a hope that the State of California will not adopt it. The question was gone over very thoroughly at the end of the war and working people, farmers, especially, were against it.

Why try to fool ourselves? If some of the society folk who can play all day if they so desire want an extra hour in the evening of daylight, what is that to others? What good is the plan to an office man, or clerical people in general? He arises earlier, comes home, but has no car to drive around in, and lives too far away for a car ride to the beach or to the parks.

Why make all this fuss about nothing in particular. Let them get up an hour earlier if some of them desire, but don't ask everybody else to do it. Look at the mix-up it causes in time on railroads, besides the extra expense of printing new time-tables, etc.

We are about to have a protest meeting in this northwest section of the city, and hope others will join in.

Favors Publicity

SANTA BARBARA, May 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Having read with much interest the leters you have been printing this month in regard to Charley, the movie elephant, and especially Mrs. Green's letter in your May 14 issue, permit me to say that this society, the Santa Barbara Humane Society of Santa Barbara county, appreciate this publicity and commend same. Mr. Stearn, in his letter in the May 14 issue, asks about the human societies.

The Santa Barbara Humane Society is doing everything in its power to discourage both trained animal acts in vaudeville, or movpicture using animals in which the animals are subjected to cruelty in any form, and is trying to eliminate same in Santa Barbara county.

We have postered our city and suburbs and intend to poster the entire county with placards calling attention to fair play for animals, and asking public opinion to back us to put an end to these unnecessary cruelties as forms of entertainment.

As an offset to the display of the picture, "Hunting Big Game in Africa," shown at our local California Theater May 16 to 18, we put on a free lecture Friday night with stereopticon views and billed same, "Hunting Wild Animals in Africa with Kindness and Camera." Dr. George Wharton James delivered the lecture in our high school auditorium and the society stood all expenses, no collection being taken. The auditorium was obtained free through the courtesy of the local Board of Education.

The weekly newspaper printed by the student body of the Santa Barbara High School, the Forge, has generously given us space for two articles of human education along animals in moving-pictures line, and the Santa Barbara Morning Press has also been very kind in allowing space for our articles.

The society is taking a firm stand on the matter and will endeavor to investigate and prosecute any case of cruelty to animals in any form of entertainment in this county, or any cruelties inflicted upon animals in filming any motion pictures within this country.

ROBERT LEE STE. FLEUR,
Superintendent Santa Barbara Humane Society.

[Furnished by Federal-State Live-Stock Market News Summary, 207 Exchange Building, Union Stockyards.]

Disposition Saturday, May 19—To Los Angeles packers: 154 cattle, 288 hogs.

Cattle—Moderate receipts, bulk of which graded real but were not the top of the grade, met very active trading, which practically cleaned the yards for the day. Market was fully steady with Saturday on good steers, but weak on the in-between kinds. Top of 7.60 was scored on two loads of good 1073-pound steers. Bulk of good steers steered 1040 to 1277 pounds and cashed from 7.25@7.50. Several loads of medium steers averaging 880 to 1027 pounds cashed from 7.00@7.15, while two loads containing a few commons and averaging 1047 pounds made 6.60. A string of ninety-six common 835-pound Mexican steers made 6.75, while other lots of commons made 6.50.

She-stuff held fully steady, with light receipts and active trading. Top of 5.75 was scored on one load of good 800-pound cows and half-load of good 937-pounds cows. A load of good 1051-pound cows made 5.60, with a few mediums averaging 942 pounds out at 5.25. Car of medium 941-pound cows made 5.10. Odd lot common 937-pound cows made 4.00. Few canners and cutters sold in odd lots for 1.50, 2.50 and 3.75. Few heavy butcher bulls cashed for 4.00.

Calves—Under an estimated run of 600 calves for the day, bulk of which were good to choice light weights, and very active trading which cleaned the yards, market is strong. Top of 10.00 was scored on a car of choice 190-pound vealers. Bulk of good to choice calves averaged 160 to 190 pounds and sold for 10.50. Load of choice 515-pound vealers cashed for 10.00. Few heavies out of main loads grading good and averaging 335 to 345 pounds made 8.50.

Hogs—Moderate receipts and very active trading cleaned up the yards. Market was strong to a shade higher. Bulk of hogs graded good and averaged 172 to 185 pounds and cashed for 9.00, the top price. One load of good 174-pound killers made 8.95, while a load of mixed lights and mediums averaging 182 pounds made 8.85. Few light killers made 8.50, while a few heavy hogs out of main loads averaging around 250 pounds made 7.75.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 21.—Shell Foster No. 1, of the Shell Oil Company, the deepest oil well ever drilled in California came in late tonight with a flow of oil estimated at approximately 5000 barrels a day. Swabbing took place today with the oil taking a strong flow tonight. The depth of the sand is about 5280 feet, it was said.

The well will be allowed to clean itself out. Production will be turned into tankage tomorrow, it was announced by O. P. Yowell, superintendent of field activities. The well, which is known as the "mile deep" well, is located in the Signal Hill field near Signal Hill Drive and Maria street.

HE WANTED LARGEST SHARK AND HE GOT IT

SAN FRANCISCO FISHERMAN LANDS ONE WEIGHING 267 POUNDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The laurel wreath for being the greatest shark hunter rests today on the brow of Thomas F. Jones, 1795 Haight street.

Jones went out with his wife in a small rowboat yesterday and bagged the largest shark ever hooked in San Francisco Bay. The giant fish weighs 267 pounds, is nine feet two inches long, and has a girth of fifty-six inches.

It was Jones's ambition to catch a shark which would make all other sharks look like minnows. Getting a boat at sausalito, he went out in search of his quarry. He hooked two little fellows weighing only 100 pound each—but wasn't satisfied.

Then the big shark tried to snatch a free lunch.

After towing Mr. and Mrs. Jones around the bay for more than an hour, the shark got tired. Jones hauled him up on the Marin county shore, drove a stake through his head and nearly collapsed.

The shark is now on exhibition at Jones's home.

TREASURY MODIFIES LIQUOR PERMIT RULE

DOCTORS AND DENTISTS WILL HAVE LESS TROUBLE IN GETTING ALCOHOL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Formal orders modifying prohibition enforcement regulations affecting physicians, dentists and veterinarians, by providing that their permits hereafter may be obtained from State prohibition directors instead of at Washington headquarters, were issued today by Secretary Mellon.

In addition to permitting physicians to obtain permits from State directors, the Treasury orders authorize issuance by State directors of permits for dentists and veterinarians to use alcohol. Under the orders, permits for transportation of liquor by trucks also will be obtainable from State directors without reference to Washington headquarters.

Secretary Mellon also issued another order designed to simplify withdrawals of liquors from government bonded warehouses. Those selling bonded liquor to purchasers with approved permits hereafter will not be required to exhibit all copies of the selling permits and officers at the warehouse will not be required to ascertain from State directors whether the withdrawal papers are authentic.

The rigid requirements for obtaining permits, for withdrawal and restrictions thrown around withdrawals, together with safeguards against forged permits recently worked out, now are believed to be sufficient protection against illicit withdrawals.

COPPER PRICE SUIT IS WON BY GOVERNMENT

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The government cannot be compelled to pay in excess of original amount for copper it purchased during the war at a price of 23½ cents a pound, which it fixed as fair and reasonable, the Supreme Court held today in a case brought by L. Vogelstein & Co.

The company sought to recover the difference between 23½ cents, which the government fixed, and 26.88 cents, which the company asserted was the actual cost, on 12,542,857 pounds of copper furnished the government. The Court of Claims decided in favor of the government.

RITCHIE IS OFFERED FOURTH JULY BOUT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Willie Ritchie, former lightweight boxing champion of the world, who recently announced he would try to come back in pugilism, told sporting editors here tonight he had received an offer for a fight in Reno, Nev., July 4. Ritchie said his offer came from racing interests. Although Ritchie's opponent was not mentioned, it is understood Frankie Farren and Joe Coffey are under consideration.

CHARLEVILLE IS ELECTED

J. W. Charleville of Los Angeles, was elected secretary of the recently organized Bell Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the board of directors last night at Bell. The chamber has been organized six weeks. Mr. Charleville will assume his duties at once, it was announced.

CANCELS RULING ON INCOME TAX

Treasury Reverses Decision Affecting Corporations

Asks Attorney-General to Give an Opinion

To Decide Whether Dividend Can be Levied On

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 21. — The treasury today asked the Attorney-General to decide whether a corporation must pay income tax on dividends distributed from the surplus of a subsidiary corporation which accumulated the earnings prior to March 1, 1913.

The matter was referred to the Department of Justice after the Treasury had reversed itself earlier in the day by revoking a recent decision which declared such dividends exempt from taxation. The whole subject, according to an official statement, will be held in abeyance pending an opinion by the Attorney-General.

FACED HEAVY REFUND

Commissioner Blair has said the ruling which was cancelled today would have cost the government many millions in tax refunds to corporations which have been paying the assessments since the corporation tax law was put in its present form.

Many claims already have been filed in consequence of the amendment to the treasury regulations declaring void the collection of such taxes.

No cases were settled under the decision cancelled today, according to the official statement, which added that the reference to the Department of Justice was made necessary by the highly technical character of the questions involved, and further because the department's ruling would stand as the first one to be made under the section of the law covering such income-tax questions.

MELLON OPPOSES LAW

Secretary Mellon was represented as believing firmly that the tax law should not apply to the type of dividends involved in the question submitted to the Attorney-General.

Nothing further, however, was added in explanation of the sudden cancellation of the ruling, which was said to have been made on one specific case. There was some indication that views among Internal Revenue Bureau officials differed as to the construction of the law.

FEAR CHICAGO GLAND THEFT DRIVE REVIVAL

REVENGE THEORY DISCOUNTED IN FINDING OF SLASHED MAN ON STREET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 21.—What police fear may be a revival of the recent stealing of vital glands from virile men, to supply wasted millionaires, was indicated early this morning when Kasmir Bainish, 40 years of age, was found unconscious in the street. His glands had been removed, but he has had been removed, but he has been unable so far to tell by whom or why the operation was performed. He is in a hospital in a serious condition and may not survive.

Because of his age, there is a theory that the operation may have been for revenge, but he is married and, so far as the police can learn, had no "affairs" that would have excited jealousy. He was a strong, well-built man and the belief prevails that some worn-out wealthy man employed the familiar method of having the victim overpowered on the street and robbed of his glands. In two previous cases, the purchaser of the glands was believed to have been in a surgeon's office and that the stolen tissues were speedily transplanted. The condition of the latest victim indicated that the work was hastily done.

Contracts Let for Three New Schools Here

Contracts for three new school buildings were awarded by the City Board of Education last night. They are the Glen Alta school, John R. Kibbey, architect, to be erected by Bertelsen and Schuldt, contractors, at a cost of $62,000; the Green Meadows school, John P. Krempel, architect, to be erected by C. E. Downs, contractor, at a cost of $72,000; and the Ninety-seventh street school, Paul C. Pape, architect, also to be constructed by C. E. Downs, at a cost of $76,000.

A fifty-one-foot lot on Third street, to be used for an addition to the Fremont avenue school site, was purchased by the Board of Education yesterday for $10,000.

MEXICANS ARE HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Arrest last night of three Mexicans at Torrence, who were trying to sell a quantity of silk dresses, resulted in the confession by Joe Garcia, one of the three men, that he entered the store of the Rite-Maid Dress Manufacturing Company on the fifth floor of the Phillips Building at Second and Spring streets, and stole twenty-five silk dresses valued at $500, police said last night. Garcia, and the other men who gave their names as Joe Sais and Mike Pladino, were charged with burglary and are being held in the City Jail.

DR. SOPER TO DIRECT CANCER ASSOCIATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Dr. George A. Soper, discoverer of "typhoid Mary," the carrier of typhoid fever epidemics, has been appointed managing director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, it was announced tonight. During the war he was head of the epidemiology division of the surgeon-general's office.

"Will She Step?"
"Will She Strut?"
"That's What She Won't Do Nothing Else But"

And I'm thinking of No. 3—she's sure "shaking a wicked limb" today. Just got an O. K. from the Mining Bureau on the cement job, and now just to drill through the oil sand and turn her into the tanks. "Another goodly stream of liquid gold" flowing into your Bank account every thirty days. It's simple enough, folks, if a fellow knows his business and has the necessary "where-with-all" and thanks to you I've always had plenty of "Dow-ray-me."

No. 2 will be "displaying her material" pronto now. I had a mean job to overcome on this location. Had a string of 8-inch set through the "Bell" sand and when we went to pull it to go on down to the "Meyer" it wouldn't budge, so we had to go in and cut it off, drill up about 100 feet of it, and side-track the rest; just one of my little troubles that I don't always like to bother you folks with. However, she's "all jake now" and the boys are "Hi-balling through;" it won't be long.

On this pipe line and refinery deal of mine, I'm just moving along in high-gear these days. Got considerable over a million dollars' worth of material rolling in here now, and let me whisper to you, when I crack down on you with this offer, cash is what I'm going to need, and "nothing else but."

"One lonely share" of Henry Ford's original stock, which sold for $100.00, is worth over $47,000 today.

"One lonely share" of Standard Oil Co., which sold for a few dollars, is today worth a fortune.

Who knows, "funnier things have happened," and perhaps "One lonely share" of "my Refinery issue" might some day spell independence for you; at any rate, I'll sure be trying my best and that spells plenty.

MOUNT CASE QUIZ NEARLY ABANDONED

Star Athlete Exonerated in Disappearance of Northwestern Student

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 21.—The disappearance a year and a half ago of Leughton Mount, Northwestern University freshman, after a class fight, seemed destined today to be relegated to the class of unsolved mysteries, unless the authorities obtain more information than they have at present.

The investigation was classed as of secondary importance, even in the State's Attorney's office. Where a week ago all was turmoil and 50 per cent of the State's Attorney's staff were helping with the investigation, two assistants were working on the case today. They admitted they had nothing new to offer regarding Mount's disappearance or the skeleton found three weeks ago under an Evanston pier and believed by the authorities to be Mount's.

The grand jury that started an investigation was still in session today but devoted no time to the case and apparently there was no further evidence in the possession of the State's Attorney to be brought before it.

Charles ("Chuck") Palmer, star athlete at Northwestern, who was held in custody for a day last week when a former woman friend declared he knew about Mount's disappearance, was exonerated of all suspicion of knowledge of the case in Judge Michael McKinley's court today. His attorneys demanded an apology from assistant State's attorneys for taking him into custody but it was refused, the State's counsel declaring Palmer had been placed under suspicion and that the State's Attorney's office had no apologies to make to anyone about anything in connection with the case.

CHICAGO CLUB TO MEET

The Chicago Club will conduct its regular weekly luncheon at the Union League Club, 255 South Hill street, today at 12:15 p.m. Speeches will be made by former Chicagoans and there will be a musical program.

Ship That Aided Mrs. Phillips in Escape Is Here

Clara Phillips's friends and followers of her flight to Central America will be pleased to note that the craft that carried her and Jesse Carson and her sister on one leg of the escape journey is open for inspection at Los Angeles Harbor.

Capt. Evansen said Jesse Carson, Clara Phillips, traveling under the name of Mrs. Fay Carson, and Clara's young sister, who gave her name as Mrs. L. M. Young, booked passage for Amapala, Guatemala, at San Jose, Guatemala, on April 7 last, arriving at their destination six days later.

Carson appeared to be nervous during the voyage, but the two women had an enjoyable voyage, making friends with other passengers and the crew in a short time, Capt. Evansen said. Carson told the captain that he had lost $10,000 in Mexico on a sugar deal, but that he had recovered his losses and was intending to enter business in Guatemala.

Citizens Will Organize to Aid Narcotic Week

Prominent citizens will meet at 12:30 p.m. today in the committee-room of the Board of Education in the Security Building to effect an organization that will bring about co-operation of all the organizations in the city during Narcotic Education Week, which the Los Angeles Board of Education has fixed to begin on the 27th inst.

The plan for the week has been indorsed by the Church Federation and Chamber of Commerce of this and suburban cities. It is proposed to have this week observed by the whole community, as well as by the schools and churches.

The action was undertaken at the instance of the Narcotic Education Association of Los Angeles, which plans, with this as a precedent, to have similar action taken by the cities and counties of all the States.

Building Profits—

YOU probably know that the profits of Building and Construction Companies are exceptionally large.

A limited opportunity to participate in such profits is offered by an established California Construction Company—just entering the local field.

Dividends in this Company have been 12% annually, and preceding public offering a desirable preference will be extended to participants in this extension of activities.

To those desiring a ground-floor interest under most favorable conditions in a large business, second to none, for legitimate profit, full information will be given on request. Prompt attention is necessary.

BUSINESS NEWS

Exchange Hangs Up New Record for Bond Sales; Big Contract for California Crude

Approximately $100,000, par value, of bonds changed hands yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange in the first day of trading under the new system of bond dealing. In the two sessions the total amount of bonds transferred about equalled the business formerly done in one month, and according to President Frank H. Pettingell, presages the success of the innovation.

Representatives from about twenty member firms were on the floor during the periods allotted to bond trading, and considerable interest was manifested in the proceedings. The morning session was devoted principally to establishing quotations, with about $40,000, par value, of bonds crossing the boards.

By maintaining an active and diversified list, the exchange officials expect to see the larger part of the local bond trading concentrated on the exchange. Heretofore, "over the counter" trading has been the prevalent method of arranging bond transactions.

BIG OIL CONTRACT

What is said to be the largest contract for petroleum products ever made in the East by a California company has been consummated by the General Petroleum Corporation with the Atlantic Refining Company. The contract calls for the delivery, beginning January 1, 1924, of a daily volume running from 12,000 to 28,000 barrels of crude oil, and for a large amount of gasoline to be delivered over the balance of this year. The crude-oil contract runs for two years.

The crude oil and the gasoline, according to the officers of the General Petroleum Corporation here, will be transported via the Panama Canal to the Atlantic seaboard in both General Petroleum and Atlantic Refining tankers. On the basis of the maximum amount of the contract, approximately 20,500,000 barrels of oil will leave Los Angeles Harbor to the Atlantic Refining Company during the life of the agreement.

AIR MAPS

The Public Service Electric Company of New Jersey now makes use of the airplane for maintaining maps preliminary to laying out new transmission lines. It is said to be an important feature in the company's work of keeping pace with the demand for service which necessitates constant additions to generating and transmission capacity.

Formerly the company used State and national geographic survey maps for this work. The maps were 2000 to 5000 feet per inch, while the aerial maps are but 800 feet and show the territory in greater detail, including rivers, railroads, buildings, trees, ditches, roads and streets. The relative heights of buildings, chimneys and trees are determined by the shadows on the ground.

The Public Service Company of New Jersey is an important listed security on the New York Stock Exchange. Earnings for the month of April were $5,619,653.14 as the amount available for dividends and the surplus account, which represents an increase of $1,151,008.73 over the same month of 1921.

POWER BONDS

E. H. Rollins & Sons and F. L. Carlisle & Co. are offering $1,000,000 the Power Corporation of New York first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, series B, due November, 1942, at 94½, to yield 6½ per cent. The bonds are secured under the same mortgage as the series A 6½ per cent bonds outstanding.

The properties of the Power Corporation of New York will consist of water powers estimated at over 100,000 horsepower, of which 40,000 horsepower will have been developed upon the completion of this financing. The developed powers are on the Black River and Raquette River in Northern New York. The company has sold the entire output of its developed water powers to the St. Regis Paper Company and the Hanna Paper Corporation.

Local participants in the issue are Cass, Howard & Sanford and the Continental National Bank.

PACIFIC OIL DIVIDEND

The declaration yesterday of a semiannual dividend of $1 a share by the directors of the Pacific Oil Company is taken to represent a compromise between the proposals to pay the full dividend of $1.50, or pass the payment. The optional yearly rate has been $3, and by the announcement yesterday, the stock is automatically placed on a $2 annual basis, unless earnings in the balance of the year justify the resumption of the old rate.

Earnings of the Pacific Oil Company have been unsatisfactory for some time because of declining tendency of crude-oil prices. For the nine months ended September 30, 1922, Pacific Oil earned $9,204,080, equal to $2.63 a share on the outstanding 3,500,000 shares. It is said that production is being pinched down to around 42,000 barrels daily.

CITIES SERVICE

The statement of earnings of Cities Service Company for the twelve months ended April 30, 1923, showed gross amounting to $16,003,545, which compared with $12,688,908, in the corresponding period of 1922. Net earnings were $15,528,247, as compared with $12,229,894, and net to stock was $12,989,007, as compared with $10,086,102. Net to common stock and reserves amounted to $8,050,881, as compared with $5,205,591, in the preceding twelve months.

In the twelve months' period the preferred dividend was earned 2.63 times, as compared with 2.07 times in the twelve months ended with April 30, 1922, while the percentage earned on the average amount of common stock outstanding was 17.28 as against 11.20. Net to common stock and reserves for the month of April, 1923, was $1,043,426, which compared with $753,462, earned in April, 1922.

IRRIGATION BONDS

Carstens & Earles, Inc., and Freeman, Smith & Camp Company are offering today $750,000 West Okanogan Valley Irrigation District 6 per cent serial gold bonds, maturing 1928-1938, at 100 to yield 6 per cent. The bonds are exempt from Federal income taxes, and represent a tax lien ranking ahead of all private liens or mortgages, being payable from direct taxes levied against all lands in the district.

The West Okanogan Valley Irrigation District is located in north central Washington, about 120 miles north of Wenatchee, 127 miles northwest of Spokane. The district extends for a distance of about twenty-five miles on both sides of the Okanogan River and includes the towns of Tonasket and Oroville. The district is served by the Great Northern Railway running from Oroville to Spokane.

The appraised value of the land and improvements is $2,209,000, and has a total bonded debt of $750,000. The district has a total area of 12,000 acres.

McGINNIS ELECTED

Rosser I. McGinnis, assistant to the vice-presidents of the Heliman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, has been elected a member of the board of governors, Los Angeles chapter, American Institute of Banking. Mr. McGinnis expects to take an active part with the local chapter at this year's annual convention of the American Bankers' Association.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The orange market was strong with a good firm demand and rising prices today. Navels in the fine grades were particularly strong, with prices ranging from 15 to 25 cents a box higher than on Saturday. Valencias sold well at an advanced figure of from $2.80 to $6.25. On the poorer grades and smaller sizes the market was not as good with demand and sales slower.

Florida oranges and grapefruit went up from 15 to 50 cents a box.

A flood of strawberries came into Jersey City and the market dropped. In some instances fine berries sold down to 10 cents, while poorer stock was let go for as little as 3 cents a quart.

DRIED FRUITS

The long period of nonbuying in the dried foods market is apparently nearing an end. Brokers reported good sales in both dried apricots and prunes. While the sales are not large, they are a relief to brokers, who have had one of the dullest periods in history, and seem to show that better times are at hand. The orders did not cause any change in spot quotations.

The price cutting in apricot futures seems to continue. It is not having the effect packers probably expected, for buyers apparently are holding off with their orders to see how far the prices will be cut.

CANNED GOODS

There was little trading in canned goods. Futures are not attracting much attention, and in the spot market dealers are having quite a bit of trouble laying their hands on vegetables which are in demand. These are No. 2 and 3 tomatoes and fancy corn and peas. In fish the demand in salmon and sardines is picking up very slowly. The season in sardines is beginning in Maine, and the new pack will soon be on the spot market. Prices remain unchanged.

SUGAR MARKET

Raw sugar futures were rather easy under scattered liquidation. Initial prices were 3 to 4 points lower. In the first two hours prices advanced about 4 to 8 points, but these gains were dissipated later, so that at the close prices were about 1 point higher to 2 points lowr on sales estimated at 17,100 tons.

The deadlock which had prevailed in the raw sugar market was broken this evening when outport refiners bought 20,000 baks of Cuban raws for the first half of June, loading at 6.30 cents f.o.b., equal to 6 7-16 cents cost and freight.

Refiners are momentarily expected to enter the market for their June requirements and today they were bidding 6 3-8 cents for Cubas without securing supplies as holders' views were 6½ cents or 6.28 cents c.i.f.

The better withdrawal demand for granulated sugars was pointed to today as indicating a change for the better in the general situation.

RICE, BEANS, PEAS

The rice market as a whole is easy in tone both domestic and foreign inquiries at southern points being limited. The heavy buying of foreign rices which has been done by the Orientals over the past few weeks had produced a firm tone in Siam, Burma and Saigon.

The bean trade was quiet Monday, buyers mostly showing interest in lots needed for assortments. Peas are fairly steady, but buyers are very exacting as to quality. White kidneys are still weak at the last decline. Red kidneys slow. Peas are quiet. Lentils in fair demand.

COFFEE, TEA

Coffee continues in a rut, only 750 bags changing hands today up until a few minutes of the closing. First prices were unchanged to 2 points higher with sales of March at 7.95 and December at 8@8.15 but in the last few minutes of trading purchases of September at 8.45 cents against sales of May at 9.90 cents swelled the total sales to about 7750 bags.

Downtown dealers in teas were in possession of fair orders calling for immediate shipment of the fermented grades at the outset of the week. While there was nothing special in the cables from primary points last accounts were that holders were showing no disposition to shade values. Normal buying is reported as being in progress for this season of the year.

BUTTER, EGGS

Increased offerings of table grade butter and urgency on the part of certain factors to establish a lower trading basis for storage, purposes caused weakness and a decline early in the day.

The egg market is firmer and higher on leading grades. Call sales were 50 cases No. 1 dirties at 24½ cents; 50 cases f. g. dirties at 28 cents; 35 and 50 cases No. 1 dirties at 24½ cents; 50 cases Illinois whites at 28 cents; 100 cases No. 1 dirties at 24½ cents, spot delivery.

Pacific Coast: White extras, 36½ to 38½ cents; white extra firsts, 34 to 36 cents; firsts, 32 and 33 cents.

COPPER, ZINC

Copper is just holding its recent gains and was steady today at 15½ cents for electrolytic delivered through May, June, July and possibly through August. The market was quiet and featureless. Consumers were apparently waiting on London, which was closed for the Whitsun holidays.

The zinc market continues to rise and today advanced to 6 3-4 cents, St. Louis, for spot and May, with the futures firmer than in some time past, and while June July and August were shaded 5

Equipment Trust Certificates

Equipment trust certificates issued under the Philadelphia Plan are recognized as one of the very conservative and attractive forms of investment.

A great economic need is filled in the purchase of railway equipment. Under the Philadelphia plan the title to the equipment remains with the Trustee until all obligations of the issue have been paid. Through serial maturity the indebtedness on the equipment is reduced at double the rate of possible depreciation.

We offer maturities 1928 to 1933 of the Seaboard Airline Railway Equipment 6% Trust Certificates outstanding to the amount of $6,000,000 total par value with standard railway equipment costing not less than $8,950,000 as security. Price 100 and interest.

We offer maturities 1929 to 1933 of the Pennsylvania Railroad Equipment Trust 5% Gold Certificates outstanding in the amount of $13,500,000 total par value with standard railway equipment costing not less than $39,375,000. Priced to yield 5.08%.

Learn about the safety of equipment trust certificates. Send for information about this type of investment security and about these two issues.

THE CONSERVATIVE NATURE of the First Mortgage 6½% Bonds of the Banana Fruit Company is easily seen in the following brief analysis of the Balance Sheet as of December 31, 1922:

TOTAL ASSETS after full deduction for depreciation, good will, trademarks, patents, etc., and all liabilities except Capital and Reserves aggregate $10,700,000

Applicable to this bond issue of $4,000,000

NET EARNINGS available for payment of annual interest charges of $247,000 for the past four years have been as follows:

1919	1920	1921	1922

We call particular attention to the year 1922 during which the Company proved itself to have a very definite and substantial earning capacity—in spite of the exceptionally adverse conditions that prevailed throughout the industry that year. Moreover, this ample earning power will be further augmented in 1923 and subsequent years as additional acreage owned by the Company comes into bearing.

In view of the uncommon degree of security, convenience and other features, the yield of 6.60% is abundant. A high callable price on this return for a long term of years. For the man or woman who has the problem of safe and profitable investment these bonds furnish a happy solution. Our nearest office will gladly furnish further data.

Municipal Bonds

Eight Major Types

COMPRISE the range of bonds offered today and each type has its proper place in the program of the large investor.

Of these eight types of bonds, MUNICIPALS have always appeared particularly worthy of consideration, from the standpoint of community upbuilding and from the peculiar advantages attaching to them for the investor.

To determine for whom, and in what proportion, MUNICIPALS serve their best purpose, you may agree, is properly the function of the MUNICIPAL BOND SPECIALIST; the more so since such determination should include future, as well as present, advantages.

It was upon this idea and for this single purpose that our business was founded and has been conducted for many years.

BOND QUOTATIONS

TRADING IS DULL
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Trading in bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today was relatively dull, with price movements irregular. United States government bonds and most of the higher grade industrials were firm, while many of the more speculative securities followed the downward trend. All the active government bonds moved upward with the exception of the tax-exempt 3½s, which were unchanged, and the second Liberty 4¼s, which sagged 1-32 of a point. Prices of the foreign government bonds were mixed and changes generally small. Mexican 4s and 5s each dropped a point.

Railroad mortgages were in supply, losses of a point each being recorded by Katy new adjustment 5s, St. Paul convertible 4½s and Norfolk and Southern 5s. New York Railways refunding 4s advanced a point, and Interborough Rapid Transit 6s receded 1¼. Sugar company liens were sold freely, Punta Alegre 7s dropping 2¼ and Eastern Cubas 7½s, 2½.

Total sales, par value, were $10,183,000.

Public offering was made of $4,500,000 4½ per cent city of Los Angeles one to thirty-year bonds at prices to yield 4.35 to 4.40 per cent, according to maturity.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Acting in sympathy with the New York market, stocks on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday turned downward, the closing prices representing small losses from the previous session. Aside from the interest caused by the heavy tendency of prices, the market was featured by the innovation of two short periods allotted to trading in bonds.

Holly Development declined 7 cents to a closing quotation at 1.80, after opening at a high of 1.90. General Petroleum common took a loss of 3-8 of a point at 33 5-8, and Union Oil Associates dropped 5-8 at 46 3-4. Pacific Oil settled back 1 point on the news of a decrease in the semiannual dividend from $1.50 to $1. United States Royalties lost 2 cents, selling off to 54½. Globe Petroleum was behind 1½ cents at 51½.

Dealing in mining stocks was negligible. Yellow Dog opened at 54, but declined to a closing price of 51½. Gold Dust was up 1½ cents at 41½.

Globe Grain common was firm at 55 1-4 and Southern California Edison was quiet at 102. First National Bank went at 375.

Among the bonds, Los Angeles Pacific Railway first and refunding 5s of 1943 closed at 78, and Pacific Gas and Electric 5s of 1942 finished the day at 90 5-8. Various maturities of Southern California Edison and San Joaquin Light and Power bonds were active.

Following are the closing quotations and sales:

NEW YORK CURB

Market Closes Lower

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Trading on the New York curb today was a repetition of that of last week, professional traders persisting in their attacks on individual stocks. The market generally closed lower.

Dealing in the oils was active, several of these stocks dipping to new lows, among them Standard Oil of Indiana at 55¾ and Vacuum at 44. Both closed fractionally higher than their extreme lows. Cities Service was pushed down 4¼ points to 156½ and Cumberland 3 points to 101. Standard Oils of Nebraska and Ohio each sold lower, the former closing off 5 points and the latter 10. Imperial Oil of Canada, after sagging in the early dealings, closed at 102, a gain of 1 point.

Motor shares bore the brunt of the attack in the Industrial group, Durant closing at 32¾, off 2¼ on the day, after it had touched 39, a new low for the year and about 45 points under its record high. Eaton Axle and Spring also was active, dropping 4½ points to 23½, a new low price for the year.

Trading in the mining group was relatively quiet and price changes were unimportant.

...sumed by trade recovery in March have been made so plain to the merchant and producer. The danger against which conservative men were warning the community, at the time when they were urging a highly restrictive discount rate by the Federal reserve, was that middle men would declare dividends to be a necessary part of a "boom" whose continuance nothing could resist. That was the mood of 1919. If the business public had then taken the view which it now takes of rising prices, "hold-up" by workers and the possibility that production might have overtaken consumption, we might not have had the sequel of 1920 in the form in which it came. The business situation as a whole is not today unfavorable and there is far more probability of maintaining a sound equilibrium in the later trade of 1923 from the fact that the pace of expansion has so distinctly slackened.

There were few exceptions to the downward movement of the stock market today; the decline affected all classes of stocks and reached 1 to 3 points in a very considerable number of them. In most the closing price were at or near the lowest of the day. This was proof mainly of the aggressiveness of the professional operators; it was not an unusual sequel to a week in which the market found so little support at the then existing prices. It is rapid declines like today's which eventually bring the market to a position where genuine buying of a strong character is attracted.

HEAVY LIQUIDATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Persistent selling by professional short interests brought about heavy forced liquidation in today's active stock market, the averages of twenty barometric railroad and industrial stocks being forced to new low levels for the year. The industrial average showed at net loss of nearly 2 points on the day and the railroad average about half that amount.

A large volume of today's liquidation is reported to have come from discouraged and tired holders of stocks purchased at high prices weeks or months ago. Cumulative evidence of a slackening in basic lines of business with a resultant decrease in orders for future delivery and a relaxation of commodity prices has had an unfavorable effect on sentiment. Except in a few isolated spots, the market has also exhibited a marked lack of effective buying support which was expected to be forthcoming before prices broke below their previous low figures.

Announcement of a cut from $1.50 to $1 in the semiannual dividend of the Pacific Oil Company came after the market closed and was not unexpected because of the conditions known to prevail in the industry. Overproduction of California crude oil has been the principal depressing influence on the prices of oil shares. Pacific Oil closed ⅝ cent lower at 36⅝ after having sold as high as 38 during the day.

Continued weakness of United States Steel common, which touched a new low at 95¼ and then rallied to 95½, where it was off 1⅛ on the day, had a general unsettling effect on the rest of the list. Among the more than two score other stocks which established new low prices for the year were American Car Foundry, Davison, Virginia Carolina Chemical "B," Austin, Nichols, Wilson Packing, Postum Cereal and Detroit Edison, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, North American, Studebaker, United States Alcohol, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Rock Island, Lehigh Valley and International and Great Northern, the net losses ranging from 1 to 5 points.

California Petroleum was the only outstanding active stock to move against the current trend, selling as high as 100 and closing at 96½ for a net gain of ⅝.

Twenty railroads averaged 80.13; net loss .87. High 1923, 90.63; low 80.13.

BRAKE ON INDUSTRY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 21.—More definite news on the recent slowing down in industry appeared today. Data were available to show the curtailment in building construction and textile production. It is in these two industries that there has been the most talk of slowing down because of high prices. Incidentally the day brought statistics showing that the trend of wholesale commodities prices continues downward, although the tendency of wages is upward. In some quarters the present uncertainty in business and industry was interpreted as foreshadowing an acute labor controversy. If merchandise prices cannot be raised for fear of a "buyer's strike" the first result of increasing labor and other costs of production would be curtailed production. Following this would be an effort to readjust wages.

The let-down in building construction is shown by the fact that for the first time since last autumn, sales of fabricated steel have slumped. April sales, according to the commerce department, were 176,954 tons, amounting to only 80 per cent of shop capacity, compared with 95 per cent in March and 88 per cent in April, 1922. Between November and March the percentage rose steadily from 43 to 95. The buying demand for other building materials also is less keen. The average of soft wood lumber prices has begun to decline, after rising steadily from $24.62 in September, 1921, to 027 at the end of April.

Abandonment of a total of $75,000,000 of projected construction work was made known in various news items today. Also, New York State announced postponement of $16,000,000 of new highway construction because of labor shortage.

The textile industry reflects the slakened demand for cotton goods. Cotton spinning in April showed a reduction of 742,500,000 active spindle hours compared with March, according to the Census Bureau. Active spindle hours during April totaled 8,787,443,899, or an average of 236 hours for each spindle in place, compared with 9,531,902,851 hours, or an average of 253 in March and with 6,642,139,932 hours, or an average of 180 in April, 1922.

Conflicting reports came from the automobile industry. While some of the largest manufacturers report capacity production, there were reports that a number of plants have made an average curtailment of 10 per cent. President Erskine stated the Studebaker corporation is operating at capacity and that demand is in excess of production. He estimated second quarter sales will exceed 40,000 cars. The Oakland division of the General Motors Corporation reported record sales in April and May sales running even better. The Willys Overland company announced daily output is 1000 cars now.

Corporation dividends news was mixed. The Pacific Oil Company declared a dividend of $1 compared with the semiannual return of $1.50 paid for the last two years. The reduction was ascribed to conditions in the oil industry. The Hudson Motor Car Company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents besides the regular quarterly. The North American Company declared a dividend of 5 per cent on its new $10 par common stock. The United Shoe Machinery Company declared a 40 per cent stock dividend payable June 15 to stockholders of record May 26.

BEARISH INFLUENCES RESISTED BY COTTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21. — Today's cotton market held up well despite bear pressure and a weaker position in stocks. Though dealings were lighter due to Liverpool's holiday, the undertone was firm. This was shown shortly after the irregular opening, when all options advanced, led by near months in which there was better trade demand. May options continued at a 150-point premium over July, which was around 2½ cents above distant months. There were irregular setbacks from the high level of 18 to 45 points net advance, occurring around 1 o'clock, when a wave of liquidation hit stocks. In this period Wall street was reported a heavy seller of cotton, pressure being mostly exerted against the new crop months. The list lost all its earlier gains, May and July dipping under the previous close. After rallying later, the market closed rather firm at an advance of 21 points for May and July to a decline of 5 to 7 points for the far months.

The local market for spot cotton was steady 20 points advance, 27.75 for middling upland.

Southern spot markets: Galveston 26.80, 20 points advance; New Orleans 26.25, unchanged; Savannah 26.75, 32 points advance; Augusta 26.88, 19 points advance; Memphis 26 cents, unchanged; House on 26.75, 20 points advance; Little Rock 25.75, unchanged.

"Do You Carry Credit Insurance?"

Your Banker May Ask You This Question!

A well-known bank of New York City writes the American Credit-Indemnity Co. as follows:

"No doubt you will be interested to learn that we arranged to incorporate into the forms used for securing financial statements this query: Are your accounts covered by credit insurance?"

Many other banks in all parts of the country have told us the same thing. Every Manufacturer and Wholesaler should be able to guarantee to his banker that he will not have unforeseen credit losses. That his accounts are absolutely good. You can do this, if you "Americanize Your Credits."

Full particulars free to any interested executive.

Stock Market Losses Offset Bullish Rumors

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 21.—Weakness in the stock market offset to some extent the bullish crop reports on the winter wheat from parts of Kansas and Oklahoma, but considering the liquidation in Wall street the wheat market gave an excellent account of itself and closed ⅜@⅝c higher. Corn, however, acted heavy and closed ⅛c lower to ⅜c higher, while oats were ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower and rye unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Lack of speculative interest is counting heavily against the grain markets and while wheat prices worked higher there were numerous sharp setbacks as the price is easily influenced by any good buying or selling owing to the light trade. There were numerous reports of deterioration received from Kansas and the crop experts are now working into Oklahoma and finding the outlook there is less favorable than expected.

With Liverpool and foreign markets closed, export business in wheat was very small and there was little in the news from there to help the bulls. A local trader was a good seller of July at one time, assisting in making the decline to the low point, but the market advanced as soon as the pressure let up. Sentiment on the whole was bullish, with some buying on the decrease of 4,197,000 bushels in the visible supply.

Weakness in southwestern corn markets, with Kansas City May lower for the day, with a light trade, made a lower range here easily attained, but the firm close in wheat led to short covering and a rally toward the last. Country offerings were not large and generally held above the market. Rains were reported during the day in Iowa and Nebraska and planting is expected to be further delayed. Cash demand was only fair, with a slight easing in premiums on the sample market. Receipts, 48 cars.

Oats held within a range of ⅝@¾c, with May showing the most strength, closing at a slight premium over the July. Some improvement in the shipping demand from the South was noted and the basis was ½c better as compared with May. Crop reports on the whole were favorable. Receipts, 42 cars.

Trading in rye was light and prices reflected the action of wheat to a great extent. No. 2 on track sold at 1c under July. The two northwestern markets received 72 cars.

Following are the opening, high, low and closing quotations:

Wheat—	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.

SEALED BIDS TO PURCHASE GOVERNMENT LEASES IN NAVAL PETROLEUM RESERVE NUMBER 2, KERN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

The Secretary of the Interior invites sealed bids to be submitted at his office, Interior Building, Washington, D. C., prior to June 1, 1923, for the purchase of the following described leases which are located in Naval Petroleum Reserve Number 2, Kern County, California:

Lease No. 3. E. ½ and E. ½ W. ½ Section 19, T. 32 S., R. 25 E., M.D.M.

Bids will be received for the purchase of any or all of these leases as the bidder may elect, but individual bids must be submitted covering each lease desired.

Bids are to be stated in terms of the amount of royalty the bidder will pay on all oil produced above an average production per well of 100 barrels per day on each lease.

Royalties payable under these leases on all oil produced in amounts of below 100 barrels per day will be calculated on a sliding royalty scale varying from 12½ to 16 2-3 per cent, or from 12½ to 29 per cent, depending upon the gravity of the oil obtained.

The Secretary of the Interior may accept any bid which, in his judgment, is most advantageous to the Government, and reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Requests for information relative to these bids may be addressed direct to the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., or to Mr. E. P. Campbell, Deputy Supervisor, Bureau of Mines, Bakersfield, California.

In submitting bids to the Department of the Interior, please mark plainly on the envelope: "Bid, Government Naval Reserve Leases."

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION OF HOLLAND LAND COMPANY First Mortgage Six Per Cent, Fifteen Year Gold Bonds, Dated Dec. 1, 1919.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT HOLLAND LAND COMPANY (a California corporation) has declared its intention to and will redeem and pay on the next interest payment date, viz.: June 1, 1923, all of its 6% 15-year gold bonds issued and now outstanding under that certain indenture of mortgage or deed of trust dated December 1, 1919, from Holland Land Company to Savings Union Bank & Trust Company, as trustee; that Mercantile Trust Company of California, having its office at 464 California street, in the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, is now trustee under said mortgage or deed of trust, as successor to Savings Union Bank & Trust Company, and that sufficient funds will be deposited with the said Mercantile Trust Company of California, as trustee, prior to June 1, 1923, to effect said redemption at par value with a premium of 2% and accrued interest, as provided in said indenture of mortgage or deed of trust. No interest will accrue on any of said bonds after the redemption date above specified. Redemption will be made at said office of the trustee.

A sufficient sum has already been deposited with said trustee to redeem immediately $300,000 par value of said bonds; and the trustee is authorized, upon surrender of bonds up to said amount with all unmatured coupons attached, prior to June 1, 1923, to pay to the holders thereof in the order in which their applications are received the par value of said bonds, with 2% premium and accrued interest to the date of such surrender.

Dated, San Francisco, California, April 17, 1923. HOLLAND LAND COMPANY points, it was not thought that any lower than this could be done.

OIL MARKET

It was learned today that General Petroleum Corporation of Los Angeles had closed a two-year contract with the Atlantic Refining Company of Philadelphia for the sale to the latter company of 12,000 barrels daily of California crude oil. This is at the rate of more than 8,700,000 barrels for the two years. The price per barrel was not disclosed. The oil will be shipped to the Atlantic seaboard by way of the Panama Canal in tankers belonging to General Petroleum and in chartered ships.

BOND MARKET

Bond prices were irregular at the finish today despite the fact that the trend in stocks was distinctly toward lower figures.

The active Liberty loans were unchanged to 4 points higher, except 3½s, which were down 2 points at the last. The Victories, which were removed from the board today, are said to be coming in for redemption fairly well.

Rail issues were featured by several active spots. Katy adjustments 4s finished a point lower; St. L. and S. F. group were down fractionally and Seaboard 6s were off ½.

Copper and steel bonds were lower, the latter on the break in steel common to a new low for the year.

The agricultural chemical issues were again a center of attention, the market showing a good power of absorption on the dips. Sugar bonds sold off at the close.

Foreign loans were quietly traded. Changes for the session in French and British loans were inconsequential.

NORTH STAR OF OATMAN

Development on the NORTH STAR mine at Oatman has reached a point where a STRIKE may be made almost at any day.

We consider NORTH STAR at present market quoted around 3½ cents on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange the best buy among listed stocks for market profits.

Buying and selling orders promptly executed.

White Star Pardners— Insure Your Income

Three times within the past year we have experienced substantial reductions in the price of crude oil.

These successive reductions are not based upon a supply in excess of demand, but by the overtaxing of present pipelines and storage facilities.

Foreign markets are waiting for every barrel of this wonderful 35 gravity oil that we can deliver to tankers at the great Los Angeles Harbor.

Make That Income Permanent—

No chain is stronger than its weakest link. Only by owning, producing, transporting and refining its own crude oil can such an organization become an independent, self-sustaining unit.

To assure you greatest and most prominent income from White Star Wells Nos. 1-2-3, we must provide:

Storage facilities for 400,000 bbls. crude oil;
A 5000-barrel daily capacity refinery;
A loading dock at the Harbor.

Crude oil at the Harbor commands not less than 35 cents per barrel over the field price at the well. Think of the profits from pipe line charges alone. A 6-inch line can handle 30,000 barrels daily. A tremendous income from the start.

You Get Real Action—

We have already secured a ten-acre loading dock at Wilmington.

We have already acquired 30 acres near Wilmington for our refinery and storage.

We have already purchased the Mercury Refinery at Vernon and WHITE STAR GASOLINE is now sold by service stations.

We are already completing rights of way for the pipe line.

We have a positive, assured market for all the crude and refined products we can deliver at the Harbor.

Your Part to Insure that Income—

The White Star Oil and Refining Company is a new corporation to be formed to handle this situation.

We want every White Star Pardner, 2500 of you, to be a part of this new organization and help assure your own future.

You can come in on the GROUND FLOOR, prior to incorporation.

We offer 2500 blocks or units at $200.00 each—consisting of 2 Convertible 8% Preferred Shares (par $100.00) with an outright bonus of 1 Common Share.

Every White Star Pardner should take one or more of these units. You have given me your loyal support in the past and I know you will make it 100% this time and assure your own future.

Time is the important factor—Don't delay—Wells No. 1 and No. 3 will both make new history at Santa Fe Springs within ten days.

Make your checks payable to Bank of America, Trustee, and mail them to me at this address. Let's all pull together for a greater White Star Organization.

Come in, write or phone me at the office. Convenient payments can be arranged.

Buy NOW for July Dividends

At the last meeting of the Directors of the Rio Grande Oil (Refining) Company, it was ordered that the quarterly dividend of 3% to be paid July 15th shall apply to all stock of record June 1st.

Shrewd investors will grasp this opportunity to share in the large profits to be earned in the refining business. This Company, established 7 years ago, with a record of CONSISTENT EARNINGS over this period, has paid CASH DIVIDENDS of $5100 on every $1000 originally invested, in addition to $11,000 in stock dividends.

The Common Stockholders share pro rata the full earnings of the Company.

NET TANGIBLE ASSETS of over $110 are back of every share, and earnings of the present refineries far exceed dividend requirements of the new capitalization. PROFITS from the new Los Angeles refinery, now under construction, are in addition to present earnings.

Price $102.50 per Share

OIL ROYALTIES

Selected and approved Oil Royalties are the Gold Bonds of the oil business. They pay no part of the drilling cost, carry no liability, can not be assessed, and pay none of the operating or maintenance expense.

Conservative investors are seeking this form of oil security and are making their investments through a conservative firm in a position to advise them intelligently. Our corps of experts pass upon all Royalties before we purchase them. This investigation is your assurance of getting the kind of oil investment that will pay you a maximum return with a minimum risk.

We have a Santa Fe Springs Royalty—drilling to the Meyer sand—which will pay you to investigate. It is one of the best that we have had to offer our clients.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

A campaign of road repair has been started in the Santa Fe Springs oil field by the Los Angeles County Highway Commissioners and it is said that a sum of nearly $300,000 is to be spent in rebuilding and repairing the highways in this district.

Telegraph Road from Sanford Bridge to Painter avenue is to be closed and the street will be widened. The entire surface will be removed and a new macadam surface placed. Aprons of concrete will be constructed along the sides it is said.

The traffic during this period will be routed on Whittier Boulevard and the Norwalk-Puente Road.

A crew of men has been resurfacing the Norwalk-Puente Road from Los Nietos to the Four Corners and material for reconstructing Butler Road has been hauled.

A large sum of money has been spent in rebuilding the Workmen-Mill Road leading to Pomona Boulevard and the assurance of the highway commissioners has been given the Santa Fe Springs Chamber of Commerce that every attempt will be made to keep the roadways in condition.

Many Producers Coming

Eight wells on the Bell property of the Union Oil Company in the Santa Fe Springs field are scheduled to be put on production during the last ten days of May and the month of June.

These wells are on the ranch of Alphonso E. Bell, the man on whose property the first big Santa Fe producer was brought in more than a year and a half ago.

Three of these wells are expected in during the present month. Bell No. 11, which has been drilled to a depth of 4360 feet, with six and one-fourth inch casing, has already been cemented and stuck drill pipe is being loosened. Bell No. 13 is rotating at 4317 feet, cement job having been completed in the Meyer sand. Number 15 has reached a depth of 4110 feet, with six and one-fourth-inch casing. It has been cemented, cleaned out to bottom of the hole, and tubing is being run in to make the water test.

The five Bell wells due to go on the producing list during June are all now below the 4000-foot mark. Number 10 has reached 4075 feet. Satisfactory mud test was made and the pipe is being cleaned out. Number 12 has been sunk 4095 feet, with eight and one-fourth inch casing, and is cemented. Number 16 is at 4043 feet, No. 17 at 4087 feet, while No. 24 is cleaning out after having been drilled to 4050 feet and cemented.

Making Heavy Flow

The Baker well, drilled by the Ambassador Oil Company, which came in a week ago at Santa Fe Springs, with an initial flow said to be near 12,000 barrels, has been beaned down, and is now making less than 6000 barrels per day, the drillers state.

This well was drilled to 4720 feet, and the oil is 35.2 gravity. The well is controlled by the Wilshire Oil Company and was drilled by Machris Brothers.

In Comes Another

The Freeman-Ball No. 1 well on the Marine-Apex lease, north of Willow street, added another 5000 barrels of daily production to the Signal Hill field late yesterday when it blew in with 4100 feet of drill pipe in the hole. Gauges showed a gas pressure of 1200 pounds.

The new producer was deepened approximately 1000 feet when the Marine Oil Company took it over from the Apex Oil Company, a Blue Tank group organization. At that time the well showed only a small production, and was killed for redrilling.

Flowing into the sump hole through a partial control for three hours yesterday, the well sputtered the landscape between Orange avenue and Lovelady street for a block north of Willow street.

Production can only be estimated, but operators say the well promises to stand up as the equal of the 5000-barrel Jergins No. 1, and may exceed it. The flow is coming through the casing and the drill pipe. The well is No. 11 on the Marine company's list of producers and drilling jobs.

Survey of Activity

During April 123 new rigs were built in the oil fields of California. The number of wells actively drilling was 812. There were sixty wells completed during the month, with a daily initial production of 117,569 barrels. The number of actual producing wells in the State is 9064 at the present time, but was 9043 in April. The production gain for the whole State showed a monthly increase of 20,164 barrels. With 240 wells actively drilling, the Long Beach field showed the greatest development activity during April. Santa Fe Springs was second with 129 wells drilling. Huntington Beach had 106, Ventura-Newhall has fifty-four, and Midway-Sunset had fifty-two drilling.

Speculating on Result

Oil operators in Southern California are wondering what will happen this week when the Shell cofpany puts its Foster No. 1 on production at Signal Hill.

The company has drilled this well exactly a mile deep. The drill was stopped at 5280 feet Saturday, and the company says it intends to bring the well in some day this week.

According to reports, this is the first well a mile deep that ever turned out to be a producer. It will probably go down in oil history as the deepest producer in the United States. Deeper holes have been drilled—many beyond the 6000-foot line, but they proved to be "dusters."

Unusual interest attaches itself to the outcome of this well's production test for the reason that its neighbor, the Shell's Andrews No. 3, which came in several weeks ago, snorted in with a 30,000-barrel initial production, although it was only down 5050 feet.

Portlanders Get Gusher

A 2500-barrel oil gusher was brought in at 10 p.m. Saturday at Huntington Beach, according to W. R. McDonald, president of the Oil and Gas Company of Oregon, and two additional wells are being sunk as rapidly as possible by the same company under a new lease to be known as the Oregon and California Oil Syndicate. The oil from the new well has a 28-gravity test. The strike was made by a company composed of about forty business men of Portland, led by W. R. McDonald of the W. R. McDonald Insurance Agency of that city; R. W. Schmeer, vice-president of the United States National Bank of Portland; H. B. Werkman, L. H. Jacobsen and Dr. E. B. McDaniel.

Thousands of Juveniles Try to Cross Border Alone

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 21.—Startling figures indicating the growth of the desire among juveniles to visit Tijuana unattended by their parents or guardians were given out today by the office of County Probationer Herbert Sallee. The large majority of juveniles who attempt to cross the line is made up of San Diego boys and girls, according to the report. The work of the county probation office, which has been ably assisted by officials at the bordgr, county traffic officers and others, is of excellent service, it is said.

Since December 10, 1922, when the work got well under way at the border, the records of the county probation office show that from then until the 14th inst. there were turned back from the border a total of 2257 boys and girls who were persuaded not to cross the line alone. The total who went to the border and who either went across or decided to come home were 2368. In this total there were 1479 boys and 889 girls.

LIONS' CLUB FORMED

Oxnard's Young Men Start With Thirty-five

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, May 21.—The Oxnard Lions' Club was formed last evening at a dinner given for the occasion at the community center with a charter membership of thirty-five. Mark Durley, local attorney, was elected president. Many important matters of interest to the newly formed clubs were transacted, including the appointment of several committees, including a float committee for the Fourth of July parade, a membership committee and entertainment committee for the balance of the year.

This club is composed of the younger business and professional men in the community and promises to be one of the real live luncheon clubs of Southern California. Announcements are being made and invitations being set to other similar clubs for the interchange of club courtesies.

JURY IS SELECTED IN WOBBLY TRIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 21.—Selection of a jury occupied the day in the trial of T. J. McDonald, Miles McCabe and Mickey Hurley, charged with criminal syndicalism and accused of being organizers for the I.W.W. The three were indicted last fall. The case went to trial this morning in the court of Superior Judge S. L. Strother.

Preparations are being made for a long fight to convict the three. Officials engaged in the trial believe it may occupy a week or more. Because of other I.W.W. accusations pending here and because of some difficulties met in the past in obtaining convictions in similar cases, unusual interest attaches to the trial.

RAISIN GROWERS STICK TO PLANS

Sales Methods Previously Employed Approved

Fresno County Arranges for New Hospital Unit

School Enrollment Increase Shows Development

FRESNO, May 21.—Decision of the directors of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers that there shall be no change in its method of selling raisins through its division offices has been announced by Managing Director Ralph P. Merritt. This means the association will not return to the system of working through brokers.

Under the corporation's reorganization plan there are fifteen division offices in the United States and five in Canada. There is one in London, covering the entire European sales territory, and one at Shanghai, for China, Japan and the Philippines.

Merritt also announced that clerical work at present being done in these sales division offices will be brought back to the home office at Fresno to as great an extent as possible, presumably in the interest of economy. The move will not, however, according to Merritt, mean a large increase in the Fresno office force.

NEW HOSPITAL PLANNED

A proposal for the first unit of a new building group for the Fresno County General Hospital, to cost $40,000, will be considered by the County Supervisors in making up the budget for the institution this summer.

Announcement to this effect has been made by Dr. Herbert O. Collins, superintendent of the hospital.

The unit, he said, would be used in part to house a clinical department adequate to care for future needs of the community. Only the clinical portion of the building will be completed if the budget request is granted, and the other portions of the structure will remain in shell form until their use as outpatient departments are required.

More than half the patients treated at the present clinics, said Dr. Collins, are from Fresno, but the municipality does not contribute to the cost of maintaining the work. A free clinic it had operated was abandoned by the city last fall, and all work of the sort for the whole community is now done at the county institution.

During the next fiscal year, therefore, the city is to be asked to pay its share of the operating expenses at the general hospital. A conference to consider this request is soon to be held by the City Commission, the County Board of Supervisors, the County Welfare Board and other interested officials.

SCHOOL GROWTH LARGE

Data showing the enrollment in the schools of Fresno county has more than doubled in ten years were made public today by Supt. Clarence W. Edwards. In the 1911-1912 school year the total enrollment was 16,095; in 1921-1922 it was 32,871.

The greatest growth was recorded in the high schools. There were three times as many pupils enrolled in the high schools of the county last year as in 1911-1912, and less than twice as many in the elementary schools.

In the period the figures cover the number of teachers has increased from 490 to 1159. There were seventy-nine high school teachers ten years ago and 373 last year.

PASTOR IS HONORED

REDLANDS, May 21.—Dr. Selden W. Cummings, acting pastor of the Presbyterian Church and member of the faculty of the University of Redlands, who is leaving soon for Europe with Mrs. Cummings, was honored with a reception by the members of the church last night. Dr. Cummings was presented with a purse containing about $100 in gold.

SCHOOL PLANS MAY FESTIVAL

DELANO, May 21.—For the first time in the history of the Delano Grammar School, an elaborate May festival will be presented by the school this year. The date has been set for Friday, and the place will be the high-school lawn. The hour will be 1 o'clock. All parents and friends of the school are cordially invited to attend.

During April a voting contest was held by the grammar school pupils to elect a king and queen to preside over this festival. Edwinna Pearl Clark, an eighth-grade student, was elected queen, while Kyle Austin, a seventh-grade student, was honored by being chosen the king.

Four girls, Mary Bower, Pauline Shrode, Marian Doty and Lorine Silva have been selected as Queen Edwinna's attendants and Harold Shuck, Edward Smith, Thomas Wilson and Leo Reed will attend King Lyle.

Pat Moore will act as the king's page and will carry the pillow on which Edwinna will kneel while she is being crowned by Mary Bower.

Little Rebecca Tuttle will be the train bearer for the queen. Violet Kruse, Ruth Blank, Marcel Calloway and Lillian Swanson will form a group of pretty flower girls. The royal group will be attractively gowned and with their bright garlands will make a pleasing picture.

POLKA REHEARSED

Many pretty dances are being rehearsed under the direction of Miss Minnie Belle Stone, musical instructor at the grammar school. Some of the dances will be "I See You Dance," and "Children's Dance" in which Harold Thompson, Lee Arbogast, John Cruz, Pauline Masterson, Kathleen Cave, Violet Swanson, Matta Finn, Vera James, Marian Buck, William Burchett, Chris Chroman and Paul Bernhard will take part.

"Gustavas Toast," children's polka, will be given by Esther Bassett, Mabel Smith, Annie Pearl Hughes, Lucille Pile, Aline Devoto, Victoria Girard, Elvera Silva, Catherine Ames, Josephine Girard and Dorothy Brown.

"The Ace of Diamonds," a Swedish dance, will be given by Wilma Harris, Alice Masterson, Celeste Downing, Marion Doty, Bernice Fielder, Evelyn Whitten, Quina Trueblood, Dorothy Smith, Hilda Girard, Dorothy Moss, Phoebe Hiett and Edna Scott.

REEL AND MAYPOLE

A Maypole dance will be given by Esther Bassett, Mabel Smith, Ruth Blank, Marie Shuck, Annie Pearl Hughes, Lucille Pile, Aline Devoto, Victoria Girard, Elvera Silva, Catherine Ames, Josephine Girard and Dorothy Brown.

The program of music for the festival will include: Song, "Welcome, Sweet Springtime," by sixth seventh and eighth grade pupils; readings (a) "Hats," (b) "The Whistling Boy," Thelma Ammons; piano duet by Inez Goding and Virginia Ames; piano duet by Margaret Branch and Inez Goding; song, "Off to the woods," by the fifth and sixth grade girls; "Festival March" (grand parade) Beulah McGinnis.

The program will close with a grand march of all participants about the lawn. The boy's band will give selections before the opening of the festival program and at the close.

Barrage From Washington

"Did you ever ask a favor of your Congressman?"

"Once," said Mr. Grumpson. "He fathered some legislation that was displeasing to me and I asked him to do me the favor of resigning."

"He didn't oblige you, of course?"

"No, but he's been franking his speeches to me ever since, and I am sorry now that I made him aware of my existence."—[From the Birmingham Age-Herald.

HARBOR NEEDS WEEKS' THEME

Points Out Requirements in Way of Defense

Secretary of War Digresses to Voice Views

Rapid Growth of Port Noted at Chamber Banquet

Los Angeles Harbor is inadequate to handle the tremendously increasing traffic that passes through it, according to Secretary of War John W. Weeks in an address made last night before the Chamber of Commerce at the Ambassador.

"And it is apparent that Los Angeles should have a suitable defense as far as the means of Congress will permit," he added. "I earnestly hope that these matters will be given serious consideration at the next convening of Congress."

The War Secretary's reference to the Harbor was incidental to his scheduled address on the peacetime activities of the Army, the subject which brought him and the Congressional party of five Senators and twenty-one Congressmen to the Pacific Coast to study at first hand the needs of the Pacific Coast. His statement on the Harbor needs were voluntarily made, though Congressman-elect John D. Fredericks, in his address of introduction, had informed the Congressional party that Los Angeles asks nothing of Congress, that the development of the city of Los Angeles is not a government job.

KNOW MERITS OF COAST

"We are not unaware of the merits of this Coast," said Secretary Weeks, "or of the Pacific ports, or the trend of population to the westward. We know well the advantages of climate, of trade and of production here."

Regarding rivers and harbors development, the Secretary stated that the public press often flays appropriations for such projects as pork-barrel propositions.

"I don't deny that some money is expended unwisely for river and creek development, but I do not know of any money that is or ever has been expended wastefully and unwisely on harbor development by Congress," he continued. "Los Angeles Harbor is a port of vast interest to the country, as great an interest to distant districts as it is to Los Angeles."

FREDERICKS'S TALK

The matters upon which Congressman-elect Fredericks, in his introductory address asked the Congressional party to consider concerned the flood control of the Colorado River to accommodate the westward trek of civilization. He told of the growth of Los Angeles and of its harbor, of the increasing population. He declared that during the last three months the intercoastal traffic in Los Angeles Harbor was greater than that of any other port in the United States, and 1,000,000 tons greater than that of any other Pacific port.

"It is your harbor," Mr. Frederi-

WEEKS VIEWS PIGMY ARMY

Officers at Fort MacArthur Emphasize Need for Men to Man Guns Guarding Coast Line

Fort MacArthur's pigmy army—240 coast artillerymen who are doing the work of 900 men at the Los Angeles Harbor defenses—passed in review before Secretary of War Weeks and his Congressional party yesterday morning. The review and official inspection of the lower and upper reservations of Fort MacArthur were made shortly after the War Secretary's arrival here for a visit of two days.

From the heights of the fortifications the distinguished legislators viewed the harbor. They were told by Congressman-elect Fredericks of the needs of an extended breakwater to protect the increasing shipping, a protecting wall that should be extended for at least three miles toward Long Beach. They were escorted through the magazines and the emplacements of the fort, said to be the best defense unit on either of the coasts of the United States.

NEEDS OF POST TOLD

But Secretary Weeks and the statesmen learned from the post officers that Fort MacArthur is sadly in need of the necessary quota of men to handle the big fourteen-inch rifles that guard the gateway to Los Angeles.

The entire personnel of Fort MacArthur of 240 men, including thirteen officers, were reviewed. As the post has been deprived of its band, a band was borrowed for the occasion. And the Secretary learned that the nation's finest coast fortification is being manned by a group of men smaller in numbers than a single war-strength company of infantry. He was told that 900 men are required to keep the guns up to their peacetime efficiency and that the war strength should be 1700 men.

ONE-FIFTH ENOUGH

"We have only men enough to man one-fifth of the fortifications," said one Army official. "Though the policy of the War Department appears to be to cut down the artillery forces, it is a certainty that future wars are to be fought by mobile artillery. Therefore, the artillery, above all other branches of the service, should be maintained at least up to peace-time strength. The artillery should not be sacrificed for the interests of lesser services."

The post barracks, administration building and hospital were also visited, but the Secretary of War learned that they were sparsely occupied.

"Fort MacArthur should have more men," members of the Congressional party were told. "We want nothing more. We have the guns, the emplacements and all the equipment of one of the finest harbor defenses in the world. All we want is men."

REQUEST MODEST

It was one of the least requests yet asked of the War Secretary on his coast-to-coast tour of inspection. Other localities have appealed for expenditures of millions of dollars for guns and new fortifications. These were not mentioned at Fort MacArthur yesterday.

Secretary Weeks and the members of the Senate and Congress accompanying him arrived at Los Angeles Harbor at 6 a.m. aboard the U.S. Transport Grant, after a two days' visit at San Diego.

A reception committee from the Chamber of Commerce met them at the Submarine Base, accompanying the distinguished party on the tour of the harbor defenses. After being escorted to the Hotel Ambassador, the Congressional party scattered into small groups

INDUSTRIAL SHOW GETS UNDER WAY

Exhibits of More Than 100 National Manufacturers on Display at Park

The new show includes exhibits from 127 national manufacturers, according to Waldo T. Tupper, its president, and will enable business men of Southern California to consult with experts in their particular line. It will last six days with a special program for each day.

Yesterday was commercial students day. Today will be a session for executives only, Wednesday for office managers, Thursday for executives again, Friday for purchasing agents, when 425 Southern California purchasing agents are expected to attend in a body, and Saturday for the California State School typewriting contests, in which it is hoped to surpass last year's record here of 101 entries.

A system of uniform booth construction has been employed for the show which gives the smaller exhibitors an equal chance with the larger, and because of the design of the booths, it is possible to obtain clear view of the entire exhibit from any point within the large tent.

LAST RITES FOR NEPHEW OF OIL KING

Frank Jenkins, Kin of John D. Rockefeller, is to be Buried Here Today

Funeral services for Frank D. Jenkins, 69 years of age, nephew of John D. Rockefeller, and a resident of Los Angeles for fifteen years, who died Saturday at his home, 4511 East First street, will be conducted today at 2:30 p.m., at the chapel of the Wilshire Undertaking Company, 717 West Washington street. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Jenkins was a native of Ohio. Since moving to Los Angeles he had been engaged in various restaurant businesses.

Mr. Jenkins leaves a widow, Mrs. Ada C. Jenkins, two daughters, Reathel C. Jenkins and Mrs. Kathryn F. Engelhan, and a son, Albert L. Jenkins, all of Los Angeles.

CITY BOWS AT MUSIC THRONE

Concerts in Observance of Week Largely Attended

Bands in City Parks Draw Many Hundred

Splendid Recital Programs Scheduled Today

With industrial singing festivals, club and teachers' programs, and concerts by municipal bands and the Symphony Club, directed by Ilya Bronson, in the parks, Music Week moved on a pace yesterday. The various melodic affairs were typical of that broad spirit which characterizes community events, and devoted now and again to the more artistic harmony.

The Symphony Club, which numbers seventy musicians, played to a large audience which gathered in Pershing Square beneath Japanese lanterns festooned from a large telegraph pole over the bandstand. The quiet spell of the music proved decidedly appealing to the auditors, whereas the busy hum of mid-day was broken in on by the resounding brass of the Venice and Santa Monica bands, conducted by Francesco Ferullo and A. Tommasino.

ELKS' BAND PLEASES

At Westlake Park, the Los Angeles Elks No. 99 band, with Dr. E. M. Hiner directing, pleased a large portion of the public at an evening concert and was especially enjoyed by those who rowed and canoed on the lake.

The industrial music concerts were given by the Union Tool Glee Club, the Southern California Edison Company, and the Pacific Electric chorus and band.

An address on "better music" was given by Mrs. J. J. Carter at the Electric Club luncheon at the Alexandria ball room, together with voice, violin and piano selections. Original compositions by Gertrude Ross were heard at a concert at Ebell Club in the afternoon.

Vocal pupils of Alma Stetsler sang at Egan School, and other events included drum corps and song program by the Veterans' Union; a festival musical service by the Temple Emanuel Choir, with Gage Christopher directing, at the Wilshire Presbyterian Church; presentation of Haydn's oratorio "The Creation" by the music section of the Catholic Woman's Club, with Thomas Taylor Drill as conductor, and Mrs. Thomas J. Murphy, Dr. Wilford E. Green and J. Ben Wheatley as soloists; piano solos featuring Constance Janet Shirley, child pianist, at the Santa Monica Boulevard School auditorium; community singing at Horne's Dancing Academy; an effective faculty recital at the Zoellner Conservatory of Music, with the Zoellner Quartet, Frances Marion Ralston, Anne McPherson and Dona Ghrey taking part; and a song recital by Gladys Hill, soprano, which pleased many.

Band concerts, club and school programs will vie today from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. in parks, stores and schools throughout the city.

In Pershing Square, Hollenbeck and Westlake parks, band concerts will be given by Grauman's Theater orchestra, the California Theater orchestra, the Hollywood American Legion Band and Little's concert band. Musical programs will be rendered almost continuously throughout the day.

Programs for today follow in detail:

TUNNEL IS TO BE DONE IN AUGUST

Second-Street Bore Work Goes Along Rapidly After Years of Trouble

The Second-street tunnel will be opened to vehicular traffic about August 15, City Engineer Griffin announced yesterday, or two years and four months since the first shovelful of earth was taken out at Second and Figueroa streets on April 11, 1921. Under the contract held by John Hayes the tunnel should have been completed last July.

There were various troubles, including difficulties between the participants in the contract, then physical troubles occurred due to the excavators encountering old sewer lines and to rains, and lately there has been a shortage of brick for lining the tunnel. But in the last year rapid progress has been made. Most of the tunnel is excavated and lined and only parts of the core remain to be removed. This will be done rapidly by steam shovels, and the tunnel will be paved.

Engineer Griffin said that he would oppose the tunnel being used by the railway company as originally planned, as traffic, he said, had increased to the point where every foot of the roadway space was needed for vehicles. To date the Los Angeles Railway Company has made no application to lay tracks in the tunnel.

City Planning Experts Vote to Meet Here

The national conference for city planning will meet in Los Angeles next spring, Assistant City Attorney Whitehead and Deputy City Engineer Prince announced yesterday upon their return from Baltimore, Md. where thye attended the annual convention of the organization as delegates from this city.

The convention, they said, will bring to the city hundreds of planning experts from almost every city in the country. During their trip East, both Mr. Whitehead and Mr. Prince inspected traffic conditions in large cities. In Chicago, they said, the situation arising from traffic congestion has been met effectively and automobiles on Michigan Boulevard are allowed to travel at the rate of forty miles an hour.

St. Louis, they said, has just voted a $80,000,000-bond issue for the city's beautification nad for the construction of a civic center such as is planned here.

ARTHUR LETTS LAID TO REST

Final Rites Conducted by Knights Templar

Boy Scouts Pay Tribute to Philanthropist

Body Placed in Family Tomb in Hollywood

Amid the flowers and trees he loved so well the body of Arthur Letts was laid to rest yesterday afternoon in the quiet confines of the family mausoleum in Hollywood Cemetery.

Following private services at Holmby House, at which only relatives and a few personal friends were present, last rites were conducted at the cemetery by Los Angeles Commandery No. 9, Knights Templar, in the presence of thousands of persons who had assembled there to pay tribute to the great philanthropist.

The services at the home were conducted by Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, Episcopal bishop of Los Angeles. After he had read several beautiful passages from the Scriptures, Mrs. L. J. Selby sang "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." The spacious veranda outside was filled with floral pieces from relatives, friends and employees of the merchant prince, and through a narrow path between rows of the elaborate offerings the pallbearers moved with the silver-trimmed casket.

ACTIVE PALLBEARERS

The active pallbearers were: Harry G. R. Philp, John G. Bullock, Herbert M. Bigelow, William Y. Smither, Harry Carroll, William A. Holt, Arthur Strasburger and William O. Sampson.

Almost a dozen large automobile trucks, filled to overflowing with flowers, followed the hearse as the procession moved slowly through the grounds of the estate. The long line of vehicles moved along Franklin avenue to Mariposa avenue, thence to Santa Monica Boulevard to the cemetery.

As the funeral cortege entered the gates of the cemetery 200 Boy Scouts, commanded by E. B. De-Groot, Scout executive of the Los Angeles council, stiffened to attention. Behind them members of the Los Angeles Commandery No. 9, Knights Templar, dressed in full regalia, the white plumes of their headgear fluttering in the breeze, raised their slender swords in salute, wheeled, and marched solemnly at the head of the procession.

MASONIC LAST RITES

Arriving at the Letts mausoleum, which is set in a secluded nook bordered by flowers and shrubbery, the Knights and Boy Scouts assembled in a body around the sides of the tomb. The flower-laden casket was borne to the center of the opening, along the sides of

MULTITUDE HONORS LETTS

Floral Tributes and Messages of Condolence Received From Every Part of Country

So great was the fame achieved by Arthur Letts in humanitarian as well as commercial endeavors that floral tributes to his memory were received at Holmby House in Hollywood from almost every section of the United States. Every department of the great mercantile institution he founded—the Broadway Department Store—joined in sending offerings. Hundreds of Los Angeles business concerns, stores and shops were among the army of those who paid respect to his memory.

The silver-trimmed casket was covered with a blanket of orchids, while at the head, inscribed in roses, was the word "Granddaddy," a tribute from his grandchildren. Arthur Letts's children—Mrs. Malcolm McNaghten, Mrs. Harold Janss and Arthur Letts, Jr.—contributed the blanket of orchids. The pillow came from his grandchildren, of whom there are six—Jane and Ann McNaghten, Malcolm McNaghten, Jr., and Betty, Virginia and Gladys Janss.

HONORED BY EMPLOYEES

Employees of Bullock's, of which Mr. Letts was the head, presented a broken column of white carnations, red roses and orchids, on which was mounted a snow-white dove with wings outspread. All of the department managers of the Broadway Department Store sent floral pieces, as did the employees of every department in the establishment.

Tabulations of all offerings had not been completed last night. A partial list of those received from the various sections of the Broadway Department Store follows:

LIST OF OFFERINGS

Delivery and traffic departments, harp of sweet peas and roses.

Main office, wreath of roses and sweet peas.

Departments 29 and 31, loving cup of pink and white carnations, filled with red roses.

POWER PLANS DEALT BLOW

High Court Refuses to Review City's Right to Condemn Owens River Property

The United States Supreme Court yesterday declined to review the right of the city of Los Angeles to condemn the property of the Southern Sierra Power Company on Owens River, near Long Valley reservoir, for use in increasing water and power resources.

The Supreme Court decision strikes a probably fatal blow so far as the courts are concerned at the efforts of the Los Angeles Municipal Bureau of Power and Light to secure hydroelectric power at the expense of the outside communities and follows closely upon a similar defeat of the Power Bureau at the hands of the Legislature, when the Lyon bill was killed in committee.

STATUS UNCHANGED

For years the power Bureau has been seeking to condemn a tract of land for hydroelectric power development purposes in the Owens River Valley belonging to the Southern Sierra Power Company. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the Power Bureau's condemnation suit was illegal, and the decision of the Supreme Court upheld the action of the Circuit Court, the Supreme Court declining to review the Circuit Court's decision.

The only hope that the power bureau now has of getting this land away from the power company, which serves Riverside and other outside communities, is through legislation, and for this purpose the Power Bureau introduced into the Legislature this year the Lyon bill, which would have given the Bureau the right to condemn any power land in any part of the State. This is the bill which was killed through the united opposition of the outside communities.

ACTION RESENTED

It was through the introduction of the Lyon bill, which raised such a storm of resentment against Los Angeles, that the Legislature killed reapportionment, which Southern California desired.

On the case which was ended yesterday by the Supreme Court decision, the Power Bureau has spent thousands of dollars of its revenue, including services of special attorneys; $50,000 which was deposited by the Bureau when the appeals were taken and expensive tunnels and other engineering work which was done near Long Valley in the Owens River district in the expectation that the Power Bureau would win its fight to condemn Southern Sierra Power Company's land.

Telegrams continued to pour in upon the members of the Letts family yesterday. Malcolm McNaghten, son-in-law of the merchant, received the following from the San Francisco Council, Boy Scouts of America:

FROM BOY SCOUTS

"We extend to you and other members of family our deepest sympathy in the loss of Mr. Arthur Letts. His well-known public spirit and his devotion to cause of Boy Scout movement have been an inspiration and a means of great encouragement to all who have been actively interested in the training of a better citizenship. Surely the splendid influence of his leadership will continue to permeate the activities of scouting for years to come.

"SAN FRANCISCO COUNCIL, BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA.

LARGE JUMP MADE IN OIL PRODUCTION

Increase in California for 1922 is 23,739,632 Barrels Over Previous Year

Production of petroleum in California during 1922 represented an increase of 23,739,632 barrels over that of the previous year, according to the annual report issued yesterday by R. L. Collom, State oil and gasoline supervisor.

The total production in 1922 was 138,236,490 barrels, as compared with 114,496,850 in 1921. The gasoline output of the State last year was 693,497,748 gallons.

Commenting on the increase in production, the report said:

"The gain of about 24,000,000 barrels in the production of petroleum is attributable to the rapid and intensive development of the Huntington Beach, Long Beach and Santa Fe Springs oil fields in Los Angeles and Orange counties."

ARRESTED TWICE IN WEEK ON RUM CHARGE

For the second time within a week, Roy Langdon of 822 North Vermont avenue, Hollywood, is scheduled for arraignment in a Los Angeles Police Court on a charge of violating the Wright Act by transporting liquor. Langdon was first arrested by Detective Lieutenant Canto and Officer Stange of the Hollywood division at Vermont avenue and Los Feliz Boulevard. At that time, according to the police, he had in his possession two gallons of liquor. He was released on $250 bail.

Late Saturday night, after a chase of more than three miles during which several shots were fired, one of them puncturing a rear tire on his machine, Langdon was arrested by Officers Freeman, Heintzelman and Hawes, also of the Hollywood police division. He is said to have had ten gallons of liquor in the rear of his car.

Langdon was released early Sunday morning under $1000 bail.

TWO ARE SHOT IN BANDIT RAID

started on foot, as was customary, walking north to the Eleventh-street corner and then west along the south side of Eleventh street. He was on his way to the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank at Fourth and Spring streets.

Four or five doors from the corner, on Eleventh street, he was startled to see a touring car containing five men draw up to the curb and two of them alight. They presented revolvers quickly, and as quickly snatched the satchel which Antink had in his right hand, at the same time giving him a shove which sent him reeling back against the wall. Then they jumped back into the car, which drove off swiftly toward the east.

Antink drew his automatic pistol and began firing. He saw glass fly from the windshield and one of the robbers turned and fired at him, striking him in the arm. He raised the wounded arm again and continued to fire, though staggered by a second bullet which struck him in the breast. He emptied his pistol and had the satisfaction of seeing the driver of the car flinch.

Detective Captain Home said he believed the hold-up was perpetrated by members of the so-called "Rifle and Shotgun Gang" which has taken part in several recent robberies.

BANK IS ROBBED

In the first robbery of the day two men walked into the Hollywood branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, 5105 Hollywood Boulevard, at noon. One remained in the lobby. The other stepped up to the teller's window and presented a $10 bill which he asked to have changed into $1 bills.

A. J. Oechsel, manager of the branch, was behind the cage. He took the $10 bill and was counting out the change when he heard the command of "hands up."

He looked up and saw the muzzle of a blue-steel revolver pointing directly at him. The bandit was nervous and the hand which held the weapon trembled. A canvas bag was shoved through the window and the manager commanded to place all the money on the counter in it. He complied, placing approximately $2000 in currency and silver in the sack, which he returned to the bandit. The latter then demanded that the manager open the safe and give him the money which it contained.

DECEIVES BANDITS

The safe was closed but not locked. Mr. Oechsel, however, told the bandit that the safe was operated by a time lock and could not be opened before late in the afternoon. The bandit then turned on his heel and walked out, being joined by his companion at the door. They entered a dilapidated Ford touring car parked at the curbing and drove away west on Hollywood Boulevard, turning toward Franklin avenue after traveling a block.

The robbery was witnessed by Miss Zuma Hansen, L. D. Pethe, teller at the bank, and Nellie Mann and Eleanor Webster, two Salvation Army girls, who had a booth in the bank, and were soliciting funds in the Salvation Army drive which is now in progress.

LEAVE ARMY FUNDS

They were forced to stand with their arms in the air while the bandit was receiving the money from the branch manager. As the desperadoes were leaving the bank they stepped up to the Salvation Army booth and attempted to take the money collected by the two women. Miss Webster, however, spoke up and told the two bandits that the money was to be used for a charitable purpose. She pleaded with them to leave it. They did so, presenting her with a $1 bill.

"The police are doing everything possible to apprehend these bandits, and will use every resource to run them down, but we disclaim responsibility unless business men take more precautions to safeguard their money," declared Captain of Detectives George K. Home last night.

"The people of Los Angeles should realize the danger from idle men who won't work who are now in the city.

"The Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and other business organizations should confer with the insurance companies and agree to more protective measures. They should take the ordinary and common-sense precautions — as they are doing in the East.

"Firms should not trust large sums of money to lone men, no matter how trusted, because they are easy targets for the bandits.

"Armored cars should be used in transporting large sums about the city. Bankers should caution their customers about dangers from criminals who make so bold as to shoot victims on crowded streets in broad daylight and in plain sight of hundreds of persons—and escape.

"The police cannot watch each person that comes to this city. Our detectives are doing all they can to cope with the situation, but they must have closer co-operation from the genral public."

JEWELRY STOLEN

Jewelry valued at $5000 was obtained by daylight burglars who entered the home of Mrs. R. L. Spencer, 915 Carondolet street, yesterday, according to a report to Detective Lieutenants Murphy and Ritch. Entrance was believed to have been gained by use of a passkey. The plunder confisted of three diamond rings and other jewelry, Mrs. Spencer reported.

CREAMERY SAFE RIFLED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 21.—Yeggs broke into the office of the Crescent Creamery Company at Anaheim street and Daisy avenue early this morning, rolled the safe out into a waiting automobile, rifled it and then left it in a vacant lot at Hill street and Gale avenue. The amount obtained by the thieves could not be learned, as Earl Harper, manager of the creamery, does not know exactly how much money was in the safe and declines to make an estimate.

It is the second time yeggs have entered the company's offices and carried off the safe.

and were guests on automobile rides through the city.

HARBOR INSPECTED

Secretary Weeks and his party arrived at Long Beach yesterday afternoon from Los Angeles Harbor for an inspection of the harbor there and a visit to the Signal Hill oil field. The party of notables was escorted about the city by Mayor Buffum and a group of city officials.

They were met at Long Beach by a welcoming party composed of Lynn W. Ballard, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Long Beach, Congressman Lineberger, Councilman Frank Downs and F. B. Dow. After visiting Signal Hill the party returned to Los Angeles Harbor.

HARBOR NEEDS WEEKS THEME

licks told the Congressmen and Senators, "one of the greatest open doors to Pacific trade concerning which we ask you to inform yourselves."

In explaining the purpose of the pilgrimage of the largest group of Congressional representatives to the Pacific Coast, Secretary Weeks denied it was a "junket." He said that all members of the party are paying their own expenses, that it is a tour of inspection of the activities under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of War being made by members of the Senate and House Committees on Appropriations and Military Affairs; that the members of the Committee on Territories are making the trip to better acquaint themselves with the needs of the great Pacific possessions.

PRIMARY OBJECT

He said the primary object of the trip, and the most important one, is to give the members of the committees of the Senate and the House, who must pass on legislation affecting the Army and provide the appropriations necessary to its maintenance, the information necessary to assist them in solving the problems of national defense.

He referred to the peace-time Army as a profit-sharing enterprise for the nation.

"The Army has no wish to promote war," he said, "but it has a clear conception how to keep peace. It does many things in peace time. Its actual upkeep represents an inconsiderable cost to the taxpayer. I believe that Los Angeles should be susceptible to common-sense economic arguments. A city which has had the marvelous expansion of this one must recognize that progress is inimical to inertia; that success comes only through aggressive endeavor, and that the fruits of success must be protected not only against external coercion but also against those who from within preach the doctrine of passive surrender.

SOME HISTORY

"A little more than fifty years ago a project was adopted for a ten-foot channel at the mouth of the Los Angeles River, to enable barges to communicate with ships in the exposed roadbed. Thirty years later your far-sighted citizens conceived the daring idea of creating for your city a real harbor. It was looked upon with amusement. Within twenty years that dream has been accomplished and the harbor of Los Angeles is a fact, with an operating water front many miles in length. A considerable part of the actual work of this project was performed by Army engineers. It is they who have continued the work of development and have protected the harbor against silt by constructing the diversion channel, which carries the flood waters directly to the sea.

"They have enlarged the neighboring port of San Diego. In assisting you during peace they were preparing themselves for their work in war—for the supervision of the vast engineering project of the American Army in France."

OPENED LANDS

The building of roads and trails, bridges and canals, the conducting of surveys and the preparation of maps necessary to the opening of new lands, which encouraged and assisted the pioneers in their development and westward expansion.

The construction and operation of the earlier railroads, linking western outposts with eastern civilization.

The transcontinental system of railroads, demanded by the economic growth of the country and leading to the unification of the greatest civilization which the world has ever known.

CANAL REVENUE

"The tolls, collected by our government, which the canal has brought, have steadily increased to over a $1,800,000 each month," Secretary Weeks declared. "Seventy-five lines of shipping, serving the great trade areas of the world, ply through this great water way. The equipment of the Panama Canal as a base for fueling, supply and repair is complete. It is incidentally a military asset of great importance. Its use increases our naval power at least 50 per cent, although its total cost is no more than the cost of ten modern battleships, which would be doomed to obsolescence in twenty years. All that we need is an increased support for its defensive project, to make this keypoint not only a tremendous economic asset, but a source of national strength.

"The corps of engineers of the Army have recently undertaken another important project of examination of port terminal facilities in our great harbors. Because of the antiquated terminal facilities in many ports, the economy of waterway transport is largely absorbed by transfer. Communities are receiving very valuable assistance through the reports of the engineers on their systems. And the Army engineers report the terminal facilities in the harbors of the Pacific Coast to be far more up to date than in any other section of the country.

SPIRIT OF PROGRESS

"The Army engineers inform me there is an unequaled spirit of progress in this important direction in your own city of Los Angeles. It was this report of your economic judgment that finally influenced me to come before the citizens of this city with this essentially economic consideration of our defensive problems."

He outlined other accomplishments of Army engineers as follows:

They constructed most of the country's lighthouses.

They conducted the famous lake survey.

They have built many of the finest buildings in Washington.

A former engineer officer, who had a big part in the early development of Los Angeles Harbor, is the head of the chemical warfare service.

Army men have diverted the deadly uses of wartime gases to the extermination of diseases, rodents, insects and criminals, and for the protection of firemen and miners.

"The air service is fully occupied with the development of commercial aviation, the protection of forests and preparation for defense, in addition to activity against pests.

"The Army initiated our steel industry, guided it through its early development," he continued. "The motor-truck and tractor industries owe their development to the standardization of military transportation and the development of the tank. The signal corps played a major part in the development of our telegraph systems.

"The ordnance department has greatly aided general manufacturing processes.

PLEADS FOR ARMY

"The Army left its seal of Americanism upon our possessions, where we have built roads, railroads, schools and churches. We brought freedom and civilization to Cuba. The medical corps has eliminated plagues in the tropics, and all of its work has bearing on the health of America.

"The Army first organized the Weather Bureau. The War Department is one of the greatest administrative schools in the country.

"Yet we are reduced proportionately below the military strength allowed Germany. Ours is the smallest army among the great powers. The percentage of total budget spent for military purposes is also smaller in our case, except for Germany.

"If we were prepared for war in proportion to our population we should have an army of more than 1,000,000 men, yet we actually have only about 118,000.

"We now have a system of national defense which enables us to maintain the smallest Regular Army. The essential parts of our new system cannot be neglected. It is necessary to maintain an efficient National Guard. It is important to develop the Organized Reserves.

"Americans need not be afraid of militarism so long as their own hearts are set against war. They need have no fear of the growth of a militaristic class as long as they have an interest in national defense. They should, however, be on their guard against the dangers of going too far in their desire for peace."

Announcing 7 VITAL

By Edward Hooke, College, Penn. Portland, Ore. March 27, 1923

My dear Mr. Hooke:

You present a very interesting question when you ask WHY the WEST-MADE desk has been so successful and so quickly accepted by the trade on the Pacific Coast.

The answer is that WEST-MADE Desks incorporate most all of these 7 vital items:

1. The Top Test
2. The Scratch and Dent Test
3. The Convenience Test
4. The Efficiency Test
5. The Construction Test
6. The Beauty Test
7. The Price Test

By showing the public the advantages of the one scientific method of buying desks, they have automatically, by a process of elimination, chosen WEST-MADES.

In future advertisements, we will discuss each of these "seven vital tests."

Mid-Summer
A Fashionable Season

Once upon a time mid-summer was a season when the smart ensemble was set aside until autumn. More and more fastidious women are coming to consider midsummer a fashionable season in itself.

In recognition of this—Bullock's fashion sections present a collection of street and afternoon types—new frocks for midsummer at $49.50.

Frocks of smoky gray Georgette and many slender plaitings. Frocks of plaited aprons. Frocks with bustle sashes. Cool Georgettes and pussy-willow silks.

Mid-summer frocks predict an autumn vogue for satin and flounces. Mid-summer frocks decide that the way to be smartest now is to anticipate the smart season to come.

Black satin—and flounces! For the debutante, the young matron! In Frocks at $39.50!

$3.95 $5.00 $6.95

—This is one of three styles in white Dimity. It is trimmed with narrow colored piping and has monogram.

There is also a Peter Pan style trimmed with drawn work and lace edging.

A V neck style with colored monogram and piping of linen is another adjunct to this distinctive group at the low price of $3.95.

—Introducing the group at $5.00 is this Voile blouse with lace and drawn work. One with three others similarly trimmed but with different necklines. All hand made.

Two other styles are in Handkerchief Linen in French blue, laurel green, orchid and maize, both of them monogrammed in white as summer demands —grouped at $5.00 each.

—Illustrating a charming little Overblouse of Handkerchief Linen that is available in French blue, rose, green, orchid and maize — there is another style with Peter Pan collar — monogrammed, of course. At $6.95.

This group also includes an overblouse of white French Voile trimmed with filet and narrow Val. laces. Also at $6.95.

—These Blouses are all adaptations of the Balkan idea — they are ideal for Southern Summers and resort occasions. They will go on sale today at Bullock's Third Floor. The numbers are limited. The sizes include 34 to 44.

3000 Yds. Fine Nainsook 35c

—Very fine weave in two weights, woven of finest Sea Island cotton yarns.

—One weight is the well-known Egyptian Nainsook, fine, soft, silky of finish and closely woven. The other is the Wamsutta Nainsook, more sheer in weave.

—All of it 36 inches wide and constitutes an exceptional May value in White Cotton at 35c yard. Bullock's Second Floor.

Prices of 15c, 35c, 85c and $1.95 Take Possession of Embroideries

IN ONION IS STRENGTH

It is said that the late Sarah Bernhardt used to retire for two weeks each year and live on garlic. There is no denying that garlic will give strength to anyone.

ON THE SLAB

A Gaelic authority says that the so-called Turkish bath was in usage in Ireland before Turkey had her first pin feathers. It will probably be discovered that Sattar Dagh, who was before Brian Boru, was the first Knight of the Bath. It is certain that a good many Irish patriots found themselves in hot water most of the time.

BANISHMENT ASKED

The private citizen who demands that President Harding oust Gov. Smith from the executive chair at Albany is asking some ouster. Even the President of the United States cannot remove a Governor by writing him a postal card. It is doubtful whether even Harding, Hughes and Hoover, the efficient board of the administration, could expatriate Al Smith, even if they had a raft ready.

CATEGORICALLY SPEAKING

The new Italian Premier received a delegation from the convention of the International Women's Alliance with great cordiality. Before his acquisition of power he had been opposed to equal suffrage. Now he promises that the women of Italy will receive the franchise by categories. Carrie Chapman Catt was the head of the visiting delegation. She had just returned from cataloging the wonders of the catacombs, but gracefully accepted the Premier's cattish qualification.

TALKING SPANISH

More than four-fifths of the colleges and universities of the country are now teaching Spanish and some of the larger institutions have over 2000 students who can ask for Castile soap in the language of the Dons. Spanish has already taken the place of German with those who wish to dabble in one or two continental tongues. It has a romantic literature behind it and is also now found very serviceable in a business way. It would be well if every Californian had a working knowledge of the tongue of old Madrid.

CUTTING A MELON

Down in Imperial Valley it looks like a picnic of the League of Nations. The cantaloupe harvest there is being handled by pickers and packers from Japan, China, Korea, India, Mexico and the Philippines. The American workers find the sun too warm in the heat of the day and it takes the toilers from the Orient to take care of the crops. Although the planting this year was nearly 3000 acres less than last in the melon belt, it will take more than 12,000 freight cars to handle the crop and work for the next month will be at high pressure. Guess how many melons you can get into 12,000 freight cars and it will furnish a conception of the task ahead.

ON THE SKYLINE

London is scandalized over the project of building a tower-like structure in that city which shall rise to a height of 600 feet. The British capital is not used to skyscrapers. New York has its Woolworth Building and several others rising to 700 feet and more, but in London a six-story building is considered high enough for any lawful purpose. The Britons stick pretty close to the ground. Paris has its Eiffel Tower, although there are no tall buildings in the French capital. But, aside from the dome of St. Paul's, the London skyline is dull and squat. Hence there has been much discussion over the plan to raise a real tower. All the artists and bookmen seem to be opposed to it. The Londoners do not take readily to innovations—especially when they stick up 600 feet in the air.

THE IDLE POOR

One of the directors in the United States Employment Bureau says that there are over 2,000,000 men in the country who never work. These are not the sons of wealth, to whom labor is nonessential, but men who ought to work for their own support. They prefer poverty with idleness above a competence with toil. They form the shiftless and irresponsible portion of our national handicap. According to the government observers practically the whole land is at high industrial pitch. In all but four States of the Union there is less unemployment than at any time since the war. If labor could be handled through a great clearinghouse it would be found that there is work of some proper kind for every man in the country. But the 2,000,000 are still idle. They make it a rite to refuse every job offered. The hours are either too long or else the wage inadequate. Some excuse will be found to keep them from the files of industry. It is largely because of this shifty group that some of the industries are constrained to ask a laxity in the immigration laws to permit the admission of more foreign labor. There should be plenty of it in the land, but through the perversity of the idlers an apparent shortage is disclosed.

A STAGGERING SCHEME

Undismayed by the defeat of their $500,000,000 State Water and Power Act last November the radical public-ownership advocates are asking the voters of Los Angeles at the June 5 city election to hand them $35,000,000 with which to embark upon some gigantic but unspecified hydro-electric power development.

Taking advantage of the fact that the United States government under the leadership of Secretary of Commerce Hoover is planning to build a dam at Boulder Canyon for the control of the Colorado River and to be paid for by the sale of hydro-electric energy generated there and distributed on a fair, impartial basis to all of the communities of the Southwest, the Public Service Commission, led by the little coterie of municipal ownership jobbists, has conceived the notion that Los Angeles should build the dam and reap the profits, shutting out everybody else. The improvement will cost about $120,000,000 and at first it was planned to ask the voters on June 5 for $55,000,000. But the very mention of this amount was received with such vigorous expressions of disapproval, even by members of Dr. Haynes's "Public Power League," that reluctantly the Public Service Commission reduced the amount of the bond issue to $35,000,000, of which $25,000,000 would be for a start at Boulder Canyon. With the city dam started the scheme is to ask for $55,000,000 more in 1925 and then $40,000,000 more in 1927 and by that time, if the city of Los Angeles is not in the Sheriff's hands and its affairs in the bankruptcy court, new demands for more money can be thought up for extending the city's power system to Niagara Falls and possibly to the inland waters of New England.

When they submitted the $35,000,000 bond issue to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce these business men recognized in new trappings the same old $500,000,000 Water and Power Act and have declined to say "O.K." to the $25,000,000 Boulder Canyon scheme. The bond issue on the June 5 city ballot is for $35,000,000, of which the Power Bureau says very indefinitely $25,000,000 will be used for a start at Boulder Canyon and $10,000,000 for unnamed extensions to the present power system. The Chamber of Commerce directors told the Power Bureau that the chamber could see no objections to some extensions to the power system, but again said in effect: "Come around after election and we may tell you whether we approve of your $25,000,000 Boulder Canyon scheme."

Without sponsoring the bond issue at all the City Council simply ordered it placed before the voters with a number of other bond issues, totaling in all $61,000,000.

Now the unused bonding margin of the city is, under the city charter, but $55,000,000, which is well within the safety mark, even after the new City Hall, harbor, playground and other necessary and worthy bond issues on the ballot are deducted. Unless hard work is done between now and June 5 by the supporters of the City Hall, playground, harbor, viaducts and other bond issues all may be defeated, due to the greed of the Power Bureau in asking for $35,000,000 and thereby making the total amount of bonds asked for by the city on June 5 more than the city can legally issue, even under the very liberal bonding laws of California and the city charter.

The plot of the Power Bureau to steal Boulder Canyon from the other parts of the Southwest is now to be seen in all its bare effrontery. The total exhaustion of the city's bonding power by any $35,000,000 bond issue, whether it be for power, harbor or any other municipal improvement, is likewise made apparent by an examination of the city's present bonded indebtedness, amounting in all, including all bonds issued or authorized but yet to be issued, to $69,655,581.52.

There remains a third businesslike reason for opposing the $35,000,000 power-bond issue, which is Proposition No. 6 on the June 5 ballot. The power enterprises of the city government have loaded down the city's bonded indebtedness from 1911, when the first power bonds were issued, to date to the amount of $23,000,000, of which $18,039,660 is still outstanding. When the same municipal-ownership visionaries promised the people of Los Angeles in 1911 that if the first power bonds were authorized taxes would be reduced and the city would make millions of dollars from its power enterprises the voters fell for the siren song of "Lower Taxes." What was the result? Millions and more millions in power bonds were asked for until a total of nearly $24,000,000 has been reached. The city power business has not made millions for the people, but it has increased taxes. The taxpayers have been forced to pay out over $5,000,000 for the interest and sinking fund charges on the power bonds and it was not until this present fiscal year, as the result of the constant pounding of Councilman Mushet, chairman of the City Council's Finance Committee, that the Power Bureau began to pay all the charges on the bonds. Probably these charges are being paid out of the $2,000,000 profit made by the city when the Council's secret discount sale of $13,500,000 power bonds to the Hellman syndicate was set aside and the bonds sold at public sale for par and a premium.

The municipal Bureau of Power and Light has been for a year literally swamped by taking on board at one fell swoop all of the Los Angeles consumers of the Edison Company. This new business has not yet been assimilated by the bureau, many matters are still in dispute between the company and the bureau, and yet the latter would reach into Nevada and Arizona to Boulder Canyon and tackle an entirely new series of its costly experiments.

These are but a few of the reasons why the $35,000,000 power-bond issue should and will be defeated at the June 5 city election.

NEEDS PROTECTION

Florida is about to memorialize Congress for relief from the rum-runners. Inasmuch as the Army and Navy are not in foreign service now it has been suggested that the armed forces of the nation could be used to enforce its laws. By stationing a battleship every ten miles and a soldier every sixteen feet our land and sea borders could be made impassable for the smugglers. At present Florida is considerably perturbed. She has several hundred miles of coast line and it faces moisture of another kind. The State is in the position of a man who has a couple of cases of beer on the front porch and the preacher in the dining-room.

TO SAVE UNCLE SAM

Louis Loucheur, financial leader and former Minister of France, has nobly and unselfishly come to the rescue of Uncle Sam, who he believes is in imminent danger of suffocation.

Moreover, the remedy he offers does credit to his head and heart—especially to his head. Overflowing with gratitude for the great help Uncle Sam rendered his country in its hour of need, Louis expressed himself in words of sympathy for his old friend's present plight that brought tears to many Gallic eyes.

"America is stifling in gold and the only way to save herself from absolute ruin is to lend France all the money France needs."

But Louis is not a lukewarm friend content to point out the disease and to suggest a remedy. He is coming across the Atlantic himself, at heaven knows what personal sacrifice, to the rescue of stifling Uncle Sam.

It is, indeed, refreshing in these days of international disappointments to find the United States still has a friend in Europe, so honestly concerned in our future, so willing to relieve us of the burden we are bearing.

Of course, it is just possible that the patient may prefer not to be saved from absolute ruin by passing on his stifling load to the country represented by Louis Loucheur.

Why should America "save herself from absolute ruin" by placing her good friend France in a position where she would be in peril of "stifling in gold"? If America cannot save herself without dragging down France, let us fight it out single-handed like the heroes of old.

We Americans appreciate the splendid altruism of this far-sighted French financier, but how can we allow him to so sacrifice his country on the altar of international friendship?

Better that we continue to "stifle" than involve an old friend in our "absolute ruin."

MUTUAL BENEFIT

According to recent reports the cities of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Wells, Nev., are to be connected by a branch of the Oregon Short Line. In the past seventeen years the Twin Falls section has become to Southern Idaho what the Imperial Valley has become to Southern California. Great canals have been constructed leading the waters of the Snake River out onto the dry sagebrush-covered plains and now the city is surrounded by hundreds of thousands of acres of fields producing alfalfa, the grains, sugar beets, vegetables and fruits.

In rapidity of growth Twin Falls is a rival of any of the fast-growing cities of Southern California. It is scarcely twenty years old and has a population of over 8000, or nearly three times that of the Long Beach of 1900 or the Glendale of 1910, and is larger than Brawley or El Centro or Calexico in the Imperial Valley. Wells has not made the growth that Twin Falls has, but still it is a good substantial town in Northeastern Nevada.

It is not so much a question, in Southern Idaho, of how much they can raise, but how they can get it to market without the freight eating up all the profits. The Twin Falls section is served by a branch railroad over which are shipped each year thousands of carloads of potatoes and other produce to the markets in Los Angeles. To get to Southern California freight from Twin Falls must go eastward considerably more than 100 miles before turning southwestward—the direct bearing of Los Angeles from South Central Idaho. For freight reaching Los Angeles from Idaho by the Southern Pacific the completion of the line from Twin Falls to Wells would save the eastward haul from Twin Falls to Pocatello, a considerable distance on the haul from Pocatello to Brigham or Ogden and the haul from Ogden to Wells. While the railroad companies are in a mood for building they might broad-gauge the line to Ely and connect it with the Owens Valley line at Tonopah; broad-gauge the latter at Owenyo and that would give us direct connections with Northeastern Nevada, Southern Idaho and Western Montana, a region that already has its eyes on the harbor at San Pedro.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM

BY HERMAN J. STICH

Don't Depend on Luck

Never depend upon "luck." It doesn't pay. Really, it is foolish.

In the days of sailing vessels the captain would call the people together every day to pray for a favorable wind. One day they were becalmed and when they started to pray they sighted another vessel headed in the opposite direction, whose passengers were praying just as hard for a wind favorable to them.

If you do something you ought not to have done or if you have tried something and not put all your heart and soul in it and then pray or trust to luck that it will come out your way you may be sure there is some one else on his knees praying and hoping for luck that things will come out his way. And his way is pretty sure to be the opposite of your way.

That is the foolishness of "luck." Providence cannot answer both prayers at the same time. He throws his weight on the side of the man who works hardest and therefore deserves most.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THRIFTLESS

Alas for my neighbor! He blows in the mon he gets for his labor out there in the sun. He works like a beaver, I stare at his smoke; with bucksaw and cleaver he whacks up the oak; he digs in the ditches, he wrestles with stone, and all of his riches are uselessly blown. He's stalwart and able, he's never been sick; ill health seems a fable to that sort of hick. He's toiling and slaving in sunshine and rain; the notion of saving gives him a blue pain. He's stacking the storewood in rank upon rank; if only that cove would put plunks in the bank! Some day he'll be older and losing his grip, with pains in his shoulder and more in his hip, with kinks in each muscle and cricks in his back, too weary to hustle, the storewood to stack. And tinhorn diseases, for instance, the flu, will fill him with sneezes and make him kerchoo. Ah, then he'll be leaning against an elm stump and wotting and weening that he was a chump. He ranked with the slackers who blow every dime; he'll think of the smackers he burned in his prime. And I will be sitting somewhere within reach, with morals befitting and efforts to preach. Oh, neighbor, you're going to pitfall and gin! Oh, neighbor, quit blowing the picayunes in!

BRAINS ONLY ESSENTIAL

It was not so many years ago that the wise men of the town were sitting around about the wharves of New Bedford whittling and chewing tobacco and wondering what was going to become of everybody and everything when the whales were all used up and no more whale oil could be got. Then along came coal oil or petroleum and its by-products and whale oil become a curiosity, or at least a rarity.

The sun is pouring power upon the earth every day more than enough to turn all our factory wheels, if we knew how to harness its energy.

And the scientists in their laboratories, taking apart and putting together the atom, have already discovered substitutes for dyes in coal tar and extracted nitrate from the air and have shown us how to make concrete which is even better stone than nature makes.

The last fight of the Civil War took place at Floyd Courthouse, Va., in the year 1865. After the surrender of Gen. Lee three Virginians defied a force of 500 Federals and, deploying into a clump of bushes, fired and wounded two Union men. The Federals did not fire, but pursued them for six miles over rough country, while the three kept up the battle. At last they took a position in a graveyard and delivered a final volley. Then the order was given the Federals to fire and the three Virginians fell riddled with bullets. They were buried in the graveyard where they had made their last stand.

RECOGNITION FOR MEX

BY LEE SHIPPEY

I am, and for a long time have been, earnestly hoping to see Mexico recognized by the United States in the very near future. And I believe recognition is very near now. But every time I read that some one has criticised the United States for failing to recognize Mexico long before this I feel that he is not being as patriotic as he ought to be and wonder whether he knows what he is talking about.

The simple fact is that the United States has been ready and eager to recognize Mexico ever since President Obregon took office in December, 1920. Shortly after that event Secretary Colby and Secretary de la Huerta reached a complete understanding, orally, then Secretary Colby said, in effect: "Now, that's fine. Let's put it in writing." And Secretary de la Huerta answered, in effect: "I'm afraid our national dignity won't permit us to do that."

The cartoon on the first page of The Times the other day showing Uncle Sam toeing the international line and all ready to shake hands, while Mexico wasn't quite up to the line yet, is the best illustration of how things stand and have stood for three years that I have ever seen in print. All that time Uncle Sam has been ready and eager to recognize Mexico. But in this situation Uncle Sam is virtually representing England and France, too. In deference to the Monroe Doctrine both those nations are keeping completely out of the negotiations, with the understanding that Uncle Sam will make a settlement for all three, after which all three will recognize the southern republic.

All this time the friendship between the two countries has grown steadily, Obregon's ability to keep Mexico on the upgrade has had its effect and Mexico has taken steps which bring recognition much closer.

In effect, the United States offer is this: "We will gladly recognize you as soon as you furnish us guarantees that foreign owners of property in Mexico shall not be deprived of their rights; that the foreign debt of Mexico shall be paid in systematic manner and that foreign citizens whose property was confiscated during the revolution shall receive redress. To make those guarantees unquestionable and not subject to any possible changes of government or administration they should be given by the legislative, executive and judicial [illegible] ment and should [illegible] into a treaty [illegible] tions.

XXVI. OUR PREHUMAN HOME

At the bottom of the earth's crust a thick layer of gneiss and granite rocks is found; so we know something about surface conditions during the transition of the earth from a glowing globe to an opaque planet. Not until the surface cooled down to about 2000 degrees above zero F., which is the fusion point for gneiss, did the rocks begin to form. While cooling down from 2000 degrees to 212 degrees (the boiling point of water) crust formation continued.

In the beginning the crust must have looked like the slag which thickens over the surface of molten lava, save that the primordial crust was never of uniform thickness. Nor was it continuous, for lava tides, following the moon as do the ocean tides today, would have broken the thin crust into innumerable fragments. Due to the earth's rotation these fragments would drift away from the poles and come together along the equator, just as water on a rotating wheel runs toward the center of the rim. The first "land," therefore, could have been nothing more nor less than an endless slag-floe girdling the earth midway between the poles. Over this grinding, creaking, undulating mass of red-hot rocks hung a pall of smoke, through which not a ray of sunlight could penetrate. On either side the hemispheres were raw, exposed, craterless volcanoes, lurid with flames and chemical explosions.

There came a time, away down the centuries, when a broad belt of aging rocks rested somewhat substantially upon the molten tides, with hot, lifeless oceans on either side. For the steam and vapors would have condensed and fallen when the surface temperature dropped below 212 F. degrees.

In places the land belt was wider than in others. Due to subterranean boilings lighter materials were continually rising to the surface, while the heavier materials were sinking lower and settling upon the ocean floors. The broad sections gradually grew into the continents of Asia, Africa, Australia and South America. The northern part of Asia, Europe, North America and the mountains of all the continents resulted from subsequent upheavals.

Gondwana Land the primordial continent is called by geologists, and the part now covered by the Indian Ocean is called Lemuria. It is thought that Lemuria disappeared quite recently, probably during the Oligocene period of the Age of Mammals. Not suddenly, but slowly, the waters backed up and finally overspread the lowlands, leaving Madagascar and the Indian Ocean islands standing, like horsts, to mark the place where Lemuria went down. Upon these islands, despite hundreds of miles of intervening sea, the insects and vegetation are the same, many species existing which are found nowhere else in the world, save in regions anciently connected by the Gondwana Land belt. As a result of sea-bottom surveying by the Indian government the lost continent of Lemuria has been recently mapped.

"It is now generally admitted," wrote Prof. Winchell, one of America's great paleontologists, "that man's birthplace was in a region covered at present by the waters of the Indian Ocean."

The aspect of unsubmerged portions of Lemuria, during the early periods of the Age of Mammals, were not unlike as [illegible] gle today—forests [illegible] gigantic club [illegible] bamboos and [illegible] twined with vines, [illegible] orchids and other [illegible] live on other [illegible] gorgeous colors [illegible] out of jungle gloom. BIRD'S-EYE OUTLINE OF PORT PLAN

Harbor Bond Committee of Chamber of Commerce Issues Drawing

To bring vividly before the voters of Los Angeles the vital need for ratifying the Chamber of Commerce's project for the issuance of $15,000,000 in bonds for harbor improvements, the Chamber of Commerce harbor bond committee has printed 250,000 bird's-eye detailed maps of the harbor.

The maps are in color, the work of one of the few men in this country who can faithfully reproduce with pen and pink the appearance of any project as seen from a great height.

The map shows not only what has been done in an effort to keep pace with traffic conditions since the breakwater was built, but it also shows what the Chamber of Commerce is planning to do to meet and relieve the present congestion which a record-breaking flood of shipping has thrust upon the harbor.

The newly issued maps will be distributed to all commercial and industrial organizations, while individuals interested in the harbor development may have maps by calling for them at the Chamber of Commerce Building, third floor.

The bond project is to be voted on June 5 next.

Manning Files Answer; Denies Bribe Charges

Al Manning, former superintendent of the criminal department of the Sheriff's office, who recently was dismissed by Sheriff Traeger, yesterday filed with the Civil Service Commission an answer to the charges made against him by the Sheriff, in which Manning denied every charge.

He denied that he had ever offered a bribe of $500 to Mark Bailey, a county jailer, for destroying the finger prints of Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer, and also entered a blanket denial that he had been guilty of misconduct in office.

The answer pointed out that Manning had been for fifteen years in the service of the county and during that time, it was declared, no shadow of suspicion had been cast on his conduct. The document was prepared by S. S. Hahn, Mr. Manning's attorney.

The Civil Service Commission has set Thursday afternoon for the hearing of the charges against Manning. Attorneys stated yesterday that at least thirty witnesses would be called by the defense.

STAR ATHLETE IS FATHER OF TWINS

WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY COACH FORMERLY LIVED AT LONG BEACH

Earl Thomson, internationally known in athletic circles as former all-around star and holder of many records in hurdling events, and formerly a resident of Long Beach, is the proud father of girl twins born yesterday to Mrs. Thomson at their home in Morgantown, W. Va., according to word received by Mrs. Thomson's parents, Rev. and Mrs. William W. Cookman of Glendale. Mrs. Thomson was formerly Miss Ann Cookman. They were married last spring in Glendale.

Thomson is at present athletic coach at the University of West Virginia, located in Morgantown. The athletic records achieved by Thomson were while he was a student at Dartmouth, from which school he was graduated.

MORE FIREMEN ASSURED CITY

Council's Budget Committee Approves Plans

Chief Scott's Program to be Carried Out

Increased Personnel Will Go to New Houses

The Budget Committee of the City Council yesterday approved Fire Chief Scott's program for extensive additions to the personnel of the fire department to man the fourteen new fire houses to be built during the coming year.

Beginning July 1, the program calls for the addition of six battalion chiefs, fourteen captains, fourteen lieutenants, eighteen engineers, twenty-eight auto firemen, 162 firemen and two machinists.

Beginning November 1, the program calls for the addition of two captains, two lieutenants, four auto firemen, four engineers and sixteen firemen each month for the following seven months. This addition will provide personnel for the two new fire houses to be completed each month.

The expense of the additions will be provided by the $2,500,000 bond issue voted to equip the city with a fire-fighting apparatus in accord with its rapid growth, at the election last November.

The Council Budget Committee also approved Chief Scott's proposal to increase the salaries of the twelve battalion chiefs from $225 to $275 a month, beginning July 1. The increased salary will place battalion chiefs on the same rating as police captains.

CRUELTY CHARGED

Says She Raised Cash to Get Husband Out of Jail

Asserting that her husband was cruel to her after their arrival in Los Angeles from the East, although she had obtained his release from a Kansas jail with money she got from her father, Mrs. Clara C. Zeilbra yesterday sued George C. Zeilbra for divorce.

Mrs. Zeilbra said that on their trip to Los Angeles from the East she was perplexed that her husband insisted on their traveling under assumed names until he was arrested in a Kansas town on a charge of forgery. She said her husband advised her to use her beauty to obtain his release, but that she obtained money from her father to gain his freedom. Soon after their arrival in Los Angeles, she charged, Zeilbra became very cruel to her.

Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—[Advertisement.

Corns

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.—[Advertisement.

CITY'S FIRE AND SEWER BONDS SOLD

Favorable Ruling in East Results in Acceptance of Bid by Council

The Attorney-General of New York having declared Los Angeles city bonds legal investment for savings banks and trust funds in that State, the City Council yesterday accepted the bid of Blair & Co. for $2,500,000 fire bonds and $2,000,000 sewer bonds, made in March, thus completing the transaction which has been hanging fire awaiting the decision of the New York official.

The City Council, on motion of Councilman Mushet, adopted a resolution extending to Deputy City Auditor Francis Marshall a vote of thanks for his work in handling the Los Angeles end of the negotiations with the Attorney-General of New York, covering many months.

Councilman Mushet said that the ruling would mean a saving to the taxpayers of $10,000,000 in interest as the result of the lower interest rates at which Los Angeles city bonds can now be sold.

FIRST FILM ANNOUNCED BY MELNITZ

Head of Little Theater Firm Will Offer Picture, "Mortal Clay"

Curtis Melnitz, president of Little Theater Films, Inc., the organization recently formed here to present motion pictures of artistic worth to discriminating audiences throughout the country, announced yesterday that the first film to be shown under the auspices of the new movement will be "Mortal Clay," directed by Victor Seastrom in Sweden.

Unusual interest attaches to this announcement in view of the fact that Victor Seastrom, who is one of the most renowned of European directors, is now in Los Angeles making his first picture under contract with the Goldwyn Company.

Seastrom is said to regard "Mortal Clay" as his most artistic picture. The story is one of great dramatic power, based on the medieval custom of trial by ordeal of fire. It is among the six pictures listed as "Buried Treasure" by the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, which speaks of it as "a medieval story of great power, beautifully handled, and noteworthy for its spiritual substance."

The lead in the picture is played by Eosta Eckman, who is now on his way to Los Angeles, to act in a Goldwyn picture. Eckman is said to be the most popular actor in Sweden.

Melnitz also announced that Charles Chaplin has expressed full approval of the undertaking and has consented to serve as a member of the advisory board, which already includes Rex Ingram, Rob Wagner, Ralph Block, Ernest Lubitsch, Victor Seastrom, Paul Bern, George Marion and Maurice Tourneur.

Accomplished Californian is Called to Rest

Mrs. Mathilde Rudorf, former resident of Los Angeles and noted as a musician, died at Manteca, Cal., the 16th inst. She was the wife of Karl Rudorf, formerly chief agriculturist of the American Beet Sugar Company here, who lived in Los Angeles for twenty-five years. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Clay Buckbee, where she had lived the past year. She was 63 years of age.

Born in Dresden, Germany, Mrs. Rudorf received an unusual cultural education and studied in the best conservatories of Europe. She was especially noted as an interpreter of Beethoven and established Beethoven clubs in many cities where she played. She was planning a Beethoven Symphony Club at Stockton, at the time of her last illness. Mrs. Rudorf was an accomplished linguist also, speaking French, German, English and Latin.

She suffered several paralytic strokes. Her funeral services were at Stockton.

Besides her husband and daughter, she leaves one son, J. H. Rudorf of Stockton.

BUS VICTIM IDENTIFIED AS VETERAN

Driver is Charged With Manslaughter in Death of Two Old Soldiers

The second man killed late Sunday night by a psasenger bus as he and a companion were crossing Santa Monica Boulevard at Eleventh street, Sawtelle, was identified yesterday afternoon as John Upghegrove, an inmate of the Old Soldiers' Home. His companion, T. M. Marshall, 75 years of age, was fatally injured, dying shortly after the accident.

An inquest into the two deaths will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the morgue of the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle.

The bus was driven by M. W. Stone. According to passengers, Stone was driving at an excessive rate of speed and was not watching the road when he struck the two aged men. He is held at the City Jail on a charge of manslaughter, pending the outcome of the inquest.

OLD LAND GRANT INVOLVED

Testimony to be Given on Application to Purchase Tract in Arroyo Seco at $1.25 Per Acre

The story of the old Atlantic and Pacific and the Southern Pacific Railway land grants of a half century ago will be told anew in the local Land Office, beginning today, on the application of Helen L. Givens to purchase eighty acres of land in the Arroyo Seco of the government at the price of $1.25 an acre. The real party in interest is Harrison R. Ward, a searcher of titles in the employ of a local corporation, who is the successor in interest to Helen L. Givens.

The land involved is covered with special-use permits, cabins and summer homes, together with the forest-ranger station occupied by Ranger Miller. It is estimated that the improvements on the land are worth $35,000. And Ward wants to buy it for $160 or at the rate of $1.25 an acre for the area of eighty acres.

The case involves the old land grants made by Congress to the two railroads named, with overlapping lines in the two grants. In 1898, the old Southern Pacific Railway grant was canceled, but the rights of those who had made purchases in good faith were confirmed.

The petition to purchase was not filed until 1917, nineteen years after the Southern Pacific grant had been withdrawn, and it is the contention of the government that it is now too late for an applicant to avail himself of the right to purchase, the land in the meantime having been turned over to the Angeles Forest Reserve.

On account of the value of the land involved, the contest will be bitterly fought, and it is believed that the most of the week will be taken in marshaling the testimony.

WHEN IS A LOVE LETTER?

Judge Called on to Decide Momentous Question; Woman Says Missives Are Just Platonic

Judge Walton J. Wood of the Superior Court was called on yesterday to decide what constitutes a lover letter in the suit of Theodore J. Cohrt against his wife, Margaret L. Cohrt, for divorce.

Numerous letters, which are asserted by the husband to have been written by her lovers, but which the wife says were sent by platonic friends, were introduced into the evidence.

A number are from Paul and were sent from Kansas City, Mo. One reads:

"I appreciate your giving me an address to look up so as to know who you are, but, you know, I am not a bloodhound or a dick. Therefore, I cannot look anyone up, although I certainly would like to know who you are, and you can rest assured that mum is the word with me."

Another reads:

"I did not dream that you were the party of the letter—also that you were one of the parties with a nice little hubby and everything. I am happier than ever to know it was you that was writing, although I am sorry to hear that all is not well at your place."

The case will continue tomorrow, when Judge Wood is expected to settle the question of whether the missives were love letters or not.

EXPLAINS CARSON LETTER

Former Secretary of Mrs. Angela Kaufman Says She Signed Missive Dictated by Employer

An explanation of the letter asserted to have been signed by Mrs. Angela Kaufman and found among the personal effects of Jesse C. Carson, traveling companion of Clara Phillips, was made to Dep. Dist. Atty. McClelland yesterday by Beatrice Beecher, former secretary to Mrs. Kaufman.

Miss Beecher, who stated that she was a grandniece of Henry Ward Beecher, told Mr. McClelland that the letter was dictated by Mrs. Kaufman, but that she had signed Mrs. Kaufman's name to the communication.

She stated that while acting as secretary to the philanthropist she had signed many letters written by Mrs. Kaufman, and that she had affixed Mrs. Kaufman's signature to the Carson letter as a matter of routine.

Mr. McClelland stated that Miss Beecher's appearance at his office was voluntary and that her explanation was satisfactory.

Mrs. Kaufman, through her present secretary, recently denied that she had ever met Carson and could not remember ever having written to him.

Armour Phillips, husband of the hammer murderess, who is accused by his wife of having spoiled her chances for escape, according to dispatches from Tegucigalpa, was being sought last night by officials to answer a bench warrant issued by Judge King of Santa Monica for failure to appear for trial on a charge of speeding. Phillips was arrested on the 16th inst. for traveling, it is said, at the rate of thirty-two miles on Santa Monica Boulevard in a twenty-mile zone. The arrest was made by Motorcycle Officer Gray of Santa Monica.

HOPE HAMPTON WILL ARRIVE ON THRUSDAY

Hope Hampton will arrive in Los Angeles Thursday.

Definite word to this effect was received last night from Chicago, where the star stopped over on her way to the Coast from New York. With her is her sister, Mrs. L. Karrer, and the latter's three children, who will remain with her during her stay in Hollywood, where Miss Hampton is soon to begin work in "The Gold Diggers" at Warner Brothers' new studio.

She will start work on the leading role in this David Belasco production next Monday.

Miss Hampton says she will remain in Hollywood indefinitely, which is taken to mean at least a year. This will be the first time in more than two years that she has been identified with the Hollywood picture colony.

ACCIDENTS MAY HAVE FATAL END

Two persons were believed to be dying at the County Hospital last night as the result of traffic accidents yesterday afternoon. Both were given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital.

Billy Liddecoat, 9 years of age, living at 3749 East Sixth street, was struck and probably fatally injured at the intersection of Sixth and Rowan streets by an automobile driven by Ira Millet of 3546 East Fifth street. The boy's skull was fractured.

Mr. Millet took the child to the Receiving Hospital. He reported that the boy had been riding on a truck and dropped off directly in the path of Mr. Millet's car, which struck him before the brakes could be applied.

L. N. Reed, 58 years of age, of 1413 Second avenue, fell and struck his head on the seat of a Los Angeles Railway car when the car abruptly halted at Sixth and Broadway. His injuries were believed to be fatal.

Chamber Backs Bond Issue for Public Library

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday, in a letter received by the City Council, indorsed the $500,000 bond issue on the June 5 city ballot for the purchase of the Flower-street frontage of Normal Hill for the new $1,500,000 central public library, and for additional equipment for the library.

The City Attorney yesterday transmitted to the City Council official notice of the completion of the proceedings for the annexation of Hyde Park and Eagle Rock, and the residents of these districts will cast their ballots for the first time on June 5 as Los Angeles voters.

LUNCHEON IN HONOR OF CITY CANDIDATES

The Citizens' Committee of Ten Thousands will give a "candidates' luncheon" in the banquet hall of the Clark on Thursday noon next. The candidates indorsed by the committee have been invited. The declared purpose of the luncheon is to make members of the committee acquainted with the candidates for the City Council, Board of Education and Board of Freeholders. Reservations for the luncheon may be made at committee headquarters at the Rosslyn.

IMPROVEMENT BODY MEETS

The next meeting of the newly organized Manchester and Western Improvement Association is scheduled for June 1 at 7:30 p.m. at 1430 West Eighty-third street, it was announced yesterday. The association was formed at a meeting Saturday night to force through necessary improvements in the vicinity of Manchester and Western avenues. M. Patton is president of the new association, F. C. Campbell is vice-president, J. C. King is secretary and H. H. Atherton is treasurer.

Help the Climate to Keep You Fit

Los Angeles—"I was in a very bad physical condition and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the medicine that restored me to health. I had become all run-down, caused primarily by my having liver trouble; my food would not digest properly and gas would form on my stomach, causing me great distress—I was dyspeptic. These conditions made me feel sick all over; I was so poorly I could scarcely get around. I knew Dr. Pierce's medicines were reliable, so decided to take the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and was cured of my ailment and was perfectly well after taking this medicine."—Mrs. Mary Fairfield McVicker, 774 E. 47th St.

If you need a building up tonic for the stomach or blood, obtain Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery from your druggist, in tablets or liquid, or write Dr. Pierce, President of Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

A Featuring of Summer Fabrics

At Prices Fitting the Moderate Purse

—This offering is just like treasure trove for Miladi who loves the beautiful, practical and the economical. Sports fabrics, evening fabrics and semi-dress fabrics are included in the grouping—all at prices very much lower than usual.

Vela Vela and Mellow Knit, $3.95

—36-inch Vela Vela and 36-inch Mellow Knit, materials that resemble velvet, in many delightful shades, such as red, navy, Royal, brown, gray and tan; at this less than usual pricing of $3.95.

Fan-Ta-Si Silk and Fiber Skirting, $4.95

Fan-ta-si silk is beautiful, and this line in particular; it combines a beautiful two-tone effect with a rich satiny stripe. 'Way 'way low at $4.95.

Figured Silk Less at $3.95

—40-inch figured Canton, Crepe de Chine and Pussy Willow Taffeta are included. Extremely low at $3.95.

Taffeta and Sports Satin, $2.25

—35-inch Taffeta in street and evening shades as well as two-tone effects.

—500 yards heavy lustrous white sports satin of a firm, heavy quality. Both of these fabrics have been marked very low at $2.25.

—The Broadway—Second Floor

The "Josephine!"

Thus Have We Named Some Attractive New Shoes

—that are ever so pretty; just as new as can be, too; furthermore, their pricing has about it a pleasant moderation that will commend itself on quotation—there are, in fact, models

At $8.50 and $10.00

—They are two-strap pumps with Cuban heels and welt soles. In white reindeer, trimmed with white calf, they are priced at $8.50; in white kid, in otter ooze trimmed with brown kid and in gray ooze trimmed with gray kid, they are $10.00.

Egyptian Sandals at $6.00 and $7.00

—In patent leather or black satin, these sandals are $6.00; in white kid, tan calf with beige ooze quarter and vamp or in gray ooze with patent quarter and vamp, they are $7.00.

Quite an Accomplishment, So We Think, To Have Secured for Tuesday,

200 Wash Dresses Priced at $10.00

—and since it's a first-of-its-kind offering for the season, we expect it to create a delightful furor!

—Careful preparation has gone before this event; the buyer for the department was unusually fortunate in purchases made on her last Eastern trip—indeed, the dresses chosen for featuring at $10.00 are so good-looking that we ourselves are astonished at their so-low marking.

—Of course, you'll be interested in hearing a little about them. Materials first: they are:

Linen, Normandy Voile, Bath Plain and Figured, Gingham, Dotted Swiss, Organdie and Tissue Gingham

—Then, there'll naturally be some curiosity about the matter of colors; delightfully varied choice here—

There are clever adaptations of pleated paneling, wide taffeta girdles that tie at the side with large bows, apron effects, pleated rufflings and dainty lace collars.

—Some of the linen dresses are distinguished by long tailored lines; there are models suitable for matrons as well as for quite girlish figures—all in all, it's a delightfully varied array of wash frocks from which choice may happily be made, Tuesday, at $10.

—The Broadway—Third Floor.

Jacquettes, $6.95 Over-Blouses, $5.95

—The jacquettes of Lenox crepe and other crepe fabrics are in smart open front and tie-at-the-side styles. The colors and patterns are delightful; crepe de chine in many printed patterns and beautiful color combinations fashions the dainty blouses included at $5.95.

—The Broadway—Third Floor.

New Printed Oriental

Voiles at 50c Yd.

—Attractive, printed oriental voiles, 39 inches width. Only 50 pieces to offer at 50c a yard. The novel and fetching designs are to be had at very reasonable marking.

Imported Novelty Ratine $1.00 a Yard

—The Broadway—Second Floor.

We've Grouped

150 Hats

For Tuesday's Selling

At $5.00

—Higher priced lines have contributed these hats; you know, the Millinery Section is a part of the store where changes are kaleidoscopic in their swiftness and these are hats that have, we think, been with us long enough.

—Away they'll go, therefore, at $5.00; some of them have been twice as much, or more.

There Are Dress, Afternoon and Sports Hats

—in the collection. Some of them are of all straw, others of all silk, others of silk and straw or georgette and straw combinations.

—The Broadway—Third Floor.

An Exceptional Offering of

54-Inch All-Wool Coating, $6.50

A Special Purchase

—From one of our best known woolen manufacturers comes this wonderful offering of woolen material, its low pricing the result of an advantageous special purchase. 350 yards will be offered, although in some cases the colors are limited—so an early arrival on your part will be advisable.

Capes Tailored to Order, $12.00

Exclusive of Material Cost

—This event is in combination with the above offering, the understanding of course being that you purchase your material in our wool dress goods section. Capes will be tailored to your individual lines for the so-reasonable amount of $12.00; cost of material not included at this price.

—The Broadway—Second Floor.

100 Spring Suits At Half Price

Regularly $25.00 to $49.75

—Included are semi-sports models of smart checked velours, of and of mixtures; also camelair suits in box and tie-at effects, others of checked and barred fabrics, as well as novelty tricotine and Poiret twill, these in navy.

—All at half their regular markings for Tuesday.

—The Broadway—Third

We Suggest as Suitable for Present Wrap Needs

Summer Capes at $25.00

—Silk and wool capes are included in this group, the materials Amwolaine and Lenox crepe. Smart features of the prevailing are shown—scalloped hemlines, the new puff collars and cl wide fringe. Black, navy, tan and gray available in the silk black, tan and navy in those of wool. All are well lined.

Smart Coats at $25.00

Sports and Dress Models

—Spring twills in tan, navy, and black, sports materials, some others plaided in tan. Dress models are of velours and wanted colors of the new season.

Shantung Suits at $25.00

—Smart tailored models of light weight Shantung—one model is strictly tailored with narrow belt and trim pockets; another is a youthful box model with link-fastening Peter Pan collar and rather wide sleeves. Ideal summer tailleurs for the Southland.

—The Broadway—Third Floor.

Luncheon in a Garden

One of Our Famous Apron Sales

The Prices to be in Force

$1.29, $1.79 and $2.79

—Hundreds of dozens of really charming aprons have been assembled for this event; you see, we have a reputation to live up to, in the matter of apron offerings—it's not so long ago that we made a decided furor with a three-days' featuring of these much-demanded garments.

—So this is not a case of "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again;" rather is it, "Nothing succeeds like success!" Undoubtedly

Success Has Attended Our Efforts

—in the preparations for the event; that it will be continued with the selling end of it seems to be a foregone conclusion.

—The aprons are attractive; they are cleverly designed and well made; they are, one and all, priced in a way that is so remarkable that we expect women to buy them by the half dozens!

HIGH HOPE FOR CRIPPLED TOTS

California Home is Doing Wonders for Them

Los Angeles Mothers Rally to Aid Unfortunate

Thousand Tickets Sold for Benefit Card Party

BY THE NEOPHYTE

Little Marie has freckles and a sunny smile, but that is only the nicest part, for she is in bed with a tubercular spine and it will be six months before she can walk. Next to her is Grace, who considers herself lucky in having only a tubercular hip, for she can sit up and turn around.

At present life doesn't seem so very bad, for they are at the California Home for Crippled Children and there is a great sun porch off the upstairs hall where they can lie and hope that perhaps a bird will perch for a minute on the vine-covered railing, giving them a temporary thrill.

It is a beautiful home, this large, comfortable place on South Bonnie Brae, and it seems to those in charge as if it had been just for the use of the Home. The only drawback is that there isn't enough money to purchase it and the rent takes so much that could be used for the children themselves. That is the trouble. Mrs. William Henry Cline, president of the Home, and Dr. Everett C. Beach, head surgeon, say that the only solution is for some one person or group of persons to purchase the building for the use of the Home.

BUILDING JUST RIGHT

From top to basement the building is just right. I visited it yesterday morning and hadn't been there five minutes before I was ready to beg, borrow or forcibly extract the $27,000 necessary for the purchase. It is rather bare at present, for there isn't enough money to fill it with the comforts and little somethings which make a house into a home.

There are four lovely big bedrooms upstairs, with plenty of windows, each one having four straight little hospital beds. Then there's the sun porch, which is quite all of life to Grace and Marie and Jackie, who is for the first time being trained in the gentle art of locomotion. All he needs is time and patience and skill, and the combination is there at his service.

"Way down in the basement a large room has been fitted as a gymnasium. There are all sorts of apparatus installed for the classes in the corrective gymnasium which is developing and strengthening weak muscles and bones. Around the walls is a colored frieze with pictures, which struck me as absolutely wonderful as an "attention distractor" while the strenuous exercises were going on.

LAWN, TREES AND SWINGS

Then there is the lawn, with trees and swings. Whenever the day is fine the children who can walk go out there and play. That was where I first met Bobby, who is one of the marvels of the home. He came there a little, wriggling mass on the floor, not able to walk, talk, dress or feed himself. In fact, he was taken from a home for the feeble-minded.

But Bobby is not feeble-minded. That is apparent now. When I saw him yesterday he was seated on a kiddycart and speed was his watchword. The sidewalk was a dangerous place to be. Some time Bobby will be able to support himself. Dr. Beach says that he will be fine as a worker in some small town or the country, where the sunshine and fresh air will always strengthen him. So much better than spending his life in a home for the feeble-minded.

The little bodies aren't the only parts which are worked with, for teachers from the public schools come to the home and teach the children. Those who are unable to take are given careful, patient attention, and little by little they are taught to articulate correctly until they emerge chattering like magpies.

HOPE IS HIGH

For most of the children there is a ray of hope, and they know that a me time they will be well and healthy, but there is one little girl who came to the home too late, and she will be lame always. She knows it, and is planning ahead. She is studying to be a stenographer. That is, she is doing as much as can be done by book alone, but the real thing she needs can't be found. And that is a typewriter. I know that there are many lonesome machines here in the city that are suffering from long neglect, and they would enjoy helping this girl. It would mean not only amusement, but the means of earning her livelihood.

It isn't only typewriters which are needed, but bed linen and blankets and furniture. In short, there is very little that wouldn't help. As a means of getting some of them the home is giving a card party at the Ambassador Hotel tomorrow afternoon. That it will be a success is an assured fact, for 1000 tickets have been sold. It all goes to show that women in this city have not only a great love for their own children, but for those of their less fortunate sisters as well.

SOPRANO AIDS IN MUSIC WEEK

Gives Concert When Oil Well Comes In

Miss Norma Gregg

MISS NORMA GREGG, dramatic soprano, who sings songs of her own composition, is contributing to Music Week. Saturday she will sing at Santa Fe Springs, when an oil well named after herself, Norma, will come in. Friday she sang at a luncheon given by a group of literary women at the Jonathan Club in honor of Mrs. Alva L. Kitselman, who leaves tomorrow for her home in Indiana after spending the winter in this city.

Ruskin Art Club

Tomorrow will be the last meeting of the Ruskin Art Club for the year. It will be at the home of the Misses Jones, 258 East Adams street, at 2 o'clock, when Mrs. Hector Alliot will talk on "The Society of Artists," and John Steven McGroarty will give "The History of the Mission Play."

Los Angeles Travel Club

The musical section of the Los Angeles Travel Club will give a recital Thursday as its contribution to Music Week. Members are being asked to bring guests. Mme. Myrtle Decker is chairman of the section. Members are asked to bring a glass of jelly or a jar of fruit for the benefit of the Crittenden Home. Mrs. R. G. Russell will be luncheon hostess.

Woman's Club of Hollywood

The Browning section of the Woman's Club of Hollywood, under the chairmanship of Mrs. L. B. Curtis, will conduct its last luncheon for the year tomorrow at 12 o'clock. Rev. Philip Easley will speak on "Browning's Contribution to World's Thought," and Miss Grace Dennen will tell of "The Heirs of Robert Browning." Mrs. Lorberr will give a group of Browning songs.

A musical treat is assured members and friends tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Alfred Mirovitch, eminent Russian pianist-composer, who appears, is a member of the Gabrilowitch family and a pupil of Mme. Essipoff. Mr. Mirovitch has just returned from a world concert tour and comes to Los Angeles to conduct a school for pianists.

Sleeping Porches

Of course, no self-respecting house is built with... porch nowadays. And houses that haven't any ... Landlords advertise them as special attractions. ... to be a general idea that a sleeping porch is a ...

We have quite a sumptuous one ... reasonable ... at our house, large enough to accommodate the whole family. You with walls and ... can shiver or roast in it better or two, one ... than anywhere I know. by day, and ... cool to sleep in ...

Personally I absolutely refuse sleeping porch, ... to woo slumber on a sleeping justable windows ... porch. It's charms are much over- stylish one has ... rated. Give me the seclusion and on those windows ... charms of an honorable bedroom dear old porch ... every time. Air is all right, I like oven that serves ... it, too. But I am no glutton. It cool off. And if ... doesn't give me the slightest satis- dows open it is ... faction to drink in gallons of all-too-fresh air all night, to have sneaky little breezes wafting down my neck when I turn over, and impertinent moons and brazen stars shining all over me when I am defenseless.

Besides, sleeping porches are always noisy. Out there under the starlight night and all that sort of thing one can hear every automobile snorting its wicked way upon the boulevards or belching laboriously into garages. One can hear every bark of every neighbor's dog, every clang of every distant street car bell, even, on stilly nights, the whistles of the ships at the harbor.

Moreover, on these days when the sun gets up so early, one is even called before the milkman comes. You don't miss a single clatter and jingle of the milkman. And if you shut down some of the windows and pull down the shades, that sleeping porch is no longer a sleeping porch, but merely a poorly furnished and rather unsatisfactory bedroom. The whole idea of a sleeping porch is to get one's fill of the great out-of-doors —and there is altogether too much of it, and it is altogether too lively.

One is quite likely to be rudely awakened by an airplane overhead at the most indecent hours of early dawn.

"Oh, but it's healthy" declare the ardent advocates of sleeping porches. I seriously doubt it. Behold my friend Cora, who brags about her sleeping porch, from which she can see the poetic waving of giant eucalyptus trees against the starry sky. Cora has had a mean cold for a couple of weeks that hasn't anything romantic or poetic about it.

Or take our household. The members who sleep on the porch have all had the flu, all gets colds and stiff necks and all the rest of it. But I, who stand firmly by a good airy old-fashioned bedroom, and merely a reasonable dose of air, never get anything that calls for attention and sympathy.

Sleeping-porches may not be so bad during a nice mild summer that doesn't get up with heat waves or electrical storms, but they are not at all nice in winter. One divests oneself of all one's clothing in the bedroom and then hops gingerly and chilly out on the porch to go to bed. So one gets nicely chilled through — and hardy sleeping - porchers can scarcely descend to hot-water bottles. Such is a confession of weakness.

And upon rising in the cold gray dawn—well, it is just as horrid to get out of a nice warm bed to be enveloped in chilly breezes.

Another thing I don't like about sleeping-porches is that they are so dusty. Of course, there isn't any dust in California, but all there is gets into the sleeping-porch. You can only chut it out by shutting out the great out-of-doors as well.

No "kick-back" in this mealtime cup

WHEN you find that coffee makes you nervous, keeps you awake at night, or causes frequent headaches, it's time to change to Postum.

This delicious, healthful cereal beverage gives you all the comfort and satisfaction of your usual morning cup. It has charm without harm to nerves or digestion—cheer without fear of a dangerous "kick-back."

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either is about one-half cent a cup.

F. A.—"Some time ago you mentioned using bath brick for cleaning the blades of knives. This is my way of cleaning them: Buy some fine black emery paper and rub this on the blades. A sheet of the emery paper cuts into many pieces. It removes stains and brightens the steel. Have you ever mentioned in your column that putting ivory knifehandles in hot water makes them crack, turn yellow and come off in time?"

Mrs. E. E. G.—"I am going to tell you how I made a nice looking floor covering out of old worn-off print linoleum in my kitchen: First patch any worn places. Then fill all cracks with a good commercial crack-filler. Clean and dry thoroughly, then apply two coats of light gray porch paint, sandpapering the surface lightly between coats. Now make a mottled design as follows: Take three different colors (I used buff, blue and putty color.) Have a small sponge and a lard-pail lid for each color (I cut one large sponge into three parts.) Begin at one corner of the room and made a dab on the linoleum with the darkest color (the paint is in the pail-lid and, of course, it is applied with the sponge.) Do not have the sponge too wet with paint or it will not give a sponge effect. Take the next darkest color and make another generous dab on the linoleum, almost touching the first dab. Then take the lightest color and make a small dab other two dabs can work over practicing on a show much with the of mine is After the of linoleum

To Cook Carrots

Carrots may be cooked without paring, as you would beets. The skins will rub off very easily after boiling until tender and thus save you time and add more flavor to the vegetable.

And They Will Do It

When the rubber disk on the end of the garter wears out, take a round rubber from the end of a pencil, cut it in half, bore a hole through the center, sharpen it around the edge and stretch it over the brass knob on the end of the garter.

Diet and Health

After my telling you yesterday of the very great importance of iron, you will be surprised to know that the whole human body contains only forty-four grains, one-tenth of an ounce (95 per cent of it is in the blood.) But this one-tenth of an ounce! Oxygen, which makes up two-thirds of the whole weight of the body, or carbon and the other elements which make up the balance of the weight, are not one bit more essential than this little one-tenth ounce—forty-four grains—of iron.

Iron is so precious that Nature hoards it with zealous care. These red blood cells which have served their usefulness and go to the red blooded cells heaven (probably the spleen) are not interred with any precious iron. Oh, no. Nature removes a large part of iron from the remains and stores it in the spleen and liver, and then uses it again in making the new cells. This is mostly done in the narrow of the bones in extra-uterine life (after birth.)

But some iron is lost, mothers—about one-seventh of a grain a day. Iron-bearing foods must make up this loss. Girls at puberty, when the menstruation begins, must have a diet especially rich in iron. This also applies to women, of course.

I have talked so much about how precious milk is that you may suspect me of owning a dairy (I don't.) Now I must tell you where milk falls down as a perfect food. It is low in iron. When babies nurse too long or are given the bottle too long, and when children take so much milk that they have no appetite for solid foods, then they become anemic. It occasionally happens that milk has to be taken away from a child for a while until it learns to like solid food.

While inorganic iron in the form of medicine does sometimes apparently help anemia (whether by stimulating the blood-making function or protecting the food iron from loss in digestion is not known,) it is from the organic iron in the food that the daily supply must come. It has been shown that unless a good supply is taken in food, the medicinal iron has no effect. Certainly we must look to foods rather than to medicines for the iron in normal conditions and to maintain normal conditions. And we mustn't leave the supply of iron to chance.

Every day a generous supply of vegetables and fruits must be given children, and taken yourself, for they are a splendid source of iron as well as of the vitamins. Furthermore, where there is anemia, there is usually excessive intestinal putrefaction, and the vegetables and fruits, with their bulk and laxative properties, combat this tendency as well as supply iron.

Vegetables high in iron, in the order of their greatest amounts, are as follows: Spinach, string beans, cabbage, brussels sprouts, celery, tomatoes, carrots peas and potatoes.

Animal foods—Lean meats (fish is not high in iron) and egg yolks (egg yolks have a very high percentage; they have to have enough to make a live chicken!)

Cereals—Wholewheat and oatmeal.

Nuts—Almonds, peanuts and walnuts.

Fruits—Fresh fruits, while they do not contain a high per cent of iron, have it in a valuable form. Dried fruits, dates, figs, prunes, raisins.

You would have to eat a pound and a half of raisins to get a day's supply of iron so don't be misled into thinking that a handful of raisins will suffice for all the iron you need. In reality, dried figs, dates and prunes have a higher per cent of iron than do raisins. It would take a little over a pound of these to supply the entire day's needs, as compared to the pound and one-half of raisins. They are all good energy foods.

However, you can see the advisability of not trying to get all of your iron in any one food. For the reasons I have given you before, the best way for you and your children to get the largest share of your daily iron ration is to take it in the fresh fruit and vegetables, not forgetting the egg yolks, nuts, and dried fruits.

Sugar has no iron or other mineral salts. Malt sugar and molasses have a relatively high per cent.

Do not peel the left-over potatoes, as they keep better in their skins. When peeled they dry on the outside and have to be pared again before using, thereby wasting a great deal of the potato.

SOUNDS KNELL FOR FILM STAR

Kent Stresses Business in Talk to Convention

Production and Sales Plans Under Discussion

The reduction of waste to a minimum and the placing of production and distribution on a strictly economic and scientific business basis mark the passing of the "Klondyke days of the motion - picture," according to S. R. Kent, general manager of the department of distribution of the Famous Players - Lasky Corporation, who was one of the principal speakers yesterday at the semiannual convention of the corporation's department of distribution which opened at the Ambassador.

S. R. Kent.

Mr. Kent stressed the increased efficiency in recent years of the selling and the distributing of the numerous film prints to the branch offices over the country and from these branch offices to the theaters, pointing out how their scientific methods had resulted in better service and entertainment for the theatergoer.

TIMES COMPARED

"Most of the improvement has come through internal reorganization not noticeable to the general public," Mr. Kent said. "Possibly the only way that the public can measure the improvement along these lines is by recalling that it was only a comparatively few years ago that it was a common occurrence to have the theater manager announce to his audience that the show could not be put on because the film had failed to arrive. If such a thing happened today, it would be inexcusable.

"But it is in the waste that the picture made its greatest strides along industrial lines. This cutting down of waste, personnel, lost effort and waste money has come about in the last three or four years and has gone forward coincidentally with the tremendous expansion of the film industry."

Jesse L. Lasky

KENT PRESIDES

More than seventy-five delegates, including executives and salesmen from the exchanges of the west coast State and officials of the organization from the home office in New York City, attended the opening session yesterday. Inauguration of sales plans to carry on the selling and distribution of Paramount pictures and a general discussion of production policies for the coming seasons were the salient features of the session. Mr. Kent presided at the meeting with John D. Clark, divisional sales manager, assisting him.

The death knell of the motion-picture star was sounded by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the corpoartion who told delegates that the day of the star had passed, to be supplanted by the complete motion picture. A picture is no longer tolerated which has as its only recommendation the presence of a star, Mr. Lasky stated, for a production must now be completely rounded to appeal to the critical taste of the public.

WHEN PLAYERS IMPOTENT

"Unless a story is dramatic and colorful and is supervised by a scenario writer and director who know how to weave the story into a gripping framework, the work of a star and of the featured players will be impotent," Mr. Lasky said. "The stars alone would not have the proper brilliance if the clothes properties and sets, abetted by that subtle directorial touch, were not developed to the highest point.

"The day of the small picture is gone. Likewise the day when any old story with any old plot is braced around the person of a recognized star. Today there must be an unstinting outlay of time, money and brains in productions and the stories must be dramatic and as new as possible."

Eugene J. Zukor.

GRAUMAN ENTERTAINS

The delegates last night were guests of Sid Grauman at his Hollywood Egyptian theater where a special section of seats had been reserved for them to see "The Covered Wagon," Paramount's epic picture of the screen. The method of presentation embodied in the elaborate prologue staged by Mr. Grauman attracted much comment from the delegates. Tonight the delegates will be the guests of honor at a banquet at which many officials of the department of production will also be present.

"The meeting in Los Angeles is one of four that were held this month by the many exchanges in the country. The other meetings were held in New York, Chicago and New Orleans.

Officials and delegates attending the convention are:

Home office executives, New York: S. R. Kent, J. L. Lasky, Eugene Zukor, J. D. Clark, Mel Shauer, E. E. Shauer, Claud Saunders, C. E. McCarthy, A. M. Botsford, G. B. J. Frawley, G. M. Suidell and A. M. Hogan.

HAL ROACH REORGANIZES

Comedy Producer Turns Over Active Direction to Three of His Associates

Announcement was made yesterday by Hal Roach, comedy producer, that he has vested the active production management in his Culver City studio in a committee of three of his associates, who at the same time become Mr. Roach's partners in the organization. The trio is comprised of Warren Doane, for three years general manager of the Roach Studio; Harley M. Walker, for six years title editor, and Tom J. Crizer, for more than six years film editor.

In relinquishing the active direction of his vraious production units, it is Mr. Roach's intention to devote all his energies to the other problems of the producer. He will give much of his time to solving the questions that perplex exhibitors, in so far as they are affected by production. He will also give part of his time to the development of new talent for comedies and on this score he will make an important announcement later. Roach's ability to bring comedy stars to the front is evidenced by the wonderful strides taken by Harold Lloyd and others who have appeared under his direction for the past nine years.

Hal Roach.

Under Mr. Roach's new plan Warren Doane will continue as general manager, while Messrs. Walker and Crizer will hold the titles of production managers.

Each of these men has been very active in the past in the operations of the Roach Studio, and it is a tribute to their excellent services that Mr. Roach has given them a partnership interest in his firm, and the active management of its productions. Long-term contracts have been signed by Doane, Walker and Crizer.

There will be no change in the policy of the organization, under the new management. Comedy will continue to be paramount at the Culver City studio.

Hal Roach organized his company about nine years ago, making his first successful comedy with Harold Lloyd called "Just Nuts."

With the ever-increasing calls on his plant for comedy production, Mr. Roach has found it difficult to attend to some of the details which are most important to a producer. He feels that a tighter bond should be cemented between producer and exhibitor, and this is one of the jobs he has now outlined for himself.

The Roach Studio is now at the pinnacle of its activities. When Will Rogers returns to the Coast the first part of June to begin his contract with Roach, there will be nine companies active on the Culver City lot, producing for Pathe release. These will include the Harold Lloyd company, "Paul" Parrott, Stan Laurel, "Snub" Pollard, the serial company featuring Edna Murphy; the "Our Gang" unit; the Dippy-Doo-Dad organization, and Fred Jackman's company.

These ever-increasing activities have caused Mr. Roach to purchase a ten-acre tract on Arnaz Road which he is now turning into a motion-picture ranch.

The directors now under contract with Mr. Roach include Sam Taylor and Fred Newmeyer, of the Lloyd company; George Jeske, J. A. "Kitty" Howe, and Ralph Cedar, who will handle the Laurel, Parrott and Pollard comedies; Charles Parrott, who will direct the Will Rogers comedies; Bob McGowan and Tom McNamara, who are alternating in the direction of "Our Gang" comedies; Len Powers, who is handling the Dippy-Doo-Dad outfit, and Roy Clements, who is directing the serial company.

Warren Doane first became associated with Mr. Roach in 1914, when the producer first entered the field of production. After several years Mr. Doane entered another business field, but returned to the Roach organization as general manager three years ago.

"Beanie" Walker is known from one end of the country to the other for his sports stories, as well as his title writing. Walker originated the "Blinkey Ben" character, and for fifteen years has worked as sports editor and writer.

In the past six years Walker has titled every picture leaving the Roach lot. His latest big work is Harold Lloyd's "Safety Last," which comes to the California Theater next Sunday. Tom Crizer has cut and edited more film than probably any other man in the motion-picture industry. Before joining the Roach forces six years ago, he was associated with the old Essanay Company, cutting and editing the Chaplin comedies.

Prominent Contractor Now Gives Out Facts

John Thorn Suffered Ten Years With Stomach Trouble But Feels "Fit as a Fiddle," He Declares, Since Tanlac Entirely Restored Health.

"It certainly was a lucky day for me when I got Tanlac; for it's got me to feeling better and stronger than I have in over ten years," said John Thorn, well known contractor, residing at 675 Howard St., San Francisco, Cal.

"For ten years or more my stomach was in such a fix that no matter what I ate or how little, it hurt me for hours. I got so run down I felt tired and worn out all the time, even in the morning, for I was so nervous I never slept well. Nights when I came in I just dropped into the first chair I came to.

"But I've taken six bottles of Tanlac now and am feeling fit as a fiddle. I never have a touch of indigestion any more, I sleep like a log every night, and that tired, run down feeling is entirely gone and I am full of energy all the time. What Tanlac has done for me makes me glad to recommend it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.—[Advertisement.

New York Exhibitor Testifies Against Lasky Interests

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Testimony that the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation insisted Benjamin Knobel, a Bronx motion-pictures theater proprietor, should run all their pictures or none, was given by Knobel at today's session of the investigation by the Federal Trade Commission of charges that the Famous Players and six allied organizations constitute a motion-picture trust.

Knobel added that he had lost money on some of the pictures because of the high prices charged and had been promised an adjustment, but had never received it.

The result obtained in the filming of "Youth Triumphant," it is understood, has prompted the producer and those interested in Fisher productions, to enter the Los Angeles producing industry on a much larger scale than originally planned. Mr. Fisher is expected to return the latter part of this week.

While in San Francisco, Mr. Fisher will close arrangements for the next story to be filmed here. Although the title of the picture is not announced, it is stated, that rights are about to be closed for a current stage success of New York involving the filming of one of the biggest hits on Broadway the past season.

"Youth Triumphant" is now receiving its final editing and titling under the supervision of Lillian Ducey, the director. The production, including in its cast Virginia Lee Corbin, Anna Q. Nilsson, Raymond Hatton, Kate Price, ... other popular ... will have its premier ... geles in three weeks.

HUGO FILM SPECTACLE READY SOON
"Hunchback of Notre Dame" Ought to be Completed by June 10
"When will 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' be finished?"
A good part of Hollywood has been asking that question for some time, for the filming of the classic by Universal Also has taken a great length of time. The picture is a "special" of the $1,000,000 caliber. A cast of many well-known players, about ten of them in principal roles, and others in minor flashes of characterization, support Lon Chaney, who stars as Quasimodo, the hunchback bell-ringer of Notre Dame Cathedral.
Now comes definite news that the spectacle film is to be finished by June 10, and the last sequence and retakes finished by June 14, 1923. Poore Sheehan adapted the story and Edward T. Lowe wrote it. Sheehan has charge of production with Wallace Worsley as the director. A total of more than 3000 players will appear in the picture.

PLAY IS UNEVEN

"MORPHINE" AT THE LITTLE THEATER A CURIOSITY

By Grace Kingsley

Rarely, I'm sure, has a play of such uneven quality fallen to the lot of the poor reviewer to weigh in the short space of an hour, as Oscar Apfel's "Morphine," which opened at the Little Theater last night before an audience which crowded the house, and which was largely professional and discriminating.

It has such tremendous situations, such great moments; it has such instants of exquisite acting. On the other hand, it has almost ludicrously crude and naive quality, is so sophomoric in the handling on its material at times, that you gravitate between almost as many moods in watching it as the dope-soaked heroine herself!

The story of "Morphine" has to do with a man married to a puritanical wife, who will not divorce him, though he is intrigued with a painted hussy of society. The wife is just recovering from a severe illness and from a great grief at the loss of her baby, and is taking morphine as prescribed by a physician.

The physician has just ordered the morphine stopped, when the hussy and the husband seize on it as a means of dragging the wife's soul down to ruin and giving the husband cause for divorce. So the husband keeps on giving the narcotic to her, unknown to herself, meanwhile sending the physician out of the house.

The second act finds the wife in the throes of "nerves" until her husband gives her a glass of her "medicine," when she at once becomes brilliant. In fact, she at once begins to spout epigrams and is altogether a much more delightful person, we must admit, than the drab puritanical lady. She has become a social favorite—"the brilliant Mrs. Winthrop."

It would require a clinic to state whether all her reactions were pathologically correct or not.

But there is something ludicrous, absurd and early-Victorian in the attitude of the author toward his heroine's occasional cigarette and French novel. She does positively nothing more wicked, except a little natural feminine flirting with the doctor, who comes back to the household just then. There is, on the other hand, something transcendantly clever and convincing, too, in her change of mood, the note of something horrific under all her actions—a note, by the way, due largely to the facile and brilliant performance of Grace Carlyle as the wife.

But by this time you begin to feel the husband was rather a patient man to wait for one woman while his own wife puts him through so many nerve-wearing moods! It does seem, too, applying the test of common sense, as if any woman would be pretty likely to ask what was in her medicine, and to lay her moods to it, instead of wondering, "Why this great new joy in life?"

Mr. Apfel has told his story so utterly without preachment, has hit on such a big dramatic theme, that it would be nonsense to say it cannot be made into a fine play. The last act treats of promised regeneration for the wife with a limbo of lust for the husband and mistress.

Grace Carlyle is wonderful every moment in an extremely difficult role. Her pantomime is excellent, and, as noted above, her keeping in tune with the tragic undertone of the drama cannot be overpraised.

But the teamwork of the company is faulty. You don't feel at all in the first act, for instance, that the vampire and the husband are in love with each other. Betty Brice is the vampire, and should really soften at moments, evincing an undercurrent of luring all the time. She plays the first act too hard, and she and Herbert Heyes give each other nothing.

Herbert Heyes would be vastly more convincing if he played less melodramatically and made less noise. Robert Hilliard is good as the young doctor, and the other members of the cast are adequate, though the comedy relief furnished by the young chauffeur is rather painful, as comedy relief always is.

The audience liked the play so well that they dragged the author out at the end and gave the players an ovation and a load of flowers.

But the most striking feature of all to me—maybe there were others in the audience that thought of it, too—was the recollection of seeing the joyous, life-loving Wally Reid play in this very theater where now is being shown one of the vast crop of "drug" plays for which his tragic fate apparently is giving the occasion. There was more drama in that circumstance to me than in all the plays in the world.

FIELDS' COMICS ARE ORPHEUM REVELERS

The new Orpheum Who's Who continues to add new names. This week the stranger revelers are W. C. Fields and his comical caddy, Aunt Jemina, and Beatrice Gardel and Ruth Pryor, none of whom, according to my knowledge and recollection, has ever given us a chance to look them over before.

Fields never gets started as a golfist, but he makes a home run as a comedian with his trick stiefls, his trick caddy and his juggling. The fun consists mainly in the many comical ways in which he muffs his strokes, when the caddy and some fly paper put an impediment in his style. Just see him and laugh, that's all.

Aunt Jemina is an artist, and it doesn't seem as though she needs to tout the pancakes to earn a living; but let's have no hard feelings about it. Nobody else has her personality, nobody else can make us cry over "Carolina" or marvel at the coonshouting as she does. Her jazz "bakers" certainly provide some sweet jazz.

Three little maids from the Russian school are Beatrice Cardel, Ruth Pryor, and Marcell White. Miss White warbles from the top of an immense hoop-skirted gown, built to the top of the stage, and the opening of the act caused a ripple of applause and a gasp of delight. Nothing sweeter than this trio has hit this stage in a long while, and the dancers are exceedingly well trained. They are so pretty that even the men look at their faces!

Looks as though either Gordon and Rica kicked at opening the bill or Roye and Mae kicked at closing. Anyhow there was a shift in the bill yesterday, which gave the latter the coveted next-to-closing spot, while the former team closed.

Roye and Mae are nimble dancers, with the acrobatic work especially good.

Gordon and Rico closed with an act they've been showing for several years, but they and it are still good. It is song, dance, and trick bicycle stuff. Leon Vavara opened, a hard spot for a musician, but made a fine impression with his talk and piano-playing, though his act seemed slightly to lack spontaneity. Fred Walton and Mary Brant are another old-time act, belonging to the early Pantages period when it was thought smart for the man to rag the girl roughly. They should get new material. Miss Brant's style doesn't suit her personality, either. Sylvia Clark continues over for another knockout, though using the same material as last week.

Mike Donlin Playing Too Many Crooks

He has been cast in roles of the underworld several times, and the latest thing he has done is the "heavy" in "Railroaded," a Universal adaptation of Margaret Bryan't novel, "Richard," in which Herbert Rawlinson is the star.

Donlin's role was an exceedingly colorful one of a crook who turned "State's evidence." But he says that pretty soon he will develop fingers sensitive to combination locks and eyes that can see everything in the dark, if he keeps on playing such roles.

EAST HEARS THAT STAR WILL MARRY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) May 21. Mrs. Malcolm Strauss, better known as Katherine MacDonald, motion-picture actress, will be married to Charles Johnson, a grandson of Charles Shaen, inventor of the pressed-steel railroad car here Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, according to an announcement by Dr. J. Johnson Held, uncle of the bridegroom.

The ceremony will be performed at the residence of Dr. Held by Rev. Marna S. Poulson, pastor of the Ventner Congregational Church. Among those who will attend the ceremony are Mrs. L. A. MacDonald, mother of the bride, Miss Mary MacLaren, a sister, and Mrs. Charles T. Shaen, grandmother of the bridegroom.

WINNING THE WEST

"Covered Wagon" Meeting With More Popularity Every Day

With its power of attraction growing rather than diminishing, "The Covered Wagon" has entered its seventh week at Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian Theater.

This pictorial history of one of the great epochs in American history—the winning of the West—has proven itself a masterpiece in touching the heart chords of the American people. "The Covered Wagon" pictures the struggles, dangers and triumphs of those hardy pioneers who pushed over the old Oregon Trail nearly fifty years after it had been blazed by Lewis and Clark in the expedition to the Columbia River.

"The Covered Wagon" tells on the screen the same story that Emerson Hough found written in blood and suffering throughout the conquest of the West. It is a pictorial blazoning of one of the most thrilling and spectacular epochs of America—an epoch that heretofore has been known in pictures only by the canvases which Frederic Remington made almost to live and breathe the fiery ardor and impetuosity of the Far West pioneer.

Timber Dyed by Vaccination

A new method of dyeing timber has been discovered by a Dresden engineer. He "vaccinates" the living tree with one-tenth of a pound of aniline colors dissolved in 200 pints of water. This is sufficient to color the timber throughout.

Stars in "The Light in the Dark"

Hope Hampton

Clever Sketch Headlines New Pantages Bill

A clever situation comedy, with the characters dashing in and out before they have time to straighten out the entanglement, tops the bill which opened at Pantages yesterday. This is "What's Your Name," written by A. Seymour Brown, and played by a cast of seven, the girl of which is easy to look at, and the young man rather clever. Mistaken identity brings in all the laughs. Evelyn Humes is the girl, and Ned Norton the masquerading young author.

Another sure ringer for the laughs is offered by Agnes Finlay and Charles Hill in "Vodvil a la Mode." With some assistance from a third member of the act, not credited on the programs, this pair gets over very well. Their offering consists of songs and chatter, all with a harmonious twist.

"Marriage vs. Divorce," kids the question a little too much, and really isn't as clever as it might be, at that. The sketch in its three scenes, and peps up a little toward the end.

Lyle LePine and Flo Emery offer what they term an overlay of humor and song. The act gets a laugh or two, and the closing number is interesting.

Even common though acrobatic stuff is getting to become people appreciate the Wille brothers, who do some uncommon and difficult balancing stunts. Togo starts the bill with a slide for life that may be dangerous, but which is not thrilling.

"Can a Woman Love Twice," the latest of Ethel Clayton's starring pictures, is the photoplay attraction on the bill.

Comedy Rules Supreme on Variety Bill

Between the four Camerons, Ernest Hiatt, and Sargent and Marvin, there is enough fun on the Hillstreet bill to last for some time. The Camerons and Sargent and his partner, in fact, are a whole entertainment in themselves, and between them come dangerously near to stopping the show. Although their acts are separated, they combine at the end of the Cameron's offering with a short, but sweet few minutes of nonsense.

The Camerons, billed as "Like Father—Like Son" have a very entertaining act of their own, with each member of the family doing specialty stunts, although the father and son practically run away with things. Sargent and Marvin are chiefly noted in their own offering, for an ability to play a seemingly limitless number of musical instruments, and for a line of chatter that stands supreme.

Ernest Hiatt, in his "Nothing Serious," offers about the same line of bunk with which he has tickled many other audiences, but has changed it just enough to make it seem different.

A series of dances, atmospheric of a number of European nations, is the offering of the Wright Dancers, who close the bill with a snap. Their act is graceful, and easy to look at.

Olga Cook in songs, accompanied by a young wizard at the piano, Jack King, runs through a number of popular selections, and brings her act to a finish by singing bits from most of the "Rose" songs ever written. She is well liked.

The five Lelands start things going with a novelty stunt act, in which father, mother, and three sons perform a series of difficult feats. They are billed as the "Human jugglers."

Hope Hampton, Lon Chaney, and E. K. Lincoln are featured in "The Light in the Dark," which holds the screen this week.

LOEW'S STATE MEN RESIGN POSITIONS

E. C. Bostick, manager of Loew's State Theater, and Ray Davidson, publicity director, have resigned. Both have been made propositions to remain by the West Coast Theaters, who are to take the house on June 3, but declined because of previous arrangements.

The resignation of the two was wired last night to Marcus Loew. It is to become effective June 2. Both men joined Loew's ranks last July when the policy of exclusive photoplay attractions went into effect.

PLAYDOM

"PEPPER BOX" OPENS

SHAKES OUT FAIRLY SPICY CONTENTS

By Edwin Schallert

Nobody's going to feel terribly sorry, and nobody's going to feel tremendously glad, but everybody's probably going to have a pretty fair time who sees the "Pepper Box Revue" this week. It has high spots, and low spots, and spotty spots. And it has several passably nifty spots, too. Of course, above all, it has Sophie Tucker, and next to that George LeMaire and his pals.

"The Pepper Box Revue" shook itself out last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. It also shook down a large house, and they had a general shake-down when they got there with the noise. Several times they stopped the show when the dancing was good, and when Miss Tucker received a hot-house garden of flowers, and when the fun became more speedy than it usually does in these quieter days of the stage.

The more noise on the stage, the more in the audience. The "Pepper Box Revue" is that kind of show. It's also a showy show, if you know what I mean. Some of the chorus look as if they had stood the long trip West pretty well, too.

It must be terrible for chorus girls to travel across the country, as a rule. It does take so many years before they finally get here. Sometimes I shouldn't wonder but some of them are grandmothers before they get home again. But the Pepper Box variety are comparatively young and quite good-looking, several of them, and they dance and sing and have lots of pep.

Good old Sophie, or perhaps in view of her glittering blond wig, good young Sophie. She stepped out to the footlights with Ted Shapiro and Jack Carroll strumming a wicked jazz at the piano, and the evening's entertainment really commenced.

She is bound to cure the blues, is Sophie. She gives them to you, to be sure, but she takes them away when she does it. She's the original coon shouter, and nobody ever misses a note. How could they? For when Sophie sings there aren't any notes. There's just jazz, jazz, jazz.

Miss Tucker can make those complaining, wailing tunes have a character that is as rare as southern honeysuckle. She can make you see the old roughneck glare of the old cafe days come to life again, and she can make you hear all the wild pal-ly sal-ly melodies, as she sends a zippy line across about the "man who's too wild for anybody else, is the man that's just perfect for me." She's a peach — even yet.

The osteopathic satire is a noisy stunt but it's an amusing one. Joe Phillips as Percival Fingersnapper helped George Le Maire pound out the humor, and made the audience go wild with laughter. Le Maire also appears in several other comical passes with William Le Maire and Phillips. Not everything is just as funny as it might be, but most of it is fair to good.

Some of the ensemble numbers are pretty. A few of the dances need to take reducing exercises, but several like Marvel — he in particular; Irma Allred and Jack Burnoff win a great round of applause. Marvel should have been allowed to give the encore that the audience wanted last night.

The Connor Twins need a little bouquet of praise for their neat singing. They have considerable class. The Covey sisters also were good, while Miss Harriet Bennett, the California Nightingale, is above the average of music show singers. Her voice has quality, and she gives her numbers expressiveness. Leslie Burnett, Rose Flynn and others, plus Rube Wolff, the energetic musical director, need a round of credit, and the show, as a whole, is possibly a trifle better than fair. In fact, considering the absence of this sort of entertainment during the season just about good. But it's not for the brows.

MANY THRILLS IN GRAUMAN OFFERING

Those who like to hiss the villain, cheer the hero, and get mad at the heroine for meddling will have a chance to do all three this week at Grauman's Third-street Theater. "The Spider and the Rose" is showing there, and it contains an assortment of serial thrills, several wicked tricks of suspense, and a lot of clever acting and direction. What's more, the characters are costumed, and that always adds a sort of piquancy of newness to any plot. The only trouble with the costumes in this picture is that they may remind you a little of "The Mark of Zorro," of which "The Spider and the Rose" is something of a stepchild, although a very good stepchild.

Really if you're looking for entertainment I think that you'll like this feature very well. It's crude and sketchy and not altogether in period. Lots of the settings look more like sonora town than romantic California of fifty years ago. But, after all, the scenery doesn't matter once you're into the story of a secretary's intriguing and tyranny, while the governor is dozing on his job. Those early romantic governors did have the worst way of dozing, anyhow. No doubt, it was the manana effect of the climate.

The picture is full of falls—not the funny variety, with the exception of Louise Fazenda's into a pond. The hero is pitched over a cliff and comes out miraculously alive after an all-night swim apparently, while the villain finally tumbles over a precipice. In fact, with the possible exception of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," which was full of all kinds of falls, as my friend Charlie Fuhr would say, this is the original fall picture.

The principal roles are played by Alice Lake, who does some really fine and convincing emotional acting; Gaston Glass, who heroes effectively, and quite Dougily at times, and Robert McKim, who is the very essence of adroit nastiness. Noah Beery has a fine character, while Otis Harlan is amusing. Joseph J. Dowling has some good scenes. The direction is by John McDermott, and although a lot of liberties are taken with logic and probabilities, nobody will care a cent because in the main this is a very engaging and interesting picture.

You can also take a look at Luis Firpo, the South American heavyweight, and decide for yourself whether you think he'll conquer Dempsey or not.

RAIL RATE CUT AFFECTS PORT

Fleets in Lumber Trade Face Tariff Reduction

Refusal Would Give Traffic to Coast Roads

Consumption in Southwest Expected to Jump

The cut in railrates on lumber and all other forest products in carload lots from Pacific Coast ports to points in the Southwest, just ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission and prescribed as effective on or before August 11, will strongly affect conditions at Los Angeles Harbor, lumbermen at the port declare.

As a result of the action all steamship companies operating fleets in the lumber trade between Los Angeles Harbor and the Northwest will be forced to lower their rates correspondingly for the water haul to this port, it was said. Unless this action is taken by the steamship owners, the reduction in rail rates will result in increased all-rail shipments to the consumption centers in the Southwest.

NEW RATES IN AUGUST

Present rates were found "unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory and unduly prejudicial," and ordered canceled. The new rates were prescribed effective on or before August 11, and reparations were awarded to all shippers for charges collected by the western railroads under the rate schedules canceled. The action was brought by the West Coast Lumbermen's Association.

Lumber rates from Los Angeles Harbor to points in the mid-West group, including Colorado and the Texas oil districts, are at present 60 cents per 100 feet in carload lots, and 51 cents per 100 feet for points in the Southwest, including Flagstaff, Kingman and the various Arizona and New Mexico mining districts. On mining timbers, however, a special rate of 38 to 43 cents prevails.

DEMAND MAY GROW

The new rates, it is understood, approximate a cut of 25 per cent on the present tariffs. Lumber men here point out that the reductions will not only strongly affect present prices, but will also result in a sharp jump in consumption in all districts throughout the Southwest.

Approximately 30,000,000 feet of lumber and forest products of all classes are shipped from Los Angeles Harbor monthly to points in the Southwest exclusively, it is estimated.

Supreme Court Plans Sessions Here on June 11

The State Supreme Court will convene in Los Angeles for a two-day session Monday, June 11, according to notification received yesterday by the local deputy clerk of the court. This will be the first session of the high judiciary here since the January term.

All but one of the twenty-seven cases to be considered by the court, according to the calendar, at the forthcoming sitting, are civil cases The single criminal proceeding is an appeal from the judgment of the local Superior Court, which found Bringhurst and Thompson guilty of the killing, December 6, 1921, of Policemen Chester and Brett.

Monday, June 11, has been designated motion day by the court, which has set forward the opening hour of the session from the time-honored 2:30 p.m. to 10 a.m.

ROBBERS LOOT SAFE

Robbers who used three automobile jacks to pry loose the door of a wall safe at the automobile accessory store of E. A. Featherstone at Tenth and Los Angeles streets, early yesterday obtained $1000 in cash. The men entered through a rear window, broke out the cement casing of the wall safe, inserted the three jacks and pried the door from its hinges. Detective Lieutenants White and Adams are investigating.

POSTAL INSPECTORS HERE

Postoffice officials under Agent Cane, at San Francisco, are in the city inspecting the Federal Building with a view to ascertaining what is needed for the coming year. They will be here for a week or ten days.

HELENE'S BACK AT GOLDWYN'S

Helene Chadwick

Absolutely, Helene Chadwick. Positively, Mr. Lehr.

A reception, unpremeditated but hearty, was accorded Helene Chadwick, beautiful screen player, yesterday, as she returned to the Goldwyn studios after several months' absence.

As Miss Chadwick's car drove through the studio gates at Culver City, she was greeted by Abraham Lehr, vice-president in charge of production, and other officials of the studios.

Mr. Lehr beamed on Miss Chadwick, Miss Chadwick beamed on Mr. Lehr and others of the party. The party beamed among itself and the gateman beamed at a crowd of extras.

"I'm so glad to get back," the fair Helene exclaimed, after the greetings had been said, the hatchet had been solemnly pronounced buried the fatted calf figuratively slain.

Since a Los Angeles court ruled that the contract she had signed with Goldwyn was valid and she must fulfill it, past differences between player and company were forgotten, and the legal tangle became a thing of the past.

Miss Chadwick moved into her dressing rooms, which have been tenantless for months, and announced to the world that it felt just like coming home.

At the same time, studio officials were announcing that Miss Chadwick's next role would be announced in the immediate future and that it would be the greatest one of her career.

Meanwhile, the publicity department sat in its offices and discussed new ways of making Miss Chadwick even more famous than she is now.

ARREST OF FILM MEN IS ORDERED

Heads of Two Concerns Charged With Violating Advertising Law

Warrants for the arrest of heads of two motion-picture concerns were issued yesterday as a result of a police campaign against asserted bogus employment agencies.

Harry Keaton, manager of the Keaton Production Company, 317 South Hill street, and H. H. Chipman, head of the California Film Company, 747 South Hill street, are the two men in jail. They are charged with violation of the advertising ordinance.

Both firms advertised in newspapers, according to Deputy City Prosecutor J. Friedlander, who issued the complaints, for inexperienced men and women for work in motion pictures.

Keaton represented to applicants, Mr. Friedlander said, that he was procuring motion-picture types for Buster Keaton, the comedian.

Persons ambitious for a screen career were induced to take courses in "make-up" at $50 each, it is charged.

Denial that Max Factor & Co., local dealer in theatrical make-ups and supplies, is implicated in the so-called fake motion-picture schools investigated by Policewoman Ditter, has been made in a statement issued by Max Factor.

"Regarding the expose of the supposed misrepresentations of the various motion-picture schools, in which the old and reliable firm of Max Factor & Co. has been mentioned as being working in conjunction with same, we hereby make the statement that this firm has not and never has had any connection with any school of any kind in the theatrical line. Our business is an open concern, doing business with both the public and theatrical professions. The reputation of the firm is not only local but is known throughout the United States, Europe and in the Orient."

FILM NOTABLES TO SEE "BRASS" PREVIEW

A delegation of motion-picture stars and officials departed last night for San Francisco to attend the special trade showing of "Brass," which has been arranged by Warner Brothers at the St. Francis Hotel there.

The party includes H. M. Warner of New York, Harry Rapf, who produced the picture for the Warners, Monte Blue and Irene Rich. Charles G. Norris, author of the novel from which the picture was taken, is to be guest of honor at this banquet.

The invitation list includes prominent editors and exhibitors of Northern California and Oregon. "Brass" will be seen at Loew's State Theater in this city, beginning June 10.

LLOYD BUYS NOTED HOME SITE TRACT

Film Comedian is Said to Have Paid $100,000 for Benedict Property

Title to the historic home site of P. E. Benedict, one of California's best-known pioneers, yesterday passed to Harold Lloyd in a deal which is said to involve approximately $100,000. The land, which has been in the Benedict estate for more than sixty years, spreads over eleven acres, and is at the mouth of Benedict Canyon in Beverly Hills.

Lloyd plans eventually, it is said, to make his home on the tract. It adjoins the estates of a number of prominent motion-picture and business people. It is close to the Fairbanks-Pickford estate and adjoins the Thomas Ince property on the south. Charles Chaplin also is building near there.

P. E. Benedict was one of the pioneers to cross the plains in response to the call of the West. Sixty years ago his family located on the site which has now been taken over by the motion-picture comedian.

On this land, which overlooks the surrounding country, there is one of the few naturally-wooded tracts in that part of the country.

Although Lloyd does not intend to build on the Benedict property for some time, he has contracted for landscaping and shortly will inaugurate work on it.

It has been only a few weeks since the film star purchased a home for $125,000, for his bride, on Irving Boulevard in Windsor Square.

CAREER INTERFERES WITH HONEYMOON

ANNA Q. NILSSON HAS HARD TIME GETTING FEW DAYS FOR NEW HUBBY

Put Anna Q. Nilsson down as saying that a career certainly interferes with a honeymoon.

Miss Nilsson, who was recently married to John M. Gunnerson, wealthy shoe manufacturer, will leave tomorrow with her husband on a four-day honeymoon tour. They refused to reveal their destination, but stated that the trip is to be made by motor. Miss Nilsson said that she had been so busy fulfilling film play contracts that she had not had time to get beyond the shores of Santa Monica.

She was married while working at the Goldwyn studios in "The Spoilers," and was unable at that time to take a wedding trip. Since then Miss Nilsson has been postponing the event, hoping that eventually she and her husband would find time to visit Ystad, Sweden, where her parents reside.

Since completing "The Spoilers" she has been working in two productions, "Youth Triumphant," at the Hollywood studios, and "Havoc," at the Garson studios. The first of June she will start work in the leading role in "Ponjola," which James Young will direct at the United Studios.

Dismisses Suit Brought in Row Over Song Bird

The $30,000 damage suit brought against Mrs. Lulu Samples by Mrs. Minnie A. Nutting was dismissed by Judge A. A. Smith in Superior Court yesterday, when the plaintiff failed to appear.

Mrs. Nutting had brought the suit for damages which she said she suffered when she asserted Mrs. Samples struck her with her fist and knocked her through the door of the Samples home at 1262 West Eighty-eighth street on December 12, 1922, in a quarrel over a canary bird.

In a deposition, Mrs. Samples answered that she had merely slapped Mrs. Nutting's mouth and that the latter had fallen through the door in her eagerness to get out.

The defendant charged that Mrs. Nutting had freed her canary bird from its cage and that when Mrs. Samples had caught it again, Mrs. Nutting had tried to kill the bird.

"QUEEN" ON STAND

Winner of Screen Contest Asks Damages From Legion Post

Disappointment at not being made a silversheet star can be assuaged only by $5000 of the funds of Post 8, American Legion, Miss Violet Sheldon asserted yesterday when Judge Vincini in Superior Court, opened her suit against the Legion post. The trial will continue today.

Miss Sheldon, blonde and pretty, declared on the stand she was elected "Queen of Tomorrow" in a contest conducted by the post and that the contestants were assured the winner would take the leading role in a picture the post nitended to produce. The picture never was produced, she declared, and she learned only recently that the scenario for it had never even been written, she said.

Among Miss Sheldon's witnesses was Harry Hammond Beall, publicist, who swore she won the contest. Another was H. H. Harris, one of the defendants. He testified he told Miss Sheldon and other contestants that he knew a man who was going to write a scenario for the proposed picture. The man never wrote it, he said. Miss Sheldon's suit is for asserted breach of contract.

STREET-CAR TRACK WORK IS STARTED

Double Rail Lines Begun on Edgeware Road; Other Betterments Planned

Actual work on the street-railway company's program of extensions and improvements, to cost $6,000,000, has been started, the Board of Public Utilities was notified yesterday.

Double-tracking of the Angeleno Heights portion of the Edgeware Road line was started yesterday afternoon, it was stated, and work on other extensions will be started today.

The rails for extending the Vermont-avenue line from First street north to Monroe and then west to New Hampshire avenue have arrived and will be laid in a few weeks. Rails for extending Melrose avenue from Normandy to Western avenue are also in position and will go down shortly.

Other improvements which are to be made in a few weeks are the extension of the Evergreen-avenue, Rampart-Boulevard, West Eighth-street, West Forty-eighth-street, South Main-street and Central-avenue lines.

TRIAL OPENS FOR MAN IN AUTO CRASH

Fate of Driver Charged With Manslaughter May be Given to Jury Today

Vincente Perez, asserted to have been the driver of an automobile that ran down and killed John Livingstone Byrne, 12 years of age, December 27, 1922, went on trial on a charge of manslaughter in Judge Reeve's department of Superior Court yesterday. The case is expected to reach the jury today.

Among witnesses yesterday was Edward J. Larsen, who testified he traced the tracks of the machine Perez drove on the pavement for eighty feet at the scene of the accident. Perez, at the time of the accident, was employed by Frank Houser Packing Company.

The prosecution, in charge of Deputy Dist.-Atty. Fricke, is endeavoring to show that Perez, who is asserted to have driven the automobile out of an alley striking the boy on a bicycle, was driving at such a rate of speed that he was unable to turn the corner or stop.

Perez is being defended by Attorney Isadore Dockweiler.

TALMADGE FILM GIVEN NEW NAME

"Purple Pride" Selected by Schenck for French Drama Now in Making

"Purple Pride" will be the name of the big French historic romance in which Joseph M. Schenck will present his star, Norma Talmadge. The picture has been in the making now for two months under the tentative title of "Ashes of Vengeance."

The change to "Purple Pride," from the name of the book from which this sixteenth century drama was adapted, was made yesterday. The new name is believed to be more in keeping with the dignity and magnificance of the new production, which is the most pretentious feature in which Norma Talmadge has yet been cast.

"Purple Pride" is being directed by Frank Lloyd. It will be in ten reels.

This super-feature, it is said, will cost approximately $1,000,000 and is scheduled to be ready for cutting by the middle of next month.

Contributions Flowing in for Travelers' Aid

Even before the Travelers' Aid campaign workers began their solicitation for funds yesterday, volunteer contributions began to come into headquarters, 219 Coulter Building.

A $50 check was the first offering to the campaign to raise $20,000 with which to carry on the society's program during the year. This subscription was given by the Woman's Club of Hollywood.

Permits to campaign workers are being issued and by today it is expected that the quota of men and women enlisted will be increased by more than 100.

The Travelers' Aid Society is nonsectarian and in no way does this organization duplicate the work of any other welfare agency. It functions chiefly at railroad terminals, offering assistance to travelers who are in need—girls who are traveling alone; children who are sent across the country to be met by relatives or guardians; old people who desire help in finding suitable lodgings; rescues runaway girls, and in many other ways acts as a clearinghouse for persons who, in traveling, become involved in some unexpected difficulty.

AN ARKANSAS ROMANCE

After a courtship by mail Mrs. Eva Cox of Womble and George A. Bush of Hartley met in Mena for the first time and after a short visit were married. Both bride and groom lived in sections remote from railroads, and both traveled far to meet in Mena. The bride drove her own team and wagon forty miles to reach Mena, while the groom rode horseback over the mountains half that distance. After the wedding the newlyweds started for the groom's farm, close to the Howard county line, in the bride's wagon with the groom's saddle horse tied on behind.—[Mena News in Arkansas Gazette.

MOST BEAUTIFUL BUNGALOW HOME.
Riverside Villa. Seven rooms, two baths. There is nothing in all of Los Angeles to compare with this wonderful home. The architecture is very extraordinary, the construction of the best, and the location ideal. The living room is of rare beauty, having travatine mantel. A solarium uncomparable, glass-inclosed having colored floor of oak stone and fountain of unusual attractiveness. There are three lovely bedrooms and two baths. Wonderful rear patio. The color scheme of decoration and the decorations themselves are unequaled anywhere, comprising beautiful relief work, excellent design and workmanship. Should you be in the market for a small home of the better class, we will be glad to show you. The price is much less than reproduction cost. It was carefully built for a home, and not built to sell. A rare chance. Sacrifice.

If you want something big and good, read what follows:
This large tract is perfectly level, San Ramon Valley land. 2500 acres now sown to barley, the other 2500 acres planted to wheat, the 2500 acres lies a field of 25 sacks barley to the acre and 15 sacks or more wheat to the acre; the present summer fallowed land produced more than that last year. This has been income property for years.
The entire tract is almost square, surrounded with first-class, hog-tight fence, and has good improvements in the way of buildings, wells, etc.
Every acre is similar in quality and every acre has first-class drainage. The soil is deep loam, and would not require any fertilizing if planted to trees or vines, or alfalfa.
Electric power line runs through the property, and water can be obtained in ample quantity from 150-foot wells now in operation. Water can be purchased from a large adjacent irrigation system at the rate of $1.30 per acre per annum for trees or vines.
Tract is situated one mile from town of about 1500 population; in one mile from main line of Southern Pacific Railroad and completed macadamized road is in progress on State highway. Work now in progress on State highway. Work passes in north edge of this property and a county highway (roads have just been voted,) will pass through the property.
This land is no twin sary reclamation, irrigation or other assessment district.
All this land is adapted to fruit, vines or alfalfa; proof of this is several vineyards of splendid-ne land of same quality, on which are highly productive. Mussel and Thompson Seedless vineyards, alfalfa, prune, apricot and other variety of orchard, also fields of alfalfa, all of which have been producing profitable crops for several years.
The owners of this tract, over-reached themselves in buying this and other tracts a few years ago. The entire tract can be purchased for $1000 per acre; it would take about $150,000 to handle the deal, with a long time to pay balance; interest at about 6%.
This land at this figure is a fine investment alone; it would be an ideal property to subdivide, and would more than double the asking price if so handled by parties in that line.
I am not in the real estate business, I own and operate orchard and vineyard and city business property, etc., and will be glad to show you this property if you convince me of the truth of all the above statements. For references, give Dockweiler Bank, First National Bank or Bank of Italy, all of Marysville, Cal.
Let me show you.

SOME DISTANCE

"How did they ever discover the North Pole, pa?"

HIS PIECE OF MIND

"Yes, Brown's in great difficulties —tells me his peace of mind is entirely gone."

"I'm not surprised to hear it; the rest of his mind deserted him years ago."

THE STRAW HAT SEASON OPENS
